

WINNING Perspectives

Vol. 5 Summer, 2016
In this issue:

WiN: Making Connections

When the idea of WiN was first born, NRCS Special Emphasis Program Managers were given the opportunity to attend a conference every year to get together with SEPMPs from all the other states. This was a fantastic opportunity to network with others, learn what they were doing for their Program, borrow and share ideas, and make wonderful connections with other NRCS employees. Employee Organizations would often hold their yearly meetings in conjunction with these conferences, and participants came home to their jobs with new enthusiasm, information, contacts, and friends. Our overall plan was to hold our WiN conferences in conjunction with the Federal Women's Program Manager training. While NRCS does consider employee development and networking opportunities a very important part of our careers, it has become increasingly difficult to secure funds from the agency to attend these meetings. It is now up to Employee Organizations to move forward and explore possibilities to hold meetings and form partnerships to be able to provide these developmental opportunities and benefits to their members. WiN is no different, and in August of 2015, we held our first conference in collaboration with the Asian Pacific Islander (APIO) employee organization in St. Louis, MO. More on this conference can be read further into this magazine.
