Women and Gender in Early Modern Europe Merry E. Wiesner, 2000-07-03 This is a major new textbook designed for students in all disciplines seeking an introduction to the very latest research on all aspects of women's lives in Europe from 1500 to 1750 and on the development of the notions of masculinity and femininity The coverage is geographically broad ranging from Spain to Scandinavia and from Russia to Ireland and the topics investigated include the female life cycle literacy women's economic role sexuality artistic creations female piety and witchcraft and the relationship between gender and power To aid students each chapter contains extensive notes on further reading but few footnotes and the approach throughout is designed to render the subject in as accessible and stimulating manner as possible Women and Gender in Early Modern Europe is suitable for usage on numerous courses in women's history early modern European history and comparative history Ashgate Critical Essays on Women Writers in England, 1550-1700 Margaret P.

Hannay, 2017-05-15 Mary Sidney Herbert Countess of Pembroke was renowned in her own time for her metrical translation of biblical Psalms several original poems translations from French and Italian and her literary patronage William Shakespeare used her Antony and Cleopatra as a source Edmund Spenser celebrated her original poems John Donne praised her Psalms and Lady Mary Wroth and Aemilia Lanyer depicted her as an exemplary poet Arguably the first Englishwoman to be celebrated as a literary figure she has also attracted considerable modern attention including more than two hundred critical studies This volume offers a brief introduction to her life and an extensive overview of the critical reception of her works reprints some of the most essential and least accessible essays about her life and writings and includes a full bibliography

Women's Writing in English Patricia Demers, 2005-01-01 This wide ranging examination of the genres of early modern women's writing embraces translation in the fields of theological discourse romance and classical tragedy original meditations and prayers letters and diaries poetry closet drama advice manuals and prophecies and polemics The

Cambridge History of the Book in Britain Richard Gameson, Lotte Hellinga, Nigel J. Morgan, Rodney M. Thomson, J. B. Trapp, John Barnard, David McKitterick, 1999-12-09 This volume of The Cambridge History of the Book in Britain presents an overview of the century and a half between the death of Chaucer in 1400 and the incorporation of the Stationers Company in 1557 The profound changes during that time in social political and religious conditions are reflected in the dissemination and reception of the written word The manuscript culture of Chaucer's day was replaced by an ambience in which printed books would become the norm The emphasis in this collection of essays is on the demand and use of books Patterns of ownership are identified as well as patterns of where why and how books were written printed bound acquired read and passed from hand to hand The book trade receives special attention with emphasis on the large part played by imports and on links with printers in other countries which were decisive for the development of printing and publishing in Britain The Masks of

between the extremes of Rome and Egypt and all they stand for and to explore the relentless to and back confrontation of their different sets of values which leads ultimately to destruction

Reading Early Modern Women Helen

Ostovich, Elizabeth Sauer, 2004-08-02 Much has been written about women of the English Renaissance but few examples of women's writing from that era have been readily available until now This remarkable anthology assembles for the first time 144 primary texts and documents written by women between 1550 and 1700 and reveals an unprecedented view of the intellectual and literary lives of women in early modern England The writings range from poetry to philosophical treatises addressing a wide array of subjects including law gender education motherhood medicine religion life writing and the arts Each selection is paired with a beautifully reproduced facsimile of the text's original source manuscript allowing a glimpse into the literary past that will lead the reader to truly appreciate the care and craft with which these women writers prepared their texts This essential anthology is a captivating guide to the legacy of early modern women's literature and its authors that must not be overlooked

Collecting Women Chantel M. Lavoie, 2009 This book addresses the place of women writers in anthologies and other literary collections in eighteenth century England It explores and contextualizes the ways in which two different kinds of printed material poetic miscellanies and biographical collections complemented one another in defining expectations about the woman writer Far more than the single authored text it was the collection in one form or another that invested poems and their authors with authority By attending to this fascinating cultural context Chantel Lavoie explores how women poets were placed posthumously in the world of eighteenth century English letters Investigating the lives and works of four well known poets Katherine Philips Aphra Behn Anne Finch and Elizabeth Rowe Lavoie illuminates the way in which celebrated women were collected alongside their poetry the effect of collocation on individual reputations and the intersection between bibliography and biography as female poets themselves became curiosities In so doing Collecting Women contributes to the understanding of the intersection of cultural history canon formation and literary collecting in eighteenth century England

