Neoliberalism and Education
Bronwen M.A. Jones, Stephen J. Ball, 2023-04-04 The ongoing neoliberalisation of education is complex varied and relentless It involves increasingly diverse material and structural changes to curriculum pedagogy and assessment and at the same time transforms how we are made up as educational subjects It rearticulates what it means to be educated This collection brings together creative and unanticipated examples of the adoption and adaptation of neoliberal practice both collective and individual These examples not only demonstrate the insidiousness of neoliberal reform but also suggest that its trajectory is uncertain and unfixed The intention is that these examples might embolden education scholars and practitioners to think differently about education This book is shaped by a reading of the processes of the neoliberalisation of education as a dispositive This heterogeneous dispositive encompasses and spans an uneven miscellaneous and evolving network of educational regimes of knowledge practice and subjectivities as well as artifacts and non human actants The papers included address different aspects or points within this complex arrangement at different levels and in different sectors of education They have been chosen to illustrate the evolving and multi faceted penetration of market thinking and practice in education and also points of deflection and dissent They also offer coverage of some of the uneven geography of neoliberalisation They consider the potential for the production of subjectivities to provide the wriggle room that can exist to refuse or subvert neoliberal identities This book will have appeal across the social sciences and specifically to those working in education The chapters included here were originally published in various Taylor Francis journals
