Regions in Recession and Resurgence Michael Chisholm, 2015-03-27 The world economy has undergone rapid evolution in recent decades along with changes in the importance of industries and their organization and sharp changes in the fortunes of regions There are differences of opinion regarding the mainsprings of change and development and the role of governments in fostering national output In order to show the relevance of these changes to regional economies the book focuses on the different schools of economic thought from the neo classical through Keynesian to Marxist radical ideas and monetarist supply side thinking providing a brief description of their structure in non spatial terms The way these theories map into contrasting ideas regarding the mechanisms of regional economic growth is then explained The book concentrates on developed economies and explicitly seeks to confront theory with fact fact with theory Bringing together non spatial economic theory regional growth theory and relevant empirical data this book is intended for students in geography and regional economics but will also be of interest for those studying politics and government

Knowledge Flows, Technological Change and Regional Growth in the European Union Małgorzata Runiewicz-Wardyn, 2013-06-14 The book provides conceptual and empirical insights into the complex relationship between knowledge flows and regional growth in the EU The author critically scrutinizes and enhances the RIS Regional Innovation System approach discussing innovation as a technological institutional and evolutionary process Moreover she advances the ongoing discourse on the role of space and technological proximity in the process of innovation and technological externalities The book closes with an investigation of the role of technological change and knowledge spillovers in the dynamic growth and catching up of EU regions

Technology, Innovation, and Regional Economic Development, 1984 In recent years state and local governments universities and private sector groups have become increasingly active in promoting technological innovation and technology based business development in their local economies These efforts have resulted in productive new forms of partnership and cooperation at all levels While federal programs have sometimes supported these efforts and while recent changes in federal policy have improved the climate for high technology development initiatives in most cases both the initiative and the ongoing leadership have come from imaginative state and local leaders This five chapter report provides 1 an overview of high technology development HTD 2 a definition and analysis of high technology industries 3 a discussion of entrepreneurship and venture capital in HTD 4 a discussion of state and local government university and private sector initiatives for HTD and 5 an examination of the federal role in regional HTD Three reports are appended they concern 1 the theoretical base for high technology location and regional development 2 a regional assessment of the formation and growth in high technology firms and 3 a preliminary investigation of recent evidence on high technology industries spatial tendencies One factor examined in the latter report is the nature and diversity among high technology industries in both growth performance and locational tendencies JN New Technology and Regional Development Bert Van Der Knapp, Egbert Wever, 2003-08-16 First Published in 2004 Since the second half of the seventies a period of economic recession a growing interest for technological change can be noticed in all old industrial countries The reason for this phenomenon is the conviction that the economic future of these countries will depend to a large degree on their ability to create new products and processes and to make these commercially viable Hence the stimulation and subsidising of all kinds of Research and Development R D activities by the governments of these countries Against this background it was certainly not unexpected that the IGU Commission on Industrial Change presided by Godfrey Linge decided to organise a congress on Technology and Industrial Change This congress was held in August 1985 at Nijmegen in the Netherlands In this book some of the papers presented there are published We are very happy that we were allowed to include the very interesting contributions of the representatives of Philips in Eindhoven and of the European Commission in Brussels Technology, Regions, and Policy John Rees, 1986 Technology Regions and Policy examines the links between technological change regional development and government policy This timely book provides a synthesis of recent scholarship the results of original research projects carried out by a distinguished group of academics It explores the complex questions of how high technology areas develop the factors influencing the spread of industrial technology and the impact of technological change on labor creation and displacement Regional Economic Outlook, October 2018, Sub-Saharan Africa International Monetary Fund. African Dept., 2018-10-11 The macroeconomic outlook for sub Saharan Africa continues to strengthen Growth is expected to increase from 2.7 percent in 2017 to 3.1 percent in 2018 reflecting domestic policy adjustments and a supportive external environment including continued steady growth in the global economy higher commodity prices and accommodative external financing conditions Inflation is abating and fiscal imbalances are being contained in many countries Over the medium term and on current policies growth is expected to accelerate to about 4 percent too low to create the number of jobs needed to absorb anticipated new entrants into labor markets Routledge Library Editions: Economic Geography Various, 2021-06-23 The books in this set originally published between 1968 and 1992 introduce the reader to the many lines of thought in the literature on economic geography and tie these various aspects together within the concept of the economy As well as providing a comprehensive overview of the Western European economy since the Second World War and including specific studies and assessments of the Dutch and Italian economies these volumes examine the economic factors that have shaped cities and patterns of urbanization High-Speed Railways and New Structure of Socio-economic Development in China Xiaoyan Lin, 2023-06-14 This book systematically expounds the significance of the high speed railway in China's regional economic and social development It also contains a large number of case discussions so that readers can fully understand the development of China's high speed railway and its role in promoting China's economy The purpose of this book is to determine whether high speed railway has important political and strategic significance for China's development the inherent relationship and mechanism of the high speed railway together with economic and social development and how to achieve the high speed rail and economic and social coordination as well as sustainable development

