PROBLEMS IN AFRICAN HISTORY

The Precolonial Centuries

EDITED BY ROBERT O. COLLINS

James McDonald Burns and Erik Kristofer Ching

The book is designed to inform, engage its readers, and stimulate discussions. Robert O. Collins and his collaborators have included authoritative statements and analyses by renowned scholars. A distinctive characteristic of the anthology is the range of interpretations of classic and recent research. This book offers a full spectrum of emotionally charged theories. Each section presents a set of conflicting arguments to show the state of debates on these highly controversial issues. Extensive commentary by the editors leads the reader through this treasury of theories and dramatically highlights the development of the field. The themes comprise:

- Africa and Egypt
- Islam in Africa
- Bantu Origins and Migration
- Women in African Society
- African States and Trade
- Slavery in Africa

Other titles in the "Problems" series edited by Robert O. Collins:

- Historical Problems of Imperial Africa
- Problems in Modern African History

Robert O. Collins, professor of history at the University of California, Santa Barbara, is the author of seventeen books including Shadows in the Grass: Britain in the Southern Sudan, 1918–1956, which won the Ben Snow Prize for the Best Book in British Studies. His most recent work is The Waters of the Nile: Hydropolitics and the Jonglei Canal, 1900–1988. James McDonald Burns and Erik Kristofer Ching are on the faculties of Clemson University and Furman University.

Introduction to the History of African Civilization: Precolonial Africa C. Magbaily Fyle,1999 Introduction to the History of African Civilization explores the major issues dominating African Civilization from the earliest recorded period to the eve of colonial conquest of the continent C Magbaily Fyle begins with a discussion of the myths and prejudices underlying most analyses of African issues and moves into a discussion of the origin of humanity the similarities between the classical Nile valley civilizations of Egypt Nubia Kush and Axum and the spread of Islam through African societies He portrays the systems of precolonial government and society including the role of women in governance as well as traditional trade and agricultural patterns Fyle provides a new perspective on the Islamic Jihads shifting focus from Sokoto and Macina to the Senegambia and the Upper Guinea region and a revised interpretation of the Atlantic slave trade which includes the importance of African objectors to this process He also discusses important cultural features such as the traditional African food architecture and typical structures of towns food architecture and typical structures of towns food architecture and typical structures of towns food architecture and typical structures of towns Precolonial Africa Robert William July,1975 Historical Problems of Imperial Africa Robert O. Collins,2007 In a completely revised version of his Problems book originally published in 1970 Professor Collins presents the most important issues in the study of colonial Africa such as The Partition of Africa Collaboration or Resistance to European Rule in Africa Colonial Rule in Africa Educating the African Forging a National Identity and Exploitation or Development in Africa The African Poor John Iliffe,1987-12-25 This history of the poor of Sub Saharan Africa begins in the monasteries of thirteenth century Ethiopia and ends in the South African resettlement sites of the 1980s Its thesis derived from histories of poverty in Europe is that most very poor Africans have been individuals incapacitated for labour bereft of support and unable to fend for themselves in a land rich economy There has emerged the distinct poverty of those excluded from access to productive resources Natural disaster brought widespread destitution but as a cause of mass mortality it was almost eliminated in the colonial era to return to those areas where drought has been compounded by administrative breakdown Professor Iliffe investigates what it was like to be poor how the poor sought to help themselves how their counterparts in other continents live The poor live as people rather than merely parading as statistics Famines have alerted the world to African poverty but the problem itself is ancient Its prevailing forms will not be understood until those of earlier periods are revealed and trends of change are identified This is a book for all concerned with the future of Africa as well as for students of poverty elsewhere Precolonial African History [By] Philip D. Curtin Philip D. African History Curtin,1964 Transformations in History Toyin Falola,2024-11-04 The book uses the main body of Lovejoy s work to speak to core African and economic history issues It thoroughly examines Lovejoy s contributions to the study of Africa particularly in exploring issues around production and exchanges at local regional and international levels The book offers readers a fresh perspective on the discourse of slavery and colonialism while simultaneously introducing them to the quality of work already accomplished by a stellar scholar As the book argues Lovejoy presents verifiable historical data that nudges us to reconsider our perception of Africa s growth trajectory especially before its encounter with the Americas A chapter examines the various ways by which the people experienced slavery before it became proliferated during the time Europeans entered into the business Another chapter addresses questions about the progressive efforts of slave traders to access the interior to drive more victims who would be shipped to the Atlantic for the business of servitude to advance the European economy Alongside this exploration a provides the background as to the contributions of Africans to ensure the continuity of this business Lovejoy notes for instance that Muslims were found in every region in the Americas during slavery which indicates that they were being taken there through transatlantic slavery While Muslims were found in these areas it was not true that they were there in large numbers This is underscored by their resistance to all forms of forced extraction of the people from their homeland In essence they challenged the system in ways that redefined their participation in the exercise The book analyzes how Muslims ensured that economic and political power were withdrawn from the hands of the victims and how they systematically created institutions that promoted that very inequity Lovejoy s extensive knowledge allows us to develop theories and establish applicable methodologies for understanding African reality since the precolonial era He presents original perspectives about addressing issues of African American engagements and the roles of critical voices in the diaspora Consequently the book is an invaluable educational resource particularly for people who want to deepen their understanding of African social and economic history The Historian in Tropical Africa Jan Vansina,R. Mauny,L. V. Thomas,2018-08-22 Originally published in 1964 these papers discuss the recovery and critical interpretation of oral traditions and written documents problems of dating and analysis of material from archaeological sites

