Nez Perce Summer, 1877 Jerome A. Greene, 2022-09 Nez Perce Summer 1877 tells the story of a people's epic struggle to survive spiritually, culturally, and physically in the face of unrelenting military force. Written by one of the foremost experts in frontier military history, Jerome A. Greene, and reviewed by members of the Nez Perce tribe, this definitive treatment of the Nez Perce War is the first to incorporate research from all known accounts of Nez Perce and U.S. military participants. Enhanced by sixteen detailed maps and forty-nine historic photographs, Greene's gripping narrative takes readers on a three and one-half month, 1700-mile journey across the wilds of Idaho, Wyoming, and Montana territories. All of the skirmishes and battles of the war receive detailed treatment, which benefits from Greene's astute analysis of the strategies and decision making on both sides. Between 100 and 150 of the more than 800 Nez Perce men, women, and children who began the trek were killed during the war. Almost as many died in the months following the surrender, after they were exiled to malaria-ridden northeastern Oklahoma. Army deaths numbered 113. The casualties on both sides were an extraordinary price for a war that nobody wanted but whose history has since fascinated generations of Americans. The Celebration of the One Hundred and Fiftieth Anniversary of the Primitive Organization of the Congregational Church and Society, 1869

The Oxford Handbook of Modern Irish Poetry Fran Brearton, Alan Gillis, 2012-10-25 Forty chapters written by leading scholars across the world describe the latest thinking on modern Irish poetry. The Handbook begins with a consideration of Yeats's early work and the legacy of the 19th century. The broadly chronological areas which follow, covering the period from the 1910s through to the 21st century, allow scope for coverage of key poetic voices in Ireland in their historical and political context. From the experimentalism of Beckett, MacGreevy, and others of the modernist generation to the refashioning of Yeats's Ireland on the part of poets such as MacNeice, Kavanagh, and Clarke, mid-century through to the controversially titled post-1969 Northern Renaissance of poetry, this volume will provide extensive coverage of the key movements of the modern period. The Handbook covers the work of, among others, Paul Durcan, Thomas Kinsella, Brendan Kennelly, Seamus Heaney, Paul Muldoon, Michael Longley, Medbh McGuckian, and Ciaran Carson. The thematic sections interspersed throughout chapters on women's poetry, religion, translation, painting, music, stylistics, allow for comparative studies of poets north and south across the century. Central to the guiding spirit of this project is the Handbook's consideration of poetic forms, and a number of essays explore the generic diversity of poetry in Ireland, its various manipulations, reinventions, and sometimes repudiations of traditional forms. The last essays in the book examine the work of a new generation of poets from Ireland, concentrating on work published in the last two decades by Justin Quinn, Leontia Flynn, Sinéad Morrissey, David Wheatley, Vona Groarke, and others. Spooky California S. Traplins John Rember,2009-07-01 In 1987 John Rember returned home to Sawtooth Valley where he had been brought up He returned out of a homing instinct the same forty acres that had sustained his family s horses had sustained a vision of a place where he belonged in the world a life where he could get up in the morning step out the door and catch dinner from the Salmon River But to his surprise he found that what was once familiar was now unfamiliar Everything might have looked the same to the horses that spring but to Rember this was no longer home In Traplins Rember recounts his experiences of growing up in a time when the fish were wild in the rivers horses were brought into the valley each spring from their winter pasture and electric light still seemed magical Today those same experiences no longer seem to possess the authenticity they once did In his journey home Rember discovers how the West both as a place in which to live and as a terrain of the imagination has been transformed And he wonders whether his recollections of what once was prevent him from understanding his past and appreciating what he found when he returned home In Traplins Rember excavates the hidden desires that color memory and shows us how once revealed they can allow us to understand anew the stories we tell ourselves
