sparked heated jeremiads by George Will Dinesh D Sousa and Roger Kimball It moved William F Buckley to rail against Stanley Fish and Catherine Stimpson on Firing Line It is arguably the most hotly debated topic in America today and justly so For whether one speaks of tensions between Hasidim and African Americans in Crown Heights or violent mass protests against Moscow in ethnic republics such as Armenia or outright war between Serbs and Bosnians in the former Yugoslavia it is clear that the clash of cultures is a worldwide problem deeply felt passionately expressed always on the verge of violent explosion Problems of this magnitude inevitably frame the discussion of multiculturalism and cultural diversity in the American classroom as well In Loose Canons one of America s leading literary and cultural critics Henry Louis Gates Jr offers a broad illuminating look at this highly contentious issue Gates agrees that our world is deeply divided by nationalism racism and sexism and argues that the only way to transcend these divisions to forge a civic culture that respects both differences and similarities is through education that respects both the diversity and commonalities of human culture His is a plea for cultural and intercultural understanding You can t understand the world he observes if you exclude 90 percent of the world s cultural heritage We feel his ideas most strongly voiced in the concluding essay in the volume Trading on the Margin Avoiding the stridency of both the Right and the Left Gates concludes that the society we have made simply won t survive without the values of tolerance and cultural tolerance comes to nothing without cultural understanding Henry Louis Gates is one of the most visible and outspoken figures on the academic scene the subject of a cover story in The New York Times Sunday Magazine and a major profile in The Boston Globe and a much sought after commentator And as one of America s foremost advocates of African American Studies he is head of the department at Harvard he has reflected upon the varied meanings of multiculturalism throughout his professional career long before it became a national controversy What we find in these pages then is the fruit of years of reflection on culture racism and the American identity and a deep commitment to broadening the literary and cultural horizons of all Americans

John Eax, and Mamelon. Or, the South without the Shadow Albion Winegar Tourgée, Richard Hooker Wilmer, 2024-05-23 Reprint of the original first published in 1882 ,

Neighbor Love through Fearful Days Jason A. Mahn, 2021-08-03 Neighbor Love through Fearful Days is a reflection on pandemics the Covid 19 pandemic the accompanying economic collapse a summer of climate chaos and the pandemic of white supremacy as well as on the calling to serve thy neighbor and work toward the common good even and especially in times of crisis Mahn s real time reflections begin with an entry dated March 17 2020 after the college where he teaches moved online and his family began sheltering in place they end with an entry dated August 31 2020 when the college reopened for an unprecedented fall term Through the intervening entries he reflects on perennial questions about purpose faith and vocation as they take on a newfound urgency as cities lock down economies reopen and close again and our fractured country teeters on the edge of civil war Each entry grapples with the anxieties and opportunities the suffering and sense of being summoned that characterize that same period Jason A Mahn s evocative narrative is a story about living through a time when the world as we know it is being leveled by pandemics and it is also a deeply philosophical exploration of what it means to live well In the pages of this book Mahn invites readers to muse on the difficult balance between self care and other care _the role of love in social justice and how white privilege might be atoned for and how amid intense suffering to practice a faith that is not escapist but embraces a hope more durable than optimism and a public strategic love more fierce and enduring than previously imagined Ultimately these reflections acknowledge the immense challenge of living a purposeful life in the middle of crisis but invite readers to the shared hope that from the ashen stillness we may just hear new callings to imagine healing cultivate hope and love neighbors in creative ways My Thoughts are Murder to the State Henry David Thoreau,2007 Thoreau s essays on political philosophy Includes Civil Disobedience Slavery in Massachusetts A Plea for Captain John Brown The Last Days of John Brown Remarks After the Hanging of John Brown Herald of Freedom Sir Walter Raleigh Reform and the Reformers Paradise to be Regained Wendell Phillips Before the Concord Lyceum The Service and Life Without Principle A Decolonial and Anti-Racist Transformative Autoethnographic Journey toward Reconciliation Jebunnessa Chapola,2024-07-08 While many non Indigenous academic researchers have introduced the concept of reconciliation in their work they have not adequately explored what it means for transnational immigrants and refugee communities to view reconciliation as a source of knowledge and understanding How can assuming responsibility for reconciliation empower immigrant and refugee women communities Why should immigrant and refugee communities embrace decolonial and anti racist ways of knowing and acting to foster meaningful relationships with Indigenous communities What does it entail to comprehend decolonial and anti racist learning and practice as a system of reciprocal social relations and ethical practices as a framework for reconciliation Decolonial and Anti racist Transformative Autoethnographic Journey toward Reconciliation A Racialized Immigrant Woman s Empowering Stories aims to address these interdisciplinary questions It endeavors not only to challenge our static comprehension of reconciliation but also to demonstrate how assuming responsibility for relearning decolonial and anti racist meanings in our everyday practices is essential These include cultivating respectful relationships with Indigenous peoples honoring Indigenous Treaties taking steps to decolonize our ways of knowing and acting understanding the impacts of colonial education processes preserving our Land and environment ensuring food security and nutritional adequacy fostering intercultural spaces for social interactions and promoting transnational empowerment The Pocket Instructor: Literature Diana Fuss,William A. Asian Classics on the Victorian Bookshelf Alexander Bubb,2023-03-14 The interest among Victorian readers in classical literature from Asia has been greatly underestimated The popularity of the Arabian Nights and The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam is well documented Yet this was also an era in which freethinkers consulted the Quran in which schoolchildren were given abridgements of the Ramayana to read in which names like Kalidasa and Firdusi were carved on the facades of public libraries and in which women's book clubs discussed Japanese poetry But for the most part such readers were not consulting the specialist publications of scholarly orientalists What then were the translations that catalysed these intercultural encounters Based on a unique methodology marrying translation theory with empirical techniques developed by historians of reading this book shines light for the first time on the numerous amateur translators or popularizers who were responsible for making these texts accessible and disseminating them to the Victorian general readership Asian Classics on the Victorian Bookshelf explains the process whereby popular translations were written published distributed to bookshops and libraries and ultimately consumed by readers It uses the working papers and correspondence of popularizers to demonstrate their techniques and motivations while the responses of contemporary readers are traced through the pencil marginalia they left behind in dozens of original copies In spite of their typically limited knowledge of source languages Asian Classics argues that popularizers produced versions more respectful of the complexity cultural difference and fundamental untranslatability of Asian texts than the professional orientalists whose work they were often adapting The responses of their readers likewise frequently deviated from interpretive norms and it is proposed that this combination of eccentric translators and unorthodox readers triggered flights of translation whereby historical individuals can be seen to escape the hegemony of orientalist forms of knowledge
