Problems Of Parents:

Problems of Parents Benjamin Spock, 1962 Concentrates on a number of topics that involve the feelings of mothers and fathers When Parents Have Problems Susan B. Miller, 2019-02-21 Numerous books have been written for adults who grew up coping with troubled and difficult parents Often the adults who read these books say I wish someone had told me that when I was a kid it might have helped me so much Unfortunately not much has been written for the kids who are coping in the present with difficult or troubled parents This book is written out of the belief that intelligent kids can use sound ideas to improve their lives either on their own or with the help of healthy adults It will offer help in sorting out whether a difficult situation may be a result of a parent's problems In this new third edition changes have been made throughout in order to update and refine the author's ideas Two new chapters have been added as well The first new chapter addresses parents who tell lies Dishonest parents are motivated in several different ways but all dishonest parents pose special problems for their children The second chapter discusses the idea that all parents have problems some of the time In this chapter the author helps young people look at the challenges posed by recognizing that all parents even excellent ones have shortcomings and it differentiates between the ordinary shortcomings that all parents have and more serious problems in parenting This book is an excellent resource for therapists school counselors group leaders and others who work with children and teenagers and who want reading materials to recommend to them Parent-teacher Associations Edna Elder Hatfield Edmondson, 1928

... Problems in the Administration of a Small School System Ervin Eugene Lewis, James Bartlett Edmonson, 1929 Emotional and Behavioral Problems Paul Zions, Laura Zions, Richard L. Simpson, 2016-05-10 A guide to teaching students with emotional and behavioral problems What African American Parents Want Educators to Know Gail L. Thompson, 2003-05-30 Thompson designed an empirical study to gather feedback from African American parents on numerous issues pertaining to their children's schooling experiences The results discussed in this book can be utilized to improve the schooling experiences of African American children nationwide The African American parents/guardians who participated in this study were biological parents in two-parent homes single parents grandparents foster parents and stepparents who were rearing school-age children Some had been deterred from completing their own formal education as a result of peer pressure temptation outside of school or stressful circumstances Others had positive schooling experiences and stable childhoods Regardless of the differences in their background experiences the majority of these parents or guardians were single-minded about wanting a better life for their children believing that a good K-12 education and college education were crucial to their children's advancement And while most believed resolutely in the hope offered by the public school system they recognized that schools couldn't do it all African American parents and guardians are willing to work with teachers and administrators to ensure that their children receive a quality education Yet if the historic achievement gap is ever to be eradicated teachers administrators researchers and policymakers must be more willing to view African American parents guardians as assets African American parents guardians must be invited to verbalize their concerns and those concerns must be taken seriously to effect meaningful and lasting change in the public school system Education Management and Management Science Dawei Zheng,2015-07-28 This proceedings volume contains selected papers presented at the 2014 International Conference on Education Management and Management Science ICEMMS 2014 held August 7 8 2014 in Tianjin China The objective of ICEMMS2014 is to provide a platform for researchers engineers academicians as well as industrial professionals from all over the wo