Protestant Translators: Anne Lock Prowse and Elizabeth Russell Elaine V. Beilin, 2016-12-05

As writers strongly committed to the Reformation Anne Lock Prowse and Elizabeth Russell translated works which they believed were doctrinally useful for their Protestant readers Lock translated Calvin's four sermons from French dedicating the work to Katharine Duchess of Suffolk These were published with the appended sonnet sequence A meditation of a penitent sinner This appears to be the first sonnet sequence written in English The present edition is a facsimile of the Folger Shakespeare Library copy of 1560 Of the markes of the children of God and of their comforts in afflictions was published in 1590 Lock's translation of Jean or John Taffin's French treatise proved very popular as there were seven subsequent editions The appended poem The necessitie and benefite of Affliction may reasonably be attributed to Prowse it is written in common meter with alternating rhymes and continues the themes of the prose treatise The present edition is a facsimile of the Huntington Library copy which is an excellent copy Elizabeth Cooke Hoby Russell was the sister of Anne Cooke Bacon Her translation of Bishop John Ponet's work from Latin was dedicated to her daughter Anne Herbert and in her dedication she suggests that the work was published in 1605 long after it was written to prevent alterations to the text after her death This edition is reproduced here from the one extant copy held at the Folger Library Unediting the Renaissance Leah Marcus, 2002-06 A path breaking and timely look at the issues of the textual editing of Renaissance works Both erudite and accessible it is fascinating and provocative reading for any Renaissance student and scholar Privileging Gender in Early Modern England J. R. Brink, 1993 The essays in this volume focus on the issue of gender as it relates to texts written by and about women in early modern England Among the issues considered are the boundaries between private and public life the problems of divorcing our understanding of the life from the work of a female author the bibliographical procedures for charting the intellectual history of women and the historical difference which obtains between categories of masculine and feminine in the sixteenth century and the late twentieth century Introduction page 1 Scholars of Early Modern Studies, 1997 Reading Shakespeare's mind Steve Sohmer, 2017-01-10 This electronic version has been made available under a Creative Commons BY NC ND open access license This book shows that William Shakespeare was a more personal writer than any of his innumerable commentators have realised It asserts that numerous characters and events were drawn from the author's life and puts faces to the names of Jaques Touchstone Feste Jessica the Dark Lady and others Steven Sohmer explores aspects of Shakespeare's plays and sonnets that have been hitherto overlooked or misinterpreted in an effort to better understand the man and his work If you've ever wondered who Pigmogromitus was or why Jaques spies on Touchstone and Audrey or what the famous riddle M O A I stands for this is the book for you Anne Bulkeley and Her Book Alexandra Barratt, 2009 This study is focused on BL MS Harley 494 a small manuscript book which can be dated between 1532 and 1535 The author carefully contextualizes the manuscript within its historical background and investigates the varied sources of many of the individual items in the book Renaissance Dramatic Culture Mary Beth Rose, 1998 This is an annual publication devoted to understanding the drama as a central feature of Renaissance culture The interdisciplinary essays explore the relationship of Renaissance dramatic traditions to their precursors and successors and examine the impact of different forms of interpretation Sex, Gender, and Desire in the Plays of Christopher Marlowe Sara Munson Deats, 1997 Some facets of these plays explored in this study include the asymmetry of gender the representation of gender as natural and universal or as discursively constructed the reinforcement or subversion of traditional gender traits gender principles and gender structures and the relationship of sex gender and sexuality terms too often conflated in postmodern and early modern parlance Selected Works of Mary Sidney Herbert, Countess of Pembroke Mary Sidney Herbert Countess of Pembroke, 2005 Religion Index Two, 1995 England British Museum. Department of Printed Books, 2007 Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2003 Other Voices, Other Views Helen Ostovich, Mary V. Silcox, Graham Roebuck, 1999-12 The debate over canon represented by this book is implicit in the broad range of its contents As a whole it argues for expansion the inclusion of other voices to augment the standard university syllabus for the early modern period urging recognition of the period s diversity and reforming the conditions under which we pass judgment on its culture Each of these essays reveals the literary potential of works that have been considered inferior and inappropriate for serious study While such individual discovery is certainly valuable what is even more interesting is their significance as a group All the essays contained here are engaged in opening texts up to different perspectives creating a canon that speaks of diversity rather than uniformity BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved
