

A photograph of a small, green, heart-shaped plant growing out of a crack in a rough, grey concrete wall. The plant has several leaves, some of which are speckled with lighter green spots. The crack runs vertically through the center of the image, and the plant is growing along it. The background is the textured surface of the concrete wall.

Problems And Miracles:

Problems of Evil and the Power of God Professor James A Keller, 2013-05-28 Why do bad things happen even to good people If there is a God why aren't God's existence and God's will for humans more apparent And if God really does miracles for some people why not for others This book examines these three problems of evil suffering divine hiddenness and unfairness if miracles happen as believers claim to explore how different ideas of God's power relate to the problem of evil Keller argues that as long as God is believed to be all powerful there are no adequate answers to these problems nor is it enough for theists simply to claim that human ignorance makes these problems insoluble Arguing that there are no good grounds for the belief that God is all powerful Keller instead defends the understanding of God and God's power found in process theism and shows how it makes possible an adequate solution to the problems of evil while providing a concept of God that is religiously adequate

Hume and the Problem of Miracles: A Solution Michael Levine, Michael P. Levine, 1989 This book developed from sections of my doctoral dissertation The Possibility of Religious Knowledge Causation Coherentism and Foundationalism Brown University 1982 However it actually had its beginnings much earlier when as an undergraduate at the University of Virginia I first read Hume's Of Miracles and became interested in it Fascinated would be too strong My teacher put the following marginal comment in a paper I wrote about it Suppose someone told you that they had been impregnated by an angel whispering into their ear Wouldn't you think they had gone dotty She had spent time in England I thought about it I agreed that I would not have believed such testimony but did not think this had much to do with Hume's argument against belief in miracles What surprised me even more was the secondary literature I became convinced that Hume's argument was misunderstood My main thesis is established in Part I This explains Hume's argument against justified belief in miracles and shows how it follows from and is intrinsically connected with his more general metaphysics Part II Part I It should give the reader a more complete understanding builds on of both the structure of Hume's argument and of his crucial and questionable premises Chapters 5 and 11 are perhaps the most technical in the book but they are also the least necessary They can be skipped by the reader who is only interested in Hume on miracles
