Genetics and Tuberculosis Derek Chadwick, Gail Cardew, 1998 Genetics and Tuberculosis Chairman Douglas Young 1998 More people die each year from tuberculosis than from any other infectious disease the annual death toll being almost three million over 95% of which are in developing countries with eight million new cases being diagnosed every year It is estimated that one third of the world's population nearly two billion people is now infected of which 5-10% will develop the disease In 1993 the World Health Organization recognized tuberculosis as a global health emergency the first time that a disease had ever been marked in this way The emergence of drug resistant forms of the disease combined with the paucity of new drugs makes the challenge of understanding and combating the disease especially urgent This book explores the interplay between the Mycobacterium and its host by focusing on the research currently underway on the sequencing of the genome of Mycobacterium tuberculosis and on the genetic and epidemiological studies of communities exposed to the disease and on related animal models From a synthesis of these data new insights into the understanding of the pathogenesis prevention and treatment of tuberculosis emerge
