Military Innovation in Small States Michael Raska, 2015-11-06 This book provides a comprehensive assessment of the global diffusion of the Revolution in Military Affairs RMA and its impact on military innovation trajectories in small states Although the Revolution in Military Affairs RMA concept has enjoyed significant academic attention the varying paths and patterns of military innovation in divergent strategic settings have been overlooked This book seeks to rectify this gap by addressing the broad puzzle of how the global diffusion of RMA oriented military innovation the process of international transmission communication and interaction of RMA related military concepts organizations and technologies has shaped the paths patterns and scope of military innovation of selected small states In a reverse mode how have selected small states influenced the conceptualization and transmission of the RMA theory processes and debate Using Israel Singapore and South Korea as case studies this book argues that RMA oriented military innovation paths in small states indicate predominantly evolutionary trajectory albeit with a varying patterns resulting from the confluence of three sets of variables 1 the level of strategic organizational and operational adaptability in responding to shifts in the geostrategic and regional security environment 2 the ability to identify anticipate exploit and sustain niche military innovation select conceptual organizational and technological innovation intended to enhance the military's ability to prepare for fight and win wars and 3 strategic culture While the book represents relevant empirical cases for testing the validity of the RMA diffusion hypotheses from a policy oriented perspective this book argues that these case studies offer lessons learned in coping with the security and defence management challenges posed by military innovation in general This book will be of much interest for students of military innovation strategic studies defence studies Asian politics Middle Eastern politics and security studies in general
