Space, Time and the Limits of Human Understanding Shyam Wuppuluri, Giancarlo Ghirardi, 2016-12-01 In this compendium of essays some of the world's leading thinkers discuss their conceptions of space and time as viewed through the lens of their own discipline With an epilogue on the limits of human understanding this volume hosts contributions from six or more diverse fields It presumes only rudimentary background knowledge on the part of the reader Time and again through the prism of intellect humans have tried to diffract reality into various distinct yet seamless atomic yet holistic independent yet interrelated disciplines and have attempted to study it contextually Philosophers debate the paradoxes or engage in meditations dialogues and reflections on the content and nature of space and time Physicists too have been trying to mold space and time to fit their notions concerning micro and macro worlds Mathematicians focus on the abstract aspects of space time and measurement While cognitive scientists ponder over the perceptual and experiential facets of our consciousness of space and time computer scientists theoretically and practically try to optimize the space time complexities in storing and retrieving data information The list is never ending Linguists logicians artists evolutionary biologists geographers etc all are trying to weave a web of understanding around the same duo However our endeavour into a world of such endless imagination is restrained by intellectual dilemmas such as Can humans comprehend everything Are there any limits Can finite thought fathom infinity We have sought far and wide among the best minds to furnish articles that provide an overview of the above topics We hope that through this journey a symphony of patterns and tapestry of intuitions will emerge providing the reader with insights into the questions What is Space What is Time Chapter 15 of this book is available open access under a CC BY 4 0 license

Philosophy of Knowledge: an Inquiry Into the Nature, Limits, and Validity of Human Cognitive Faculty George Trumbull Ladd,1897

Galileo, Human Knowledge, and the Book of Nature Joseph C. Pitt,2013-11-11 Galileo is revered as one of the founders of modern science primarily because of such discoveries as the law of falling bodies and the moons of Jupiter In addition to his scientific achievements Professor Pitt argues that Galileo deserves increased attention for his contributions to the methodology of the new science and that his method retains its value even today In a detailed analysis of Galileo s mature works Pitt reconstructs crucial features of Galileo s epistemology He shows how Galileo s methodological insights grow out of an appreciation of the limits of human knowledge and he brings fresh insight to our concept of Galileo s methodology and its implications for contemporary debates Working from Galileo s insistence on the contrast between the number of things that can be known and the limited abilities of human knowers Pitt shows how Galileo s common sense approach to rationality permits the development of a robust scientific method At the same time Pitt argues that we should correct our picture of Galileo the culture hero Instead of seeing him as a martyr to the cause of truth Galileo is best understood as a man of his times who was responding to a variety of social pressures during a period of intellectual and political turmoil This book will be of interest to philosophers and to historians and sociologists of science as well as to a general readership interested in the scientific revolution
