Shifting Languages Interaction And Identity In Javanese Indonesia:

Shifting Languages J. Joseph Errington, 1998-12-10 Until recently Indonesian the national language of a vast plural nation state was spoken by very few of the Javanese who live in south central Java But the national language is now being learned along with a national identity and is the key vehicle for modernity and progress in these communities Errington has written a fascinating account of the role of language in radical social transformation

Shifting Languages James Joseph Errington, 1998-12-10 Indonesian is the national language of a vast plural nation state the world's fourth largest country with a population of over 200 million Although its use is growing rapidly and is now spoken by nearly everyone over the age of six it has almost relatively few native speakers This remarkable growth unprecedented in the development world is largely due to the forceful presence of state institutions that use promote and disseminate a language first introduced by the Dutch colonial administration Joseph Errington's third book on language in Indonesia is a detailed analysis of shifting languages in two small Javanese communities A key figure in this area of research he examines changing conversation practices in relation to questions of ethnicity nationalism and political culture Errington concludes that the Javanese story has theoretical implications beyond the two villages to other parts of Indonesia South East Asia and to the developing world in general

Language, Migration, and Identity Zane Goebel, 2010-07-29 While much scholarship has been devoted to the interplay between language identity and social relationships we know less about how this plays out interactionally in diverse transient settings Based on research in Indonesia this book examines how talk plays an important role in mediating social relations in two urban spaces where linguistic and cultural diversity is the norm and where distinctions between newcomers and old timers changes regularly How do people who do not share expectations about how they should behave build new expectations through participating in conversation Starting from a view of language society dynamics as enregisterment Zane Goebel uses interactional sociolinguistics and the ethnography of communication to explore how language is used in this contact setting to build and present identities expectations and social relations It will be welcomed by researchers and students working in the fields of linguistic anthropology sociolinguistics the anthropology of migration and Asian studies

Language in Culture Michael Silverstein, 2022-12-22 Language enables us to represent our world rendering salient the identities groups and categories that constitute social life Michael Silverstein 1945-2020 was at the forefront of the study of language in culture and this book unifies a lifetime of his conceptual innovations in a set of seminal lectures Focusing not just on what people say but how we say it Silverstein shows how discourse unfolds in interaction At the same time he reveals that discourse far exceeds discrete events stabilizing and transforming societies politics and markets through chains of activity Presenting his magisterial theoretical vision in engaging prose Silverstein unpacks technical terms through myriad examples from brilliant readings of Marcel Marceau's pantomime the class laced banter of graduate students and the poetics politics of wine tasting to Fijian gossip and US courtroom talk He draws on forebears in linguistics and anthropology while offering his five years work in exploring the idea of superdiversity The editors argue that sociolinguistic superdiversity could be a source of inspiration to a wide range of post structuralist post colonial and neo Marxist interdisciplinary research into the potential and the limits of human cultural creativity and societal renewal under conditions of increasing and complexifying global connectivity Through case studies of language practices in spaces understood as inherently translocal and multi layered classrooms and schools youth spaces mercantile spaces and nation states this book explores the relevance of superdiversity for the social and human sciences and positions it as a research perspective in sociolinguistics and beyond

Authenticity and the Public Literary Self Sreedhevi Iyer, 2024-02-29 This is the first book length study on how authors of color present themselves in public literary discourse The study utilizes data obtained from and around exemplary empirical case study participants Junot Diaz Madeleine Thien and Mohsin Hamid Relevant data includes the case study authors Twitter usage and the impact of the digital sphere in author self presentation Dr Iyer employs a combined theoretical framework of discourse analysis and interactional sociolinguistics with an awareness of literary and creative writing studies The theoretical approach uses four metapragmatic stereotypes regarding what constitutes an authentic author The theoretical approach and metapragmatic stereotype form an evaluative framework that can be applied on diverse data to replicate findings The study originated from the author's own exposure to prevailing literary discourse through public engagements as a writer She became aware of the problematic nature of an author's public self presentation with a requirement to be yourself Each celebrity author of color faces a paradoxical positioning within literary discourse as a result of that requirement Through her study Dr Iyer sought to discover how authors of color negotiate themselves in public spheres including digital social media platforms in order to accomplish authenticity discursively This book is ideal for learners and practitioners in creative writing who are seeking strategies for self presentation as published authors It is also valuable for researchers in discourse analysis including literary discourse and social media discourse providing an empirical means of evaluating authenticity as understood in contemporary times

