Probing the Earth ,1977 Probing the Earth Hirshhorn Museum and Sculpture Garden, La Jolla Museum of Contemporary Art, Seattle Art Museum, 1977 Probing the earth ,1977 Fieldworks Lytle Shaw, 2013-01-22 Fieldworks offers a historical account of the social rhetorical and material attempts to ground art and poetry in the physicality of a site. Arguing that place oriented inquiries allowed poets and artists to develop new experimental models of historiography and ethnography Lytle Shaw draws out the shifting terms of this practice from World War II to the present through a series of illuminating case studies. Beginning with the alternate national genealogies unearthed by William Carlos Williams in Paterson and Charles Olson in Gloucester Shaw demonstrates how subsequent poets sought to ground such inquiries in concrete social formations to in effect live the poetics of place. Gary Snyder in his back to the land familial compound Kitkitdizze Amiri Baraka in a black nationalist community in Newark Robert Creeley and the poets of Bolinas California in the capacious now of their poet run town. Turning to the work of Robert Smithson who called one of his essays an appendix to Paterson and who in turn has exerted a major influence on poets since the 1970s Shaw then traces the emergence of site specific art in relation both to the poetics of place and to the larger linguistic turn in the humanities considering poets including Clark Coolidge Bernadette Mayer and Lisa Robertson. By putting the poetics of place into dialog with site specificity in art Shaw demonstrates how poets and artists became experimental explicators not just of concrete locations and their histories but of the discourses used to interpret sites more broadly. It is this dual sense of fieldwork that organizes Shaw's groundbreaking history of site specific poetry.

Space, Site, Intervention Erika Suderburg, 2000 From Ferdinand Cheval's Palais Ideal 1879 1905 and Simon Rodia's Watts Towers 1921 1954 to Ant Farm's Cadillac Ranch 1974 and Richard Serra's Tilted Arc 1981 installation art has continually crossed boundaries encompassing sculpture architecture performance and visual art. Although unique in its power to transform both the site in which a work is constructed and the viewer's experience of being in a place installation art has not received the critical attention accorded other art forms. In Space Site Intervention some of today's most prominent art critics curators and artists view installation art as a diverse multifaceted and international art form that challenges institutional assumptions and narrow conceptual frameworks. The contributors discuss installation in relation to the genealogy of modern art community and corporate space multimedia cyberspace public and private ritual the gallery and the museum public and private patronage and political action. This ambitious volume focuses on issues of class sexuality cultural identity race and gender and highlights a wide range of artists whose work is often marginalized by
