and exciting ways The text includes end of chapter study questions as well as a detailed note to instructors The Economics Anti-Textbook Rod Hill, Tony Myatt, 2010-03-11 Mainstream textbooks present economics as an objective science free from value judgements that settles disputes by testing hypotheses that applies a pre determined body of principles and contains policy prescriptions supported by a consensus of professional opinion The Economics Anti Textbook argues that this is a myth one which is not only dangerously misleading but also bland and boring It challenges the mainstream textbooks assumptions arguments models and evidence It puts the controversy and excitement back into economics to reveal a fascinating and a vibrant field of study one which is more an art of persuasion than it is a science The Economics Anti Textbook s chapters parallel the major topics in the typical text beginning with a boiled down account of them before presenting an analysis and critique Drawing on the work of leading economists the Anti Textbook lays bare the blind spots in the texts and their sins of omission and commission It shows where hidden value judgements are made and when contrary evidence is ignored It shows the claims made without any evidence and the alternative theories that aren t mentioned It shows the importance of power social context and legal framework The Economics Anti Textbook is the students guide to decoding the textbooks and shows how real economics is much more interesting than most economists are willing to let on

Art, Ethics and Environment Ólafur Páll Jónsson, Æsa Sigurjónsdóttir, 2009-03-26 Nature has been a recurrent theme in arts and philosophy for several decades Nature is experienced in variety of contexts artists have been enacting with nature as phenomena material space environment or simply as a place or an idea In philosophy this is evidenced by an increasing interest in environmental ethics and aesthetics as well as in philosophy of biology and metaphysics In the 1960s new affinities between art and nature developed and became among the characteristics of contemporary art Environmental approaches became essential and artists were engaging the public closely with social and physical spaces Generating processes rather than creating objects both in nature as well as in the urban landscape artists reintroduced art into nature and nature into art and opened up new ways of engaging environment creating non permanent artworks which produced a new understanding of creativity that following generations are still exploring The distinction between art and nature became increasingly blurred at the same time as the ancient dichotomy of culture and nature became controversial With the rise of environmental ethics in the 1970s philosophers began discussing nature as an independent source of moral values rather than a mere stage for moral life deriving its value from relations among humans It has both been suggested that nature might have independent moral value much like persons are thought to have such value or that nature can be an active participant in a morally virtuous life Both aesthetics of nature and environmental ethics have become established fields in contemporary philosophy with their distinct bibliography to draw on But even if distinct and properly so these two new fields might be more closely related than often suggested The aim of this collection is to bring together different trends in thinking about nature and value that are distinctive of these changing moods in art and philosophy and to juxtapose them with some other ways of thinking about these issues such as economics and religion The authors include Holmes Rolston III Antje von Graevenitz Roger Pouivet Eric Palazzo and Emily Brady The essays and artworks in this volume derive from the conference Nature in the Kingdom of Ends held in Selfoss Iceland on June 11th and 12th 2005 The Dominant Animal Paul R.