Functional Variations in English Ram Ashish Giri, Anamika Sharma, James D'Angelo, 2020-09-14 This volume is a compilation of 21 distinguished chapters an Introduction and an Afterword with a thematic focus on the functional variations of English in non native contexts Highly acclaimed scholars in the field of applied linguistics bringing their expertise from the core areas of general linguistics sociolinguistics psycholinguistics cognitive linguistics educational linguistics and stylistics address the ways in which English language varies in different contexts The contributions carefully examine the variations the complexities and the concerns arising thereof and explore the resultant pedagogical implications The volume in this respect contributes to an informed process for policy decisions curriculum design material development and most importantly classroom practices based on the ability feasibility and desirability of English for the users as a step towards nurturing globally minded globally competent and globally functioning individuals Taking the deliberations through and beyond Kachru's world Englishes model of three circles this book is an attempt to See what the users of English do or do not do with the language rather than where they come from Create a flexible mindset to enable acceptance and respect for linguistic variations in English usage Promote practical abilities for language and communication management Facilitate informed pedagogical practices based on global realities Islamizing Intimacies Nancy J. Smith-Hefner, 2019-03-31 One of the great transformations presently sweeping the Muslim world involves not just political and economic change but the reshaping of young Muslims styles of romance courtship and marriage Nancy J Smith Hefner takes up the personal lives and sexual attitudes of educated Muslim Javanese youth in the city of Yogyakarta to explore the dramatic social and ethical changes taking place in Indonesian society Drawing on more than 250 interviews over a fifteen year period her vivid well crafted ethnography is full of insights into the real life struggles of young Muslims and framed by a deep understanding of Indonesia s wider debates on gender and youth culture The changes among Muslim youth reflect an ongoing if at times unsteady attempt to balance varied ideals ethical concerns and aspirations On the one hand growing numbers of young people show a deep and pervasive desire for a more active role in their Islamic faith On the other even as they seek a more self conscious and scripture based profession of faith many educated youth aspire to personal relationships similar to those seen among youth elsewhere a greater measure of informality openness and intimacy than was typical for their parents and grandparents generations Young women in particular seek freedom for self expression employment and social fulfillment outside of the home Smith Hefner pays particular attention to their shifting roles and perspectives because it is young women who have been most dramatically affected by the upheavals transforming this Muslim majority country Although deeply personal the changing aspirations of young Muslims have immense implications for social and public life throughout Indonesia The fruit of a longitudinal study begun shortly after the fall of the authoritarian New Order government and the return to democracy in 1998 1999 the book reflects Smith Hefner s nearly forty years of anthropological engagement with the island of Java and her continuing exploration into what it means to be both modern and Muslim The culture of the new Muslim youth the author shows through all its nuances and variations reflects the inexorable abandonment of traditions and practices deemed incompatible with authentic Islam and an ongoing and profound Islamization of intimacies Reimagining Rapport Zane Goebel, 2021-01-18 To do ethnography a researcher must have rapport with research subjects But what is rapport Ethnography and ethnographic methods have increasingly become a feature of social inquiry in general and sociolinguistics in particular and rapport is generally considered a prerequisite for fieldwork And yet unlike related terms such as communication and phatic communion this concept has remained largely unexamined Reimagining Rapport turns a critical eye to the use of the term rapport across disciplines The collection analyzes the very idea of rapport both exploring how it has been shaped by historical forces and actors within sociocultural anthropology and questioning its usefulness Rather than viewing the term as simply denoting a type of positive social relationship that needs to be formed between researcher and consultant before research can begin this book invites us to reimagine rapport theoretically methodologically and meta methodologically Zane Goebel and other leading sociolinguists challenge readers to think about how rapport has been constructed within these disciplines and ultimately to see rapport as an emergent co constructed social relationship that is actively built during situated multimodal encounters The contributors collectively examine the role of ideology and mediation in the construction of rapport and argue that reconceptualizing research subject relationships is essential for establishing more sophisticated ways of understanding interpreting and representing research context A valuable resource for scholars and students of sociolinguistics and linguistic anthropology as well as for others engaged in ethnographic fieldwork Reimagining Rapport is the first collection to provide an in depth investigation of this critically important but previously unexamined concept

Hearing Allah's Call Julian

Millie, 2017-09-15 Hearing Allah's Call changes the way we think about Islamic communication In the city of Bandung in Indonesia sermons are not reserved for mosques and sites for Friday prayers Muslim speakers are in demand for all kinds of events from rites of passage to motivational speeches for companies and other organizations Julian Millie spent fourteen months sitting among listeners at such events and he provides detailed contextual description of the everyday realities of Muslim listening as well as preaching In describing the venues the audience and preachers many of whom are women he reveals tensions between entertainment and traditional expressions of faith and moral rectitude The sermonizers use in jokes double entendres and mimicry in their expositions playing on their audiences emotions triggering reactions from critics who accuse them of neglecting listeners intellects Millie focused specifically on the listening routines that enliven everyday life for Muslims in all social spaces imagine the hardworking preachers who make Sunday worship enjoyable for rural as well as urban Americans and who captivate audiences with skills that attract criticism from more formal interpreters of Islam The ethnography is rich and full of insightful observations and details Hearing Allah's Call will appeal to students of the practice of anthropology as well as all those intrigued by contemporary Islam