Regional Development in the 1990s Ron Martin, Peter

Townroe, 2013-10-18 This book documents the changing nature and challenge of regional development in Britain and Ireland in the final decade of this century In the first half of this book region by region profiles review the experience of the eighties and reflect on the present climate assessing problems and opportunities The second half provides 25 commentaries on changes influencing the development of regions from questions of industry technology and employment to the impact of national policy and 1992 and the prospects and capacity for regional policy and development

Impact of State

Restructuring on Indonesia's Regional Economic Convergence Adiwan Fahlan Aritenang, 2017-03-09 The creation of the ASEAN Free Trade Area AFTA in 1992 and decentralization in 1999 mark the state restructuring in Indonesia This book analyses the impact of state restructuring on regional economic development in Indonesia between 1993 and 2010 Regional economic analysis shows persistent and severe regional disparities throughout the period Particularly econometrics study found that decentralization has accelerated regional disparities whilst the AFTA effect is insignificant on regional economic growth Furthermore historical institutionalism analysis on two cities the manufacturing industry in Batam and the creative economy in Bandung shows that past and embedded local institutions provide the capacity to adapt and create new development paths The book suggests the importance of local specific policies that embrace local knowledge and institutions to develop regional specialization and competitive advantage This book fills the gap in Indonesian literature that lacks studies on the integrated impact of decentralization and trade liberalization both economically and politically

Technological Progress and the Transformation of China's Economic Development

Mode Wen Xiao, 2020-10-01 This book explores how technological progress accelerates the transformation of economic development by adopting a fundamental logical approach to technological progress intensive inputs and promotion of productive efficiency to transformation of economic development It investigates the internal mechanisms and the choice of corresponding modes that initiate technological progress to accelerate the transformation of economic development at three basic research levels micro enterprise level mid industry level and macro economy level Based on the above research the book summarizes four dimensions facilitating the transformation agricultural intensification new industrialization modernization of the service industry and the advanced manufacturing industry and linkage of the modern service industry This book is especially valuable in its hierarchical categorization covering theoretical empirical industrial and strategic exploration On one hand it analyzes the mechanisms and approaches influencing the transformation of economic development driven by technological progress from both theoretical and empirical perspectives On the other hand based on the introduction of advanced international experiences it probes into the guarantee basis for the strategic implementation and the corresponding mode choices of the transformations Furthermore it offers specific policy proposals from both the macro level of how technological progress promotes the transformation of economic development and the micro level covering the agricultural industrial and service industries The China Information Technology Handbook Patricia Ordóñez de Pablos,Miltiadis D. Lytras,2010-03-23 Miltiadis D Lytras and Patricia Ord ez de Pablos Department of Computer Engineering and Informatics University of Patras Greece Dept of Business Administration and Accountability University of Oviedo Spain China is a fast growing emerging economy and current impressive economic growth rate of almost 9 percent annually Its contribution to global GDP growth since 2000 has been almost twice as large as that of the next three biggest eme ing economies India Brazil and Russia combined Some even refer to China as the mother of emerging markets and transition economies Directly or indirectly the Chinese economy has influenced interest rates prices for raw materials and wages in the western established economies Currently China is the most R D intense of emerging market countries and is seventh of all countries in the world Its economic power is exemplified by the fact that it is pected to be the fifth largest source of outward foreign direct investment during 2004 2007 Working with Chinese firms has become a reality for the vast majority of m agers in Western countries With its high growth rate the presence and impact of the Chinese economy will only become larger With China s importance on the global scale set to grow faster than ever shows a unique window to observe the changes that will chart the course of the future in this region of the world One of the keys to dealing with China is und standing the complex dynamic between rapid change and tradition High-Technology Development in Regional Economic Growth Byung-Rok Choi,2019-06-04 This title was first published in 2003 Korea has had considerable success in developing its high technology industries and these have become significant employers in this region By analysing the situation in Korea this book explores the effects of dynamic externalities on the growth of regional employment in the high technology industries It puts forward innovative simultaneous equation models to test three sets of hypotheses related to so called Jacobs and MAR effects differentiated by firm size organizational type and product Clear evidence is found for endogenous technological progress marked by positive feedback especially for small firms in diversified high technology enclaves There are technological externalities associated with knowledge spillovers and local employment has indirect effects on employment growth via dynamic externalities The implications for local economic development policy are outlined in a concluding section New Models In Geography Richard Peet,Nigel Thrift,2013-10-11 First published in 1989 It seems such a long time ago another age yet it is a mere twenty odd years since the original Models in Geography was published It is an even shorter time since the first tentative steps were taken towards an alternative formulation of what might constitute a geographical perspective within the social sciences What came to be called the political economy perspective has progressed with remarkable speed and energy to generate its own framework of conceptualization and analysis its own questions and debates The papers in these two volumes are witness to the richness and range of the work which has developed over this relatively short period within the political economy approach Moreover from being a debate within an institutionally defined discipline of geography to introducing into that discipline ideas and discussions from the wider fields of philosophy and social science and the humanities more generally it has now flowered into a consistent part of enquiries that span the entire realm of social studies

