Cap Wigginton David Vassar Taylor, Paul Clifford Larson, 2001 Clarence W. Cap Wigginton was a man of firsts: the first registered African American architect in Minnesota and the first African American municipal architect in the nation. The public buildings that he designed for the city of St. Paul are a continuing legacy helping to define the city's character. And his achievements both as an architect and as a leader in the state's African American community are all the more significant given the limitations of the times in which he lived. Wigginton's most ephemeral work may have been his most creative. From 1937 to 1947 he designed six ice palaces and a number of secondary structures for St. Paul's famous Winter Carnival. These stunningly fanciful designs are Wigginton's most imaginative and exuberant. Alternating chapters by Taylor and Larson examine the man, his times, his leadership in the African American community and his architectural work. Richly illustrated with photos of Wigginton's buildings and his drawings, the book also contains a list of works attributed to Wigginton. His life story shows the struggles and the achievements of a talented individual facing and conquering long odds. The American Architect, 1910 VJAA Vincent James, Jennifer Yoos, 2007-01-25 Among the critical adulation that follows VJAA wherever they build you'll find words like graceful, beautiful, sublime, quiet, classic, disciplined and light, all suggesting the kind of alchemy that makes the work of this Minnesota-based firm so highly regarded. The magic they perform, marrying the simple forms of modernism with the rich materials of their sites in a thoughtful framework that encourages social interaction and environmental responsibility, is carefully illustrated and explained in this monograph which evokes the very qualities that make their work so seductive and compelling. A former furniture maker, principal Vincent James brings the woodworker's appreciation of materials, details, joinery and structure to the firm's work which here includes both their award-winning houses such as the Dayton and Type Variant houses and institutional projects such as the Minneapolis Rowing Club, Tulane University Center and St. John's Abbey and Monastery Guesthouse. Along with an introductory essay by Hashim Sarkis, partners Vincent James and Jennifer Yoos

provide a captivating and insightful portrait of their talented young firm
