Pope Atkins, 2018-02-06 The fourth edition of this widely praised text has been thoroughly revised to reflect the evolving characteristics of the current international system that have had a dramatic effect on every aspect of international relations of Latin America and the Caribbean The original purpose of this book is unchanged It continues to provide a topically current and analytically integrated survey of the region s role in the world Still organized around the idea of Latin America and the Caribbean as a separate subsystem within the global international system the discussion gives special emphasis to complex interstate and transnational structures and processes Within this framework Atkins analyzes the foreign policies of the Latin American states themselves and those of the United States and other countries toward Latin America and the Caribbean He also looks closely at the nature and role of transnational actors in the region such as the multinational corporations the Holy See Protestant Churches transnational political parties international labor nongovernmental organizations and others He gives

Pauline Rose, 2013-09-13 Concern for achieving Millennium Development Goals MDGs by 2015 has led to a focus on the role that non state providers NSPs can offer in extending access and improving quality of basic services While NSPs can help to fill a gap in provision to those excluded from state provision recent growth in both for profit and not for profit providers in developing countries has sometimes resulted in fragmentation of service delivery To address this attention is increasingly given in the education sector to developing partnerships between governments and NSPs Partnerships are further driven by the expectation that the state has the moral social and legal responsibility for overall education service delivery and so should play a role in facilitating and regulating NSPs Even where the ultimate aim of both non state providers and the state is to provide education of acceptable quality to all children this book provides evidence from diverse contexts across Africa South Asia and Latin America to highlight the challenges in them partnering to achieve this This book was published as a special issue of Development in Practice Education and Neoliberal Globalization Carlos Alberto Torres, 2008-11-19 This volume by noted critical education scholar Carlos Alberto Torres takes up the question of how structural changes in schooling and the growing impacts of neoliberalism and globalization affect social change national development and democratic educational systems throughout the world The first section of the book offers analytical avenues to understand and criticize the practices and policies of neoliberal states both domestically and internationally More than a mere lament of the state of educational policy however Torres also documents the critiques and alternatives developed by social movements against neoliberal governments and policies Ultimately his work urges readers to engage in the struggle to resist the oppressive forces of neoliberal globalization and proactively and deliberately act in informed ways to create a Multinationals in Latin America Robert Grosse, 2013-10-11 Multinational enterprises are particularly strong in Latin America and sensitive to political and economic changes there the currently emerging debt crisis is likely to have far ranging effects This book considers multinationals in Latin America both those from inside and those from outside the region and discusses the major issues relating to them e g trans national regulation and the government business relationships It sets the discussions against the background of other work and theories of multinational enterprise Novel features include the development of the author's bargaining theory of multinational enterprise and the attempt to create a systematic method for evaluating MNE acceptability for host governments an important consideration since the relationship between multinationals and governments particularly the way a government perceives a multinational is crucial The book concludes by assessing current trends and likely future developments Models of Capitalism Evelyne Huber, 2002 Latin American societies have undergone fundamental changes in the past two decades moving from capitalist economies with very wide ranging state intervention to more market driven systems After a prolonged period of recession these changes produced some successes in economic growth in the 1990s but they also exacerbated many problems especially poverty and inequality Models of Capitalism examines why some societies with market economies perform much better than others in combining growth and equity and what the less successful countries can learn from the more successful ones The contributors look at different models of capitalism in Latin America Northeast and Southeast Asia and advanced industrial countries asking which patterns of economic and social policies governments in the more successful societies pursued and which configurations of institutions made pursuing such policies possible The investigation focuses on economic policies designed to stimulate growth on labor market policies designed to promote a qualified labor force and increase productivity and wages and on social policies designed to improve general human capital and to distribute life chances in an equitable way The volume is innovative in explicitly connecting the discussion of growth policies with an analysis of labor market and social policies and in going beyond comparison of Latin American with East Asian approaches to include reference to equity oriented policies in North America and Western Europe as well This approach helps demonstrate how important policy design is in determining distributive outcomes at any given level of development The contributors are Antonio Alas Renato Baumann Ha Joon Chang Carlos H Filgueira Fernando Filgueira Robert Grosse Thomas Janoski John Myles T J Pempel Wilson Peres David Brian Robertson John Sheahan John D Stephens V ctor E Tokman and Bridget Welsh Sponsored by the Joint Committee on Latin American Studies of the Social Science Research Council and the American Council of Learned Societies Who's who in International Business Education and Research William F.
