Procurement Of Works Standard Prequalification Document:

Procurement of Works World Bank,1999 The Standard Prequalification Document SPD has been prepared for use by the Bank's Borrowers and their implementing agencies in the procurement of works primarily through International Competitive Bidding ICB but the principles may also be applied if prequalification is needed under National Competitive Bidding NCB When ICB is the appropriate method for procurement the use of the Bank's Standard Bidding Documents SBDs is mandatory For large works or complex works prequalification is usually necessary and would be mandated in the Loan Credit Agreement Accordingly the Bank's SBD for the Procurement of Works has been prepared on the basis that prequalification in accordance with this document will have taken place prior to bidding The Bank has also issued an SBD for smaller contracts for which prequalification is optional if however prequalification is required it should be carried out in accordance with this document Annex A of this document explains the reasons for following this procedure and discusses the advantages and disadvantages of prequalification Annex B explains the rationale for certain clauses and provides guidances to executing agencies and their consultants in preparing a particular prequalification questionnaire and evaluating the submissions of applicants
