Foster, 1987 This book introduces the tools of sociology theory and methodology and applies them to Australian education in order to reveal a realistic picture. Its goal is to enable the reader to analyse aspects of social behaviour in educational settings and the structure of educational systems and organisations. In this edition much greater emphasis has been placed on application with each part of the book ending with a discussion of the implications for teachers and teaching. Australian national bibliography, 1961 Sociological Perspectives on Educating Children in Contemporary Society Arslan-Cansever, Belgin, Önder-Erol, Pelin, 2019-12-27 Children of the post industrial society must achieve financial status by their own efforts sustained from early periods of life and are supposed to be equipped with various qualities both in terms of formal and informal education and extracurricular and leisure activities. Contemporary children almost inherently know how to use the devices of information technology and through these devices they encounter ideas, languages etc. that are different from the ones immediately experienced within their social frame. Consequently students themselves demand new inclusive teaching practices that expose them to global cultures. Sociological Perspectives on Educating Children in Contemporary Society is a collection of innovative research on the methods and applications of how culture influences the way children are educated. While highlighting topics including global economics, multicultural teaching and education differentiation, this book is ideally designed for teachers, sociologists, school administrators, curriculum designers, course developers, academics, researchers and students seeking current research on the interrelationship between children education and society. Sport, Policy and Politics Barrie Houlihan, 2002-02-07 Sport Policy and Politics is a genuinely comparative analysis of sport policy making in five countries: Australia, Canada, Ireland, the United Kingdom and North America. Some of the issues raised in this book include the process of sport policy making, the administrative framework for sport, the responsibilities of central or federal governments, state governments and local authorities, the division of responsibility between different levels of government, how policy making has addressed the topical problems of drug abuse in athletes and the provision of sport and physical education in schools. Education, Change and Society Raewyn Connell, 2007 Written in an engaging manner by Australia's leading sociology and education academics, Education Change and Society is written to assist students in their understanding of how and by what mechanisms contemporary education in Australia operates. The broader issues concerning Australian society are examined in the context of educational institutions and policies promoting critical reflection and

Maton, 2011-02-03 Disciplinary knowledge is under threat in the modern world Claims abound that we are entering a landscape in which the division of disciplines is obsolete implying a commitment to outdated values in scholarship Notions of discipline are critiqued as reflecting social power and representing the worldview of dominant social groups By addressing and challenging such claims this edited collection argues that proclamations of the death of disciplines have been greatly overstated Not only are the notions of disciplinarity still important for understanding how we come to know the world but this volume demonstrates how significant disciplinarity is to understanding different forms of knowledge if we wish to improve the building of knowledge and educational practice Using analytical tools from systemic functional linguistics theory and social realist sociology this volume illustrates how different disciplines can collaborate and cross fertilize successfully without losing their distinctive insights and disciplinary integrity The subsequent theory developed will thereby extend both linguistic and sociological approaches to the topic and make a major contribution to educational theory Researching
