 A long standing tradition of excellence is extended in the Fourth Edition of this authoritative introduction to the field of therapeutic recreation The authors effectively combine a broad orientation to the profession with the practical information necessary for students to become successful practitioners Part I contains a comprehensive discussion of the field's history and theoretical underpinnings providing students with the perspective they need to evaluate the social cultural demographic economic and technical forces that have shaped and are continuing to impact health and human services in general and therapeutic recreation in particular Part II introduces students to the client populations served by therapeutic recreation specialists and describes specific approaches and activities employed by TR professionals to help clients achieve meaningful improvements in health status functional capacities and quality of life The authors have retained the practical student oriented approach that makes this an ideal text for introductory courses They address all content areas included in the NCTRC certification exam are compatible with the American Psychiatric Association on psychological classifications and incorporate the World Health Organization's international classification of functioning disability and health The latest edition contains updated information on baby boomers the obesity epidemic and evidence based practices field based photographs and illustrations and study questions and exercises designed to engage students Time Use Research in the Social Sciences Wendy E. Pentland, M. Powell Lawton, Andrew S. Harvey, Mary Ann McColl, 2007-05-08 Despite the fact that for most of us time is a central focus of our lives the examination of what we do with our time and why has received limited attention as a method for understanding human behavior in the social sciences Humans view and use of time shows tremendous variation including across cultures and with age lifestyle and gender For many of us a sense of time is ever present We speak of time as a commodity a resource an ally an enemy and a gift It maybe on our side on our hands with us or against us We perceive it to change speeds dragging vs flying vs standing still and lest it get away on us we attempt to harness and control it with clocks schedules and deadlines We describe our use of time in a myriad of ways we spend it save it waste it kill it give it take it and grab it The impetus for this book grew from a three day research symposium where established time use researchers from a variety of disciplines from Canada the United States Finland Australia and New Zealand gathered together to merge their knowledge and resources to collaborate in examining the relationship between human time utilization and health and well being We gratefully acknowledge the financial support for the symposium received from the Government of Canada's Program for International Research Linkages and M Powell Lawton without whose support and encouragement this book would likely not exist A Literature Review , 1986 Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),
