Children's Spaces Mark Dudek,2012-05-04 This collection of essays is concerned with the experiences children have within the supervised worlds they inhabit as well as with architecture and landscape architecture International examples of innovative childcare practice are illustrated together with the design processes which informed their development The emphasis here is on new and experimental childcare projects which set out to reassert the rights of children to participate in a complex multi faceted world which is no longer available to them unless under adult supervision Research supports in depth recommendations regarding the ideal children s environment across a range of contexts and dimensions Until recent times the needs of children within the urban environment were largely ignored There is little tradition and no broadly agreed contemporary architectural or landscape theory as to how children should be provided for beyond a limited functional agenda There is a sense that architecture for childhood is not taken seriously it is either whimsical and ephemeral or largely designed for adults an adjunct to the more important business of adult needs and aspirations Yet children access much of their education and development through play and social interaction with their childhood counterparts The spaces in and around childrens daycare centres schools supervised parks and other dedicated childrens environments are the subject of this collection As more and more purpose designed buildings and gardens for children are opened the need to listen to children and their carers is becoming more aparant Mark Dudek gathers together a number of internationally recognized experts in the field of childcare environments to write about different aspects of the landscape They have been chosen in particular because of their background in enquiring research orientated work both theoretical and practical They listen to and watch children Contributors have considered the childs environment as one which is secure and controlled yet offers additional environmental dimensions which extend developmental possibilities Children often spend a great deal of time in daycare facilties and schools as parents are absorbed in their own work and leisure activities This places an emphasis on architects and planners to consider the needs of children in great detail As such the childrens environment must be conceived of as a rich complex place a world within a world We use the word LANDSCAPE in recognition that children do not differentiate between the inside and the outside private and public every part of their perception is open to stimulation by a stimulating environment     Meeting the Standards in Primary Science Lynn D. Newton,2013-04-15 Meeting the Standards in Primary Science provides primary science subject knowledge the pedagogical knowledge needed to teach science in primary schools support activities for work in schools and self study information on professional development for primary teachers This practical comprehensive and accessible book should prove invaluable for students on primary initial teacher training courses PGCE students lecturers on science education programmes and newly qualified primary teachers     Key Issues for Primary Schools Michael Farrell,2003-09-02 Key Issues for Primary Schools is a concise comprehensive guide to the main issues in primary education and the implications for schools Presented in a convenient A Z format the book includes coverage of special educational needs attendance truancy and exclusion bullying and behavioural problems management and administration safety and security There is also a review of up to date DfEE requirements and suggestions for further action and reading The addresses of useful contacts help to make it a reference book no primary school should be without

Creative Approaches to Teaching Primary RE Maggie Webster,2014-06-11 As an increasingly significant aspect of primary teaching Creative Approaches to Teaching Primary RE is the essential companion to help bring creativity to life in the classroom The text begins with a discussion of creative education and the value of Religious Education moving on to reflect on the cross curricular nature of the subject exploring ways of introducing creativity to the classroom through the medium of Religious Education Each chapter provides ideas and activities demonstrating how pedagogy and theory can be applied in practice within a school setting The inclusion of case studies will help you consider how to develop creative approaches in all curriculum areas This book invites you to ask questions such as What is Creative Education Why should RE be included in the ever changing curriculum How can I use Religious Education to generate a more creative environment in the classroom     Positive Placements David Midwinter,Tracy Whatmore,2011-06-02     Readings for Reflective Teaching

Andrew Pollard,2002-01-01 This unique book provides the reader with a mini library of over one hundred readings containing both classic and contemporary readings international contributors material drawn from books and journalsAn essential reference resource in its own right Readings for Reflective Teaching also contains numerous cross references to Andrew Pollards Reflective Teaching      Managing the Literacy Curriculum Michael Beveridge,Malcolm Reed,Alec Webster,2005-08-03 This book focuses on a critical period for pupils between the ages of nine and thirteen when the demands made on children s literacy change fundamentally and when children establish life time patterns of reading and non reading It provides a framework for teachers and managers to help set up a whole school approach to literacy based on a series of steps which enable managers to find out how literacy is perceived by teachers and effectively used within classroom contexts Practical guidance on how schools can help pupils who have literacy difficulties on methods of assessment and reporting and on how outside agencies can be involved will be particularly helpful to teachers and heads of department
