Franks,Jonathan H. Turner,2012-07-09 Until recently a handbook on neurosociology would have been viewed with skepticism by sociologists who have long been protective of their disciplinary domain against perceived encroachment by biology But a number of developments in the last decade or so have made sociologists more receptive to biological factors in sociology and social psychology Much of this has been encouraged by the coeditors of this volume David Franks and Jonathan Turner This new interest has been increased by the explosion of research in neuroscience on brain functioning and brain environment interaction via new MRI technologies with implications for social and psychological functioning This handbook emphasizes the integration of perspectives within sociology as well as between fields in social neuroscience For example Franks represents a social constructionist position following from G H Mead s voluntaristic theory of the act while Turner is more social structural and positivistic Furthermore this handbook not only contains contributions from sociologists but leading figures from the psychological perspective of social neuroscience Foundations in Evolutionary Cognitive Neuroscience Steven M. Platek,Todd K. Shackelford,2009-02-26 An essential primer presenting major topics of study undertaken by evolutionary cognitive neuroscientists Conceptual Representation Helen Moss,James Hampton,James A. Hampton,2003 This special issue on conceptual representation contains invited papers from leading researchers across the range of cognitive science disciplines addressing the nature of semantic and conceptual representation in the mind and brain

Metarepresentations Dan Sperber,2000-08-31 This volume in the Vancouver Studies in Cognitive Science series concerns metarepresentation the construction and use of representations that represent other representations

Metarepresentations are ubiquitous among human beings whenever we think or talk about mental states or linguistic acts or theorize about the mind or language This volume collects previously unpublished studies on the subject by an interdisciplinary group of contributors including Daniel Dennett Alvin Goldman Keith Lehrer Leda Cosmides and John Tooby
