Mapping Modernities Geography Of Central And Eastern Europe:

Mapping Modernities Alan Dingsdale, 2013-02-01 When the communist governments of Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union collapsed between 1989 and 1991 there was a revived interest in a region that had been largely neglected by western geographers Mapping Modernities draws on the resulting work and other original theoretical and empirical sources to describe interpret and explain the place and spatial order of modernities in Central and Eastern Europe since 1920 to give a theoretically underpinned regional geography of the area The book interprets the geography of Central and Eastern Europe from 1920 to 2000 in terms of spatial modernity It details the individual and collective development of places produced within the three modernising projects of Nationalism Communism and Neo liberalism

Mapping Modernities Alan Dingsdale, 2002 The Human Geography of East Central Europe David Turnock, 2003-10-04 The Human Geography of East Central Europe examines the geography of the transition economies that were not formerly part of the Soviet Union Albania Bosnia Hercegovina Bulgaria Croatia The Czech Republic Hungary Macedonia Poland Romania Slovakia Slovenia Yugoslavia and East Germany There is a thematic treatment beginning with the landscape and historical background which moves on to the social and economic geography industry agriculture and infrastructure and to issues concerning regional development and environmental protection

Locating Right to the City in the Global South Tony Roshan Samara, Shenjing He, Guo Chen, 2013 Drawing from scholars with extensive fieldwork experience this volume covers sixteen cities in fourteen countries across a belt stretching from Latin America to Africa and the Middle East and into Asia Central to what binds these cities are deeply rooted complex and dynamic processes of social and spatial division that are being actively reproduced These cities are not so much fracturing as they are being divided by governance practices informed by local histories and political contestation and refracted through or infused by market based approaches to urban development Through a close examination of these practices and resistance to them this volume provides perspectives on neoliberalism and right to the city that advance our understanding of urbanism in the Global South

Private Cities , Imagined Regional Communities James D. Sidaway, 2003-08-29 Imagined Regional Communities provides an original approach to thinking about the processes of regional integration Focusing mostly on communities in Africa Asia and Latin America it develops detailed case studies based on archives interviews and critical readings of existing texts These case studies are related to each other and the overall themes of the book so that a set of narratives and theoretical elaborations emerge that critically reformulate understandings of regional communities statehood and sovereignty

The Politics of Urban Cultural Policy Carl Grodach, Daniel Silver, 2013 The Politics of Urban Cultural Policy brings together a range of international experts to critically analyze the ways that governmental actors and non governmental entities attempt to influence the production and implementation of urban policies directed at the arts culture and creative activity Presenting a global set of case studies that span five continents and 22 cities the essays in this book advance our understanding of how the dynamic interplay between economic and political context institutional arrangements and social networks affect urban cultural policy making and the ways that these policies impact urban development and influence urban governance The volume comparatively studies urban cultural policy making in a diverse set of contexts analyzes the positive and negative outcomes of policy for different constituencies and identifies the most effective policy directions emerging political challenges and most promising opportunities for building effective cultural policy coalitions The volume provides a comprehensive and in depth engagement with the political process of urban cultural policy and urban development studies around the world It will be of interest to students and researchers interested in urban planning urban studies and cultural studies Rural-Urban Dynamics Jytte

Aggergaard, Niels Fold, Katherine Gough, 2009-09-11 It has increasingly been recognised that rural and urban areas are inextricably interlinked This book adopts a fresh approach to the issue of rural urban dynamics through a study of the changing nature of livelihoods mobility and markets in ten study sites across four countries of Africa and Asia Building on detailed fieldwork conducted in Ghana Tanzania Vietnam and Thailand the authors explore how settlements and livelihoods are being transformed as long term inhabitants and recent migrants embrace new economic activities many of which are linked to global markets The book is structured around the concept of frontier which is conceptualized as being a dynamic space where the forces of economic demographic and social change are brought to bear The study sites include agricultural frontiers coffee cocoa pineapples and fresh fruit handicraft and manufacturing frontiers and mining frontiers gold and diamonds In all of the cases global value chain dynamics have played a pivotal role in shaping local livelihoods Some settlements are developing into new urban centres whilst others are suffering from a boom and bust experience due to the unreliability of export markets The similarities and differences between the frontier settlements are drawn out by comparing frontiers of similar types and by highlighting the theoretical and policy implications of the findings from all the frontier types The originality of the book lies in its combination of conceptual clarity methodological coherence and empirical richness By combining detailed empirical findings with theoretical insight from debates on livelihoods global value chains mobility patterns settlement dynamics and rural urban relations the book sheds new light on these issues within an overall framework of development trajectories in Africa and Asia Given scholars and international agencies current interest in the spatial dimensions of economic development this contribution is particularly timely with its fresh geographical approach to development issues this book is a pertinent and authoritative read for anyone researching or learning in the field of development Intergenerational Space Robert Vanderbeck, Nancy Worth, 2015-06-03 Intergenerational Space offers insight into the transforming relationships between younger and older members of contemporary societies The chapter selection brings together scholars from around the world in order to address pressing questions both about the nature of contemporary generational divisions as well as the complex ways in which members of different generations are and can be involved in each other's lives These questions include how do particular kinds of spaces and spatial arrangements e.g. cities neighbourhoods institutions leisure sites facilitate and limit intergenerational contact and encounters What processes and spaces influence the intergenerational negotiation and contestation of values beliefs and social memory producing patterns of both continuity and change And if generational separation and segregation are in fact significant social problems across a range of contexts as a significant body of research and commentary attests how can this be ameliorated The chapters in this collection make original contributions to these debates drawing on original research from Belgium China Finland Poland Senegal Singapore Tanzania Uganda the United States and the United Kingdom

Cross-Continental Agro-Food Chains