the use of linguistic evidence and methods of historical reconstruction concerning techniques art styles and changes in social organization Consideration is also given to wider problems concerning the pre colonial history of certain parts of Africa Attitudes towards the study and understanding of various aspects of historical development both among scholars and the public are also reviewed A History of African Societies to 1870 Elizabeth Isichei, 1997-04-13 This comprehensive and detailed exploration of the African past from prehistory to approximately 1870 is intended to provide a fully up to date complement to the Cambridge History of Africa Reflecting several emphases in recent scholarship it focusses on the changing modes of production on gender relations and on ecology laying particular stress on viewing history from below A distinctive theme is to be found in its analyses of cognitive history The work falls into three sections The first comprises a historiographic analysis and covers the period from the dawn of prehistory to the end of the Early Iron Age The second and third sections are for the most part organised on regional lines the second section ends in the sixteenth century the third carries the story on to 1870 A second volume now in preparation will cover the period from 1870 to 1995 This book attempts a more rounded view of African history than most of the other textbooks on the subject addressed to a largely undergraduate level student Earlier histories have tended to ignore some of the current foci in the scholarly literature on Africa generally not reflected in the textbooks these include discussions of topical issues like ecology and gender Isichei's book is also more radical

African History (Revised Edition) Chima Korieh, Raphael Chijioke Njoku, 2012-11-12 African History offers instructors and students a rich selection of primary source materials and excellent essays on a wide range of themes These readings can either be used alone or along with supplementary materials in the teaching and learning of African history or African Studies from prehistory to the present Put together by devoted African history teachers with a combined classroom experience of over twenty four years spanning three continents the book provides a bumper harvest of topics of immense interest to students at all levels This text contains materials not often found in regular textbooks they have been classroom tested and have been found to not only generate lively discussions among students but also inculcate in them a deep seated curiosity to learn more about Africa This together with the multidisciplinary nature of the essays makes this book a source material no serious instructor student or general reader can afford to ignore Chima J Korieh specializes in African History Gender Studies and Comparative Slavery A member of the Marquette University History faculty since 2007 Dr Korieh's research and teaching focuses on social and economic change in colonial Africa Prior to joining Marquette he was associate professor of African history at Rowan University in New Jersey Dr Korieh earned his doctorate at the University of Toronto in 2003 He is the author of The Land Has Changed History Society and Gender in Colonial Eastern Nigeria University of Calgary Press 2010 Dr Korieh was a British Academy fellow at Oxford University UK in 2008 Raphael Chijioke Njoku is a Professor of African History at the University of Louisville Kentucky He received his doctorate in African history from Dalhousie University Canada and another doctorate in African politics from Vrije University Belgium His research specialty is

African history and African politics He is the author and co editor of five books and several scholarly articles in international journals and edited volumes His most recent awards include University of Louisville Distinguished Research Award and Victor Olurunsola Endowed Research Award He is the founding Editor of Notes and Records an International Journal of African and African Diaspora Studies African History Daniel Richard Smith,1993 Sources of the African Past David Robinson,Douglas K. Smith,1999 Sources of the African Past combines a case study approach with an emphasis on primary and orally transmitted sources to accomplish three objectives to tell a story in some depth to portray major themes and to raise basic questions of analysis and interpretation The case studies are set in the nineteenth century and deal with critical periods in the fortunes of five societies in different parts of the continent South East and West Africa The authors wish students to work with the raw materials of history and to that end have provided a workbook for a laboratory experience Sources of the African Past is designed for use in a wide variety of courses and in conjunction with other texts The authors have kept their own interpretations to a minimum and invited scrutiny of their decision of selection and arrangement They chose the cases on the basis of several criteria geographical coverage abundance and diversity of primary sources importance in the secondary literature and relevance to important historical problems All the studies emphasize political change All witness some growth in European intervention In selecting the documents the authors sought a balance of perspective without sacrificing accuracy and relevance This means a conscious effort to present a variety of views African and European internal and external participant and observer those of the victims as well as those of the victors those of the people as well as those of the elite Within the limitations of space they have made the excerpts sufficiently long to allow the reader to examine the author's style purpose and other characteristics Keeping in mind the limitations of libraries they have attempted to make each chapter self contained