Language Policy in Superdiverse Indonesia

Subhan Zein, 2020-02-03 Indonesia has an extreme diversity of linguistic wealth with 707 languages by one count or 731 languages and more than 1 100 dialects in another estimate spoken by more than 600 ethnicities spread across 17 504 islands in the archipelago Smaller locally used indigenous languages jostle for survival alongside Indonesian which is the national language regional lingua francas major indigenous languages heritage languages sign languages and world languages such as English Arabic and Mandarin not to mention emerging linguistic varieties and practices of language mixing How does the government manage these languages in different domains such as education the media the workplace and the public while balancing concerns over language endangerment and the need for participation in the global community Subhan Zein asserts that superdiversity is the key to understanding and assessing these intricate issues and their complicated contested and innovative responses in the complex dynamic and polycentric sociolinguistic situation in Indonesia that he conceptualises as superglossia This offers an opportunity for us to delve more deeply into such a context through the language and superdiversity perspective that is in ascendancy Zein examines emerging themes that have been dominating language policy discourse including status prestige corpus acquisition cultivation language shift and endangerment revitalisation linguistic genocide and imperialism multilingual education personnel policy translanguaging family language policy and global English These topical areas are critically discussed in an integrated manner against Indonesia's elaborate socio cultural political and religious backdrop as well as the implementation of regional autonomy In doing so Zein identifies strategies for language policy to help inform scholarship and policymaking while providing a frame of reference for the adoption of the superdiversity perspective on polity specific language policy in other parts of the world Fighting Words Michael Edward Brown, Sumit Ganguly, 2003 A study of the impact of language policies on ethnic relations in fifteen Asian and Pacific countries

Multilingualism and Pluricentricity John Hajek, Catrin Norrby, Heinz L. Kretzenbacher, Doris Schüpbach, 2023-11-20 This volume explores linguistic diversity and complexity in different urban contexts many of which have never been subject to significant sociolinguistic inquiry A novel mixture of cities of varying size from around the world is studied from megacities to smaller cities on the national periphery All chapters discuss either the multilingualism or the pluricentric aspect of the linguistic diversity in urban areas most focussing on one urban centre The book showcases multiple approaches ranging from a quantitative investigation based partly on census data to qualitative studies flowing for example from extensive ethnographic work or discourse analysis The diverse theoretical backgrounds and methodological approaches in the individual chapters are complemented by two chapters outlining the current trends and debates in the sociolinguistic research on urban multilingualism and pluricentricity and suggesting some possible directions for future investigations in this field The book thus provides a broad overview of sociolinguistic research of multilingual places and pluricentric languages

The Social Dynamics of Pronominal Systems Paul Bouissac, 2019-07-15 Personal pronouns have a special status in languages As indexical tools they are the means by which languages and persons intimately interface with each other within a particular social structure Pronouns involve more than mere grammatical functions in live communication acts They variously signal the gender of speakers as parts of utterances or in their anaphoric roles They also prominently indicate with a range of degrees the kind of social relationships that hold between speakers from intimacy to indifference from dominance to submission and from solidarity to hostility Languages greatly vary in the number of pronouns and other address terms they offer to their users with a distinct range of social values Children learn their relative position in their family and in their society through the correct use of pronouns When languages come into contact because of population migrations or through the process of translation pronouns are the most sensitive zone of tension both psychologically and politically This volume endeavours to probe the comparative pragmatics of pronominal systems as social processes in a representative set from different language families and cultural areas

Producing Indonesia Eric Tagliacozzo, 2014-02-26 The 26 scholars contributing to this volume have helped shape the field of Indonesian studies over the last three decades They represent a broad geographic background Indonesia the Netherlands the United Kingdom Australia the United States Canada and have studied in a wide array of key disciplines anthropology history linguistics and literature government and politics art history and ethnomusicology Together they reflect on the arc of our field the development of Indonesian studies over recent tumultuous decades They consider what has been achieved and what still needs to be accomplished as they interpret the groundbreaking works of their predecessors and colleagues This volume is the product of a lively conference sponsored by Cornell University with contributions revised following those interactions Not everyone sees the development of Indonesian studies in the same way Yet one senses and this collection confirms that disagreements among its practitioners have fostered a vibrant resilient intellectual community Contributors discuss photography and the creation of identity the power of ethnic pop music cross border influences on Indonesian contemporary art violence in the margins and the shadows inherent in Indonesian literature These various perspectives illuminate a diverse nation in flux and provide direction for its future exploration

Durga's Mosque Stephen C Headley, 2003-08-01 For two decades now Stephen C Headley has been one of the most original and systematic ethnographers of Javanese religion and cultural history No one in contemporary Javanese ethnography has combed through the annals of nineteenth and twentieth century scholarship with as careful an eye for the variety of Javanese traditions None combines this historical ethnography with as careful and unusual body of contemporary ethnography Headley's new book brings these long developed skills to bear on contemporary religious change in the Surakarta region of Central Java In his analysis of the Durga ritual complex Headley sheds light on one of the most unusual court traditions to have survived in an era of deepening Islamization Headley's analysis of this ritual complex and its implications for our understanding of popular Javanese religion deserves to be read by all serious students of Java as well as anyone interested in religion in Indonesia However Headley moves well beyond this unusual ritual complex to take us through the twists and turns of religious culture and politics in what is one of the richest but also most troubled of cultural regions in Java The result is a rich multi layered and fascinating study one that changes forever our understanding of Javanese tradition in a Java becoming Islamic Robert Hefner Institute on Religion and World Affairs Boston University
