F. Forest, Kevin Kinser, 2002-06-21 Surveys the changing landscape of American higher education from academic freedom to virtual universities from campus crime to Pell Grants from the Student Privacy Act to student diversity In the years following World War II college and university enrollment doubled students revolted faculty unionized and community colleges evolved Tuition and technology soared as did the number of first generation minority and women students These changes radically transformed the American system of postsecondary education Today that system is in trouble Its aging professoriate prepares for retirement but low academic salaries can no longer attract the best minds to replace them A flood of corporate dollars funds commercial research but money for basic research the seedbed of American scientific preeminence has dried up Colleges and universities also face heated competition with for profit education providers for students faculty and external financial support along with the costs of providing remedial education to growing numbers of students who are unprepared for postsecondary education Higher Education in the United States provides a comprehensive analysis of these issues and others that scholars and practitioners of higher education study discuss and grapple with on a daily basis      Making Progress C. Leigh Anderson, Janet W. Looney, 2002-01-01 While a universal definition of progress has proved elusive measures of progress have been defined and grouped into the broad areas of material wealth social relations technical capacity and moral aesthetic and intellectual sensibilities However not until the Progress Project whose results are gathered here has the impact of progress on public policy in these realms been systematically explored In this volume noted scholars in economics government education technology literature culture and religion among other fields discuss the meaning and measurement of progress in their areas of specialty They assess particular policies that have either promoted or retarded progress and provide recommendations for policy processes or instruments that better reflect the nature of forward movement in the current era Making Progress is an important contribution to both the theoretical and practical literature on public policy it is a resource for scholars and students as well as a guide for policymakers analysts and advocates who help craft those policies in the name of progress      International Higher Education Volume 2 Philip Altbach, 2014-06-23 This encyclopedia is the result of a highly selective enterprise that provides a careful selection of key topics in essays written by top scholars in their fields Comprehensive and in depth coverage of a limited number of countries regions and themes is provided The essays not only feature statistical and factual information but significant interpretation of those facts and figures The chapters on themes and topics are both analytic and interpretative and deal with the most important topics relevant to higher education everywhere More than a compendium of facts and figures the encyclopedia is a comprehensive overview of a growing field of research and analysis      Higher Education Systems Ulrich Teichler, 2007-01-01 In economically advanced countries the shape and the size of higher education systems vary substantially In some countries access becomes almost universal whereas in others only about one third in the corresponding age groups enrol All higher education systems are diversified but formal dimensions such as types of institutions or levels of study programmes and degrees play different roles and informal dimensions are by no means irrelevant In some countries the hierarchy according to quality and reputation is steep and in others relatively flat Profiles of individual institutions and programmes might be striking or superficial This book based on more than three decades of research aims to show actual trends in the development of higher education systems It describes the policy debates in a broad range of countries Moreover it provides an overview of varying concepts aiming to explain the dynamics of structural developments The author shows that comparative perspectives and the search for an internationally best or most modern solutions at times lead to convergent trends However specific policy options dominating and specific traditions of higher education tend to reinforce an international variety of patterns of higher education systems This book invites readers policy makers and practitioners in the area of higher education as well as scholars and graduate students to look beyond the idiosyncrasies of national debates and beyond the Zeitgeist of currently fashionable international debates e g Bologna process ranking of world class universities and to consider both persistent tensions and changing conditions underlying the extent and the kind of diversity opted for on individual countries      Knowledge Production in European Universities Kwiek Marek, 2012-11-23 The book studies transformations of European universities in the context of globalization and Europeanization the questioning of the foundations of the Golden Age of the Keynesian welfare state public sector reforms demographic changes the massification and diversification of higher education and the emergence of knowledge economies Such phenomena as academic entrepreneurialism and diversified channels of knowledge exchange in European universities are linked to transformations of the state and changes in public sector services The first contextual part of the book studies the changing state university relationships and the second empirically informed part draws from several recent large scale comparative European research projects      Higher Education in Ireland, 1922-2016 John Walsh, 2018-11-19 This book explores the emergence of the modern higher education sector in the independent Irish state The author traces its origins from the traditional universities technical schools and teacher training colleges at the start of the twentieth century cataloguing its development into the complex multi layered and diverse system of the early twenty first century Focusing on the socio political and cultural contexts which shaped the evolution of higher education the author analyses the interplay between the state academic institutions and other key institutional actors notably churches cultural organizations employers trade unions and supranational bodies This study explores policy structural and institutional change in Irish higher education suggesting that the emergence of the modern higher education system in Ireland was influenced by ideologies and trends which owed much to a wider European and international context The book considers how the exercise of power at local national and international level impinged on the mission purpose and values of higher education and on the creation and expansion of a distinctive higher education system The author also explores a transformation in public and political understandings of the role of higher education charting the gradual evolution from traditionalist conceptions of the academy as a repository for cultural and religious value formation to the re positioning of higher education as a vital factor in the knowledge based economy This comprehensive volume will appeal to students and scholars of the Irish education system educators and practitioners in the field and those interested in higher education in Ireland more generally Education and Sociology

Koo Yew Lie, Sarjit Kaur, Morshidi Sirat, 2014-11 University league tables at national regional international levels are increasingly complex influential and controversial In spite of criticisms on robustness of methodology and bias of indicators higher education institutions continue to have an appetite for them and use or misuse them in their planning policymaking and promotion activities This publication will contribute to the much needed analysis of the implications benefits and unintended consequences related to rankings and the broader issues of quality assurance in the Asia Pacific region Emergent Issues in Education Robert F. Arnove, Philip G. Altbach, Gail P.

Kelly, 1992-07-01 In Emergent Issues in Education leading scholars in comparative education and in the politics sociology anthropology and economics of education illuminate worldwide trends in critical issues that confront policymakers and practitioners in different national settings Among the topics raised and analyzed are the organization governance and financing of education the content of curriculum texts and tests and the quality and nature of teacher training Among the issues examined is the tension that has emerged between the imperative to achieve equality of educational opportunity and the concern of educational decision makers to maintain and upgrade the quality of academic offerings Aspects of this tension are manifested in the reform movements of the 1980s especially the excellence movement that has resurfaced in the United States Reform movements are evident in countries that have experienced increased enrollment at all levels of schooling in the post World War II period In the United States as elsewhere there has been a reassessment of the relevance of education to the economy and polity and of the role of government and industry in education Contexts for Learning, 1985

Education and Society in Latin America Orlando Albornoz, 1993-06-18 Both financial and political factors impede the positive role of education in social and economic development in Latin America This book argues that the inefficient operation of its education system constitutes one reason why Latin America is increasingly marginal on the world scene
