Convicts and the Arts Professor Max Howell, Dr Lingyu Xie, 2013-11-01. There are a considerable number of books on the art of the convicts, so Convicts Art has been covered reasonably well, but art is only one facet of the arts that has been examined to any extent. This book concerns itself with Convicts the Arts. This book then endeavors to look at the convicts' contribution to the arts and demonstrates without doubt that the convicts made a significantly broader contribution to the culture of Australia than previously thought. There is a common misconception that all convicts were immediately institutionalised in a cell and convict culture was solely a prison culture. It needs reinforcing that when the First Fleet arrived, there were no prisons in Australia, no cells where they could put the convicts. The early governors and principal authorities quite logically endeavoured to use whatever skills the convicts had. So artists, generally forgers, were placed with those who were interested in recording a visual history of this new land Among the convicts were bricklayers house painters jewelers silversmiths goldsmiths and so on and some of them made significant contributions to the emerging society Some of these contributions will be developed herein This work endeavors to examine the convicts contribution to the arts in Australia in areas like the writing of novels poetry autobiographies sculpture theatre music architecture jewelry the press decorative arts and pottery Plundering Sons Tom Prior,Bill Wannan,H.
