Nam June Paik Nam June Paik, Toni Stooss, 1993. This exhibition is the most comprehensive survey to date of the Korean American artist's vital, visionary and varied career. Nam June Paik: Art in Process, 2022-10-25. Surveying the work of video art pioneer Nam June Paik, this volume highlights the artist's radical engagement with process. Nam June Paik 1932-2006 broke new ground in late twentieth century art, working on a global stage to transform video into an art medium. This book reflects on Paik's working method as well as the ideas and materials that inspired his art practice. It was published on the occasion of a two-part exhibition at Gagosian New York, curated by John G. Hanhardt, one of the foremost scholars of Paik's work. Nam June Paik: Art in Process highlights the centrality of process and exploration across Paik's career through his pioneering manipulated televisions from the early 1960s to live global satellite telecasts, large-scale video sculptures, drawings and the late style painted TVs, and provides an opportunity to follow Paik's lifelong engagement with new media and the development of his own singular visual language. Highlights include Paik's painted sections of the Berlin Wall 2005, Beuys' Projection 1990, Paik's powerful video interpretation of his performance with Joseph Beuys in Tokyo and his celebrated One Candle Candle Projection 1988-2000, a live video installation of candlelight. With essays by John G. Hanhardt and Gregory Zinman, the book features extensive illustrations including numerous full-page plates and details a foldout of the score for Paik's Symphony for 20 Rooms 1961, as well as rarely seen archival photographs by Peter Moore 1932-1993 documenting Paik's early performances.

We Are in Open Circuits Nam June Paik, 2019-10-01. Essays, project plans and correspondence from across Nam June Paik's career, much of it previously out of print or unpublished. Nam June Paik 1932-2006 is a pivotal figure in the history of modern art. Arguably the most important video artist of all time and certainly among the most influential and prolific, Paik was a legendary innovator who transformed the electronic moving image into an artist's medium. He wrote incessantly, corresponding with friends, composing performance scores, making production notes for television projects, drafting plans for video installations, writing essays and articles. Celebrated for his visionary development of new artistic tools and for his pioneering work in video and television, Paik often wrote to sharpen his thinking and hone his ideas. He used the typewriter to fashion sentences that broke apart and reassembled themselves as he wrote, producing both poetic texts and aesthetic objects on the page. This first extensive collection of Paik's writings includes many previously unpublished and out of print texts. Drawing on materials from the Smithsonian American Art Museum's Nam June Paik Archive and from a range of international publications, We Are in Open Circuits offers important but long unavailable essays including Global Groove and Video Common Market unpublished writings on such topics as his creative partnership with the cellist Charlotte Moorman and the role of public television a substantial part of his compilation Scrutable Chinese and detailed plans for some of his groundbreaking broadcast works including the trio Good Morning Mr Orwell 1984 Bye Bye Kipling 1986 and Wrap Around the World 1988 It also includes nearly 150 pages that reproduce Paik's original typed and handwritten pages letting readers see his writing in various stages of inspiration and execution
