catalogue and in lesser examined repositories such as personal collections the streets or appendages to established collections This volume examines the published and unpublished writing magazines pamphlets paratexts advertisements cartoons radio and street art that serve as the intellectual forces behind opposition to colonial orders as meditations on the futures of embryonic nation states and as visions of new forms of equality The print cultures examined here are necessarily anti institutional they serve as a counterpoint to the colonial archive and relatedly to more traditional genres and text formats coming out of large scale publishers This means that much of the primary material analyzed in this book has not been scrutinized before Many of these print productions articulate collective liberation projects with origins in the grassroots They include debates around the shape of the postcolonial nation and the new state formation that necessarily draw on a diverse and contentious public sphere of opinion Their rhetoric ranges from the reformist to the revolutionary Reflecting the diversity indeed the disorderliness of postcolonial print cultures this book covers local national and transnational cultures from Asia Africa Europe and the Americas Its wide ranging essays offer a nuanced and taken together a definitive though that is not to say comprehensive or systematic study of a global phenomenon postcolonial print cultures as a distinct literary field The chapters recover the efforts of writers readers and publishers to produce a postcolonialism from below and thereby offer a range of fresh perspectives on the meaning and history of postcolonialism textual communication surveys the field of contemporary magazines across a range of theoretical perspectives subjects genre and format questions Magazines as visual communication explores cover design photography illustrations and interactivity Pedagogical and curricular perspectives offers insights on undergraduate and graduate teaching topics in magazine research The future of the magazine form speculates on the changing nature of magazine research via its environmental effects audience and transforming platforms Editor & Publisher ,1913 Female Art and Agency in Yugoslavia, 1971-2001 Anja Foerschner,2024-05-30 Despite having become marginalized on the map of contemporary art since the wars of the 1990s the regions of former Yugoslavia continue to be a hub of creative activity Especially noteworthy is the strong presence of women artists scholars and activists whose deeply personal yet highly political artwork is rooted in a long legacy of female artistic agency Building on existing scholarship as well as original research this book highlights how female figures through art and exhibition making writing mentorship and activism have shaped the alternative art scene in former Yugoslavia and placed the region firmly on the map of the international post avantgarde Using the founding of the Student Cultural Center Belgrade in 1971 as a starting point the book details the pioneering work of women in the realm of curation where they developed radical exhibition concepts and programs that furthered the development of the New Art Practice and embedded Yugoslavia firmly on the map of the international postwar avantgardes It highlights the agency of female artists in the then novel realms of performance art video art and new media art and shows how their work has helped these disciplines to gain the impact they retain until the present day What is more it shows how female cultural workers have courageously used their work to further the discourse on gender sexuality and the female body and at a time when they saw themselves stripped of basic rights by the chauvinist nationalist regimes emerging after Yugoslavia s breakup formed a strong artistic and activist opposition Highlighting the role of women in the diversification of the ex Yugoslavia states and its highly unique cultural and political landscape this book addresses the noticeable gap in art historical scholarship that exists not only around Yugoslavia and its successor states but especially on its female representatives Back Issues Gary Genosko,2019-06-12 Using independent critical and cultural theory journals that cross the Canada US border as key examples this book shows how to interpret the original practices of periodicals by tracing editorial diasporas and transitions to electronic publishing Back Issues explains the role of independent theory journals in the institutional formation of critical theory and cultural studies in Canada and the US by focusing on two seminal publications Paul Piccone s Telos and Arthur Kroker s Canadian Journal of Political and Social Theory Editorial transits across the international border figure largely as do founding conferences interpersonal flare ups and the conviviality of academic communities and pre gentrified urban bohemias Both commensurable and incommensurable relationships between journal projects are analysed and a hitherto unwritten history of critical and cultural theory in Canada is broached Asking the Audience Adair Rounthwaite,2017-02-21 The 1980s was a critical decade in shaping today s art production While newly visible work concerned with power and identity hinted at a shift toward multiculturalism the 80s were also a time of social conservatism that resulted in substantial changes in arts funding In Asking the Audience Adair Rounthwaite uses this context to analyze the rising popularity of audience participation in American art during this important decade Rounthwaite explores two seminal and interrelated art projects sponsored by the Dia Art Foundation in New York Group Material's Democracy and Martha Rosler's If You Lived Here These projects married issues of social activism such as homelessness and the AIDS crisis with various forms of public participation setting the precedent for the high profile participatory practices currently dominating global contemporary art Rounthwaite draws on diverse archival images audio recordings and more than thirty new interviews to analyze the live affective dynamics to which the projects gave rise Seeking to foreground the audience experience in understanding the social context of participatory art she argues that affect is key to the audience's ability to exercise agency within the participatory artwork From artists and audiences to institutions funders and critics Asking the Audience traces the networks that participatory art creates between various agents demonstrating how since the 1980s leftist political engagement has become a cornerstone of the institutionalized consumption of contemporary art

"The Art-Journal and Fine Art Publishing in Victorian England, 1850-1880" Katherine Haskins, 2017-07-05 Focusing on an era that both inherited and irretrievably altered the form and the content of earlier art production The Art Journal and Fine Art Publishing in Victorian England 1850-1880 argues that fine art practices and the audiences and markets for them were influenced by the media culture of art publishing and journalism in substantial and formative ways perhaps more than at any other time in the history of English art The study centers on forms of Victorian picture making and the art knowledge systems defining them and draws on the histories of art literature journalism and publishing The historical example employed in the book is that of the more than 800 steel plate prints after paintings published in the London based Art Journal between 1850 and 1880 The cultural phenomenon of the Art Journal print is shown to be a key connector in mid Victorian art appreciation by drawing out specific tropes of likeness This study also examines the important links between paint and print the aesthetic values and domestic aspirations of the Victorian middle class and the inextricable intertwining of fine art and trade publishing