Economic Impact or Contribution Murat Arik, 2015-12-17 Economic Impact or Contribution contributes to the applied regional economic literature by providing a framework for handling a diverse set of projects and providing detailed case studies of fieldwork regarding the health care industry higher education institutions the nonprofit sector infrastructure investment and a major musical entertainment event Economic Impact or Contribution accomplishes three major tasks by answering the following questions What are the differences between the economic concepts used in economic versus fiscal assessment studies How can we structure an economic and business issue or challenge How can we create a research product that helps the project's sponsors solve their problem This book has emerged as an answer to many research related questions in dealing with regional business and economic issues and challenges

Remaking Regional Economies Susan Christopherson, Jennifer Clark, 2020-08-18 Winner of the 2009 Regional Studies Association Best Book Award Since the early 1980s the region has been central to thinking about the emerging character of the global economy In fields as diverse as business management industrial relations economic geography sociology and planning the regional scale has emerged as an organizing concept for interpretations of economic change This book is both a critique of the new regionalism and a return to the regional question including all of its concerns with equity and uneven development It will challenge researchers and students to consider the region as a central scale of action in the global economy and at the core of the book are case studies of two industries that rely on skilled innovative and flexible workers the optics and imaging industry and the film and television industry Combined with this is a discussion of the regions that constitute their production centers The authors intensive research on photonics and entertainment media firms both large and small leads them to question some basic assumptions behind the new regionalism and to develop an alternative framework for understanding regional economic development policy Finally there is a re-examination of what the regional question means for the concept of the learning region This book draws on the rich contemporary literature on the region but also addresses theoretical questions that preceded the new regionalism It will contribute to teaching and research in a range of social science disciplines and this new paperback edition will also make the book more accessible to students and researchers in those disciplines those individuals who will influence the re-structuring economies of the 21st century

The Social and Economic Impact of New Technology 1978-84: A Select Bibliography Leslie Grayson, 2012-12-06 Silicon chip technology microprocessor technology information technology or quite simply new technology These are some of the names representing the microelectronics revolution depending upon the audience being addressed by speaker or writer No previous new industrial development has caused such widespread publicity and discussion amongst users and researchers as the new technology. Concern is being expressed about the effects of new technology on employment, job satisfaction, social life, leisure activities and the economics of commerce and industry. The late 70s saw many doom-laden predictions of those effects, but by 1983 both management and trade unions were taking a more objective view of the social and economic impacts and many correspondents now see the new technology as a means of opening up new industries and overcoming the effects of world recessions. The chip has involved the factory floor, the office, the supermarket and the home. Electronic funds transfer, electronic shopping, microelectronic domestic appliances, word processors and microprocessor-controlled machinery mean that the new technology has pervaded all aspects of social and economic life and the developed countries are now coming to accept it as part of society as a whole. Inevitably, the flood of literature on the social and economic impacts of new technology has been overwhelming. Unfortunately, the quality of information and arguments propagated at conferences, in journal papers and research reports has indicated that there has been little quantifiable evidence available on the effects of these impacts.

Predicting Technology: A Practical Guide For Technology Managers and Marketing Professionals To Identify Future Market Opportunities Thomas E. Vass, 2014-02-28. Part of the theory about predicting the direction of technology in this book builds upon work done by Clayton Christensen, a professor of business at Harvard University. Christensen has written many books about how multinational corporations are affected by a topic called disruptive technology.
