Profiling the Islamic Civilization Ahmed Souaiaia, 2001 While Teaching a course on Human Rights Laws and Islam some of my students approached me asking for some short read on Islamic law and Islamic civilization Considering the topic of the course it was hard finding a book that is small yet relevant to the issues discussed in class Then I found this manuscript sitting on the shelf for years I offered it to couple students who read it and recommended that I make available in some form as they have learned from it quite a lot in spite of the highly technical orientation of the materials contained therein I spent few days reviewing it only to discover that Professor Khallaf did indeed offer quite an original analysis and perspective on a number of issues that are relevant today I then decided to put this document in the public domain hoping that students and scholars alike find it of use Islam Charles Cassini, 2001-11-08 Encyclopedia of Modern Asia David Levinson, Karen Christensen, 2002 Volume three of a six volume set in which alphabetically arranged entries provide information on every aspect of modern Asia including its culture people economy government arts geography architecture religion and history
