Reflective Learning In Practice:

Reflective Learning Deborah A. Sugerman,2000      (Re)learning as Reflective Practitioners Linley Cornish,2024-07-15

This book examines significant developments in reflective practice delving into research conducted with novice teachers It fills a gap in existing literature by examining the how of reflective practice How do professionals learn reflective practice fostering relearning How do they guide students mentees and novices in adopting reflective practices Stemming from teacher education the focus is extended beyond this field emphasizing the relevance of these strategies across professions It is divided into three parts thinking about reflection learning to reflect and becoming a reflective practitioner It offers fresh perspectives on conceptualizing reflective practice and suggests practical strategies for integrating it into pre service coursework assessment training and development Intended for academics practitioners and educators across disciplines this book serves as a comprehensive guide for anyone committed to fostering reflective practice within their professional sphere

Reflective Learning in Practice Nic Beech,Anne Brockbank,Ian McGill,2002      Reflective Learning in Practice Anne

Brockbank,Ian McGill,2017-07-05 This book gathers together details of seventeen case studies of learning in practice after having set the issue of reflective learning in a theoretical context The cases are drawn from a wide range of situations and discuss both apparent successes and failures The cases are used as a basis to develop general findings These general findings are expressed as themes and questions so that as readers come across new circumstances they are not limited by prescriptive recipes Instead they are empowered by having both an open and focused approach open because the starting point is questions rather than answers and focused because the questions direct attention to factors that have been found to be influential for effective reflective learning The crucial factor is the ability of managers and others to extract quality learning from experience Reflective Learning in Practice develops an approach that will help this to happen

Facilitating Reflective Learning In Higher Education Brockbank, Anne, McGill, Ian, 2007-05-01 This revised edition includes the most current thinking on reflective learning as well as stories from academics and students that bring to life the practical impact of reflection in action Based on sound theoretical concepts the authors offer a range of solutions for different teaching situations taking into account factors such as group size physical space and technology They also offer facilitation rather than traditional teaching methods as a productive and useful skill that helps teachers and encourages students to interact and develop reflexive skills that can be used beyond their student years

Reflective Practice for Educators Karen F. Osterman, Robert B. Kottkamp, 2004-04-08 Anyone serious about leading the reform of teaching and learning in our schools should read this book Kottkamp and Osterman reframe the conversation about what it means to lead a learning organization Their reflective processes hold promise for educators as they struggle together to create new possibilities for student learning Nelda Cambron McCabe Professor Miami University OH In this age of mandated reforms reflective practice is a truly effective empowering way to make meaningful positive changes Written for teachers administrators and professional development specialists in schools and universities this book is an educators guide to reflective practice In clear accessible language the authors explain the potential to create meaningful change in schools and show you how to integrate reflective practice effectively into the daily work of schools The book Explains reflective practice as a professional development strategy and its importance for school reform Offers ideas and practical strategies to facilitate collaborative data based inquiry dialogue and problem solving in schools Describes reflective practice in action and illustrates its power to create meaningful change in classrooms Shows how reflective practice is an important step in creating professional learning organizations Reflective practice has the potential to renew your sense of optimism commitment and efficacy as you learn how to support meaningful professional growth shape a culture of learning and make important changes in students learning

Reflective Learning in Management, Development and Education David Higgins, 2017-07-05 In recent years there has been a growing interest in the ideas surrounding reflective practice specifically in the areas of learning in management development and education This interest has developed in a growing number of professional fields thus making for very diverse understandings of what can be regarded as complex approaches to learning In order to understand how reflective practice can support and aid learning it is helpful to acknowledge how we learn First all learners start from their own position of knowledge and have their own set of experiences to draw upon Second learning is contextual something which managers need to acknowledge To make sense and achieve a deep understanding of material and experiences one needs to relate new information to existing knowledge and experiences This is best achieved through a process of reflection Indeed the underlying rationale for the chapters in this publication is to explore how the role of practice reflection and critical reflection are understood and developed within a learning process which is supported through the application of reflective tools This book recognises and makes explicit the diverse yet inclusive nature of the field By including a range of contributions from both subject specific disciplines and professional contexts it seeks to enable the reader in documenting some of the current uses of reflection and critical reflection while also illustrating some of the newer methods in use as well as the current contributions to thinking in the subject domain Through this publication the editor and authors hope to provide a basis from which continuing professional development and education can be enhanced This book was originally published as a special issue of Reflective Practice International and Multidisciplinary Perspectives

Teaching Reflective Learning in Higher Education Mary Elizabeth Ryan, 2014-11-05 This book is about understanding the nature and application of reflection in higher education It provides a theoretical model to guide the implementation of reflective learning and reflective practice across multiple disciplines and international contexts in higher education The book presents research into the ways in which reflection is both considered and implemented in different ways across different professional disciplines while maintaining a common purpose to transform and improve learning and or practice The Readers will find this book is innovative and new in three key ways Firstly in its holistic theorisation of reflection within the pedagogic field of higher education Secondly in conceptualising reflection in different modes to achieve specific purposes in different disciplines and finally in providing conceptual guidance for embedding reflective learning and reflective practice in a systematic way across whole programmes faculties or institutions in higher education The book considers important contextual factors that influence the teaching of forms and methods of reflection It provides a functional analysis of multiple modes of reflection including written oral visual auditory and embodied forms Empirical chapters analyse the application of these modes across disciplines and at different stages of a programme The theoretical model accounts for students stage of development in the disciplinary field along with progressive and cyclical levels of higher order thinking and learning and professional practice that are expected within different disciplines and professional fields Secondly in conceptualising reflection in different modes to achieve specific purposes in different disciplines It provides a functional analysis of multiple modes of reflection including written oral visual auditory and embodied forms Empirical chapters analyse the application of these modes across disciplines and at different stages of a programme in terms of demonstrating levels of reflection The book includes images diagrams and different text forms to support the creative applications of reflection And thirdly the book is innovative in providing conceptual guidance for embedding reflective learning and reflective practice systematically across whole programmes faculties or institutions in higher education contexts across the world      Reflection in Action Bairbre Redmond, 2017-03-02 Newly available in paperback this original and informative volume outlines a new well designed reflective teaching and learning model that can be used with single or multi disciplinary groups of students and professionals It offers an overview of the origins of the different theories of reflection and explains how different levels of reflection can be understood and incorporated into everyday teaching and training Outlining specific teaching and learning techniques to be used in training situations it also includes examples of how these techniques have been successfully used with groups of professionals from health and social care areas This edition features a substantive new preface bringing the book up to date with recent developments in the field It is a well researched guide to both the theory and the practice of reflection and it also offers those who teach and train professionals a clearly delineated reflective model for use in the classroom or professional training environment
