Probation and Parole Howard Abadinsky, 2006 Probation and Parole Theory and Practice Ninth Edition takes a look inside the real world of probation and parole. Featuring a front line practitioner's insights based on the author's extensive experience as a senior New York State parole officer, this book exposes readers to the complex "real world" of probation and parole. Comprehensive in approach, this book provides a thorough understanding of the field of probation and parole, covering these topics: history and administration, sentencing and the pre-sentence investigation, juvenile court, probation institutions and aftercare, prisons and community-based corrections, indeterminate and determinate sentences, the theory and practice of rehabilitation, parole supervision and special problems and programs. For future or practicing probation and parole officers.

The textbook covers important topics related to community corrections, including an overview of correctional programs used as alternatives to incarceration, probation, parole, home confinement, and electronic monitoring; the history and development of community correctional practices; current controversies and legal issues affecting probation, parole, and community correctional practices. The second edition is updated throughout and includes a new feature: "For Your Consideration" textboxes now highlight real-world illustrations of topics. Critical thinking questions in each chapter, along with case studies and case scenarios, reflect the book's balanced approach to examining community corrections. The emphasis on developing problem-solving, report writing, and critical thinking skills makes this book an excellent choice for students who desire to enter the field. Probation and Parole Howard Abadinsky, 2017-01-12 For use in Community Corrections Probation and Parole courses. An insider's view of the rapidly changing field of community corrections probation and parole. Probation and Parole Corrections in the Community Thirteenth Edition looks at the history of the field and how it moved from a focus on treatment rehabilitation and the indeterminate sentence toward a model based on control law enforcement and the determinate sentence. Written by a former community corrections professional, the author provides an insider's view on how these changes affected the roles and responsibilities of probation and parole officers. In contrast to competing texts, the author weaves his experience with the practices of probation and parole agencies throughout the United States to provide a realistic state of the art view of the field. Cutting edge topics examined and critiqued include restorative justice, broken windows, community based supervision, place based supervision, evidence based practice, motivational interviewing, cognitive behavioral therapy, truth in sentencing, and three strikes and you're out. Additionally, this edition features a thorough examination of how tough on crime and war on drugs has resulted in a need for justice reinvestment and a new focus on community based correction.

Probation & Parole Howard Abadinsky, 1982 Understanding Penal Practice Ioan Durnescu, Fergus McNeill, 2013-10-30 Criminological and penological scholarship has in recent years explored how and why institutions and systems of punishment change and how and why these changes differ in different contexts. Important though these analyses are, this book focuses not so much on the changing nature of institutions and systems but rather the changing nature of penal practice and practitioners. Bringing together leading researchers from around the world, this collection unites studies that aim to describe and critically analyse penal practice with studies that investigate its effectiveness and prescribe its future development. Reversing penology's usual preoccupation with the prison, the book focuses mainly on penal practice in the community: i.e. on probation, parole, offender supervision and community corrections. The first part of the book focuses on understanding practice and practitioners, exploring how changing social, cultural, political and organisational contexts influence practice and how training, development, professional socialisation and other factors influence practitioners. The second part is concerned with how practitioners can be best supported to develop the skills and approaches that seem most likely to generate positive impacts. It contains accounts of new practice models and approaches as well as reports of research projects seeking both to discover and to encourage effective practices. This book explores internationally significant and cutting edge theoretical and empirical work on the cultures, practices, roles and impacts of frontline practitioners in delivering penal sanctions. As such, it will be of interest to researchers in criminology, social work and social policy as well as
