British cinema of the 1950s Ian Mackillop, Neil Sinyard, 2018-07-30 This electronic version has been made available under a Creative Commons BY NC ND open access license Offers a startling re evaluation of what has until now been seen as the most critically lacklustre period of the British film history Covers a variety of genres such as B movies war films women s pictures and theatrical adaptations as well as social issues which affect film making such as censorship Includes fresh assessment of maverick directors Pat Jackson Robert Hamer and Joseph Losey and even of a maverick critic Raymond Durgnat Features personal insights from those individually implicated in 1950s cinema Corin Redgrave on Michael Redgrave Isabel Quigly on film reviewing and Bryony Dixon of the BFI on archiving and preservation Presents a provocative challenge to conventional wisdom about 1950s film and rediscovers the Festival of Britain decade     The Cambridge Companion to War Writing Catherine Mary McLoughlin, 2009-07-16 This Companion covers British and American war writing from Beowulf to Don DeLillo     Shooting the Messenger Paul L. Moorcraft, Philip M. Taylor, 2008 As the literature on military media relations grows it is informed by antagonism either from journalists who report on wars or from ex soldiers in their memoirs Academics who attempt more judicious accounts rarely have any professional military or media experience A working knowledge of the operational constraints of both professions underscores Shooting the Messenger A veteran war correspondent and think tank director Paul L Moorcraft has served in the British Ministry of Defence while historian by training Philip M Taylor is a professor of international communications who has lectured widely to the U S military and at NATO institutions Some of the topics they examine in this wide ranging history of military media relations are the interface between soldiers and civilian reporters covering conflicts the sometimes grey area between reporters right or need to know and the operational security constraints imposed by the military the military s manipulation of journalists who accept it as a trade off for safer battlefield access the resultant gap between images of war and their reality the evolving nature of media technology and the difficulties and opportunities this poses to the military journalistic performance in reporting conflict as an observer or a participant Moorcraft and Taylor provide a bridge over which each side can pass and a path to mutual understanding     The Moral Foundations Of Educational Research Sikes, Pat, Nixon, John, Carr, William, 2003-04-01 This book considers what is distinctive about educational research in comparison with other research in the social sciences As the contributors all agree that education is always an essentially moral enterprise discussion about methodology starts not with the widely endorsed claim that educational research should be useful and relevant but with the attempt to justify and elaborate that claim with reference to its moral foundations     Travel Narrative and the Ends of Modernity Stacy Burton, 2014 Combining theoretical arguments with close reading this text traces how twentieth century writers have reinvented travel narrative for new purposes     The Cambridge Companion to War Writing Kate McLoughlin, 2009-07-16 War writing is an ancient genre that continues to be of vital importance Times of crisis push literature to its limits requiring writers to exploit their expressive resources to the maximum in response to extreme events This Companion focuses on British and American war writing from Beowulf and Shakespeare to bloggers on the War on Terror Thirteen period based chapters are complemented by five thematic chapters and two chapters charting influences This uniquely wide range facilitates both local and comparative study Each chapter is written by an expert in the field and includes suggestions for further reading A chronology illustrates how key texts relate to major conflicts The Companion also explores the latest theoretical thinking on war representation to give access to this developing area and to suggest new directions for research In addition to students of literature the volume will interest those working in war studies history and cultural studies

The Journalistic Imagination Richard Keeble, Sharon Wheeler, 2007-09-14 With an international focus and a broad historical scope this student friendly book focuses on the neglected journalism of writers more famous for their novels or plays and explores the specific functions of journalism within the public sphere and the literary qualities of journalism

Daring to Feel Jody Santos, 2009-12-22 Thou shall remain objective is the number one newsroom commandment but lately cracks have begun to appear in the news media s objective facade American journalists have been pushed to the emotional brink with such recent tragedies and September 11th and Virginia Tech Like social scientists reporters are expected to be immune to and even aloof from the pain and suffering they chronicle Daring to Feel Violence the News Media and Their Emotions challenges this journalistic mandate particularly as it pertains to the emotional topic of violence Interviewing journalists who have covered some of the worst tragedies in our nation s history Jody Santos shows what happens when the news media dare to feel No longer detached observers they are free to see violence in all of its emotional complexity In allowing themselves to experience the rage helplessness and fear of those who have survived violence these reporters tell deeper more moving stories stories that hopefully will have a profound effect on the way society views and confronts devastating problems such as child abuse and school massacres Daring to Feel is not a call to scrap objectivity but an attempt to rebalance journalism s hierarchical relationship between thinking and feeling rather Santos creates an insightful new dialogue about the value of emotionally engaged reporting

Richard Hoggart Fred Inglis, 2014 This is the first biography of Richard Hoggart which seeks to tie together in a single narrative his life and work to settle Hoggart in the great happiness of a fulfilled family life and in the astonishing achievements of his public and professional career considering each of his books in detail and following him through the long and hard labours of his different public and academic offices It is a tale of a good man with which to edify the present and to teach us of all that now threatens our best national and international forms of expression our art our culture ourselves

Dying for the Truth Paul L. Moorcraft, 2016-11-30 A history and analysis of journalists reporting from the frontlines of war from the mid nineteenth century to the early twenty first century War correspondents are crucial to democracy and the public s discovery of the truth

Without the media the temptation to manipulate events with propaganda could be irresistible to politicians of all hues Dying for The Truth examines how journalists have plied their trade from the Crimean War to the present Paul Moorcraft a veteran journalist discusses how correspondents considerable influence has shaped the actions of politicians and military commanders as well as public opinion and reveals how authority figures now view the media as potentially valuable tools Technical developments and the twenty four hour news cycle have inevitably changed the nature of war reporting Today news bureaus are apt to learn of developments before the higher chains of command The author comments on key milestones that have contributed to this evolution Using his own and others experiences in recent conflicts including Korea the Falklands the Balkans Iraq and Afghanistan Moorcraft shares an aspect of warfare that is all too often overlooked but can be crucial to the outcome The public s attitude toward the day to day conduct of war is becoming ever more significant and this fascinating book examines why This is a brilliant history of war reporting from the mid nineteenth century s scribblers and snappers reporters and photographers to today s digital technology and instant communications Military Officer

Global Media Ethics Stephen J. A. Ward,2013-01-09 Global Media Ethics Global Media Ethics Problems and Perspectives The book pleads convincingly that news media outlets and practitioners should urgently reconsider their practices and norms in a world gone global and digitally convergent The various contributions broach the topic from completely different perspectives to create a very stimulating and constructive framework to identify and face the new ethical challenges of journalism and the news media Fran ois Heinderyckx Universit libre de Bruxelles News that crosses boundaries of culture and geography means rethinking media ethics The demands of role audience digital transmission and an industry under fierce economic pressure require the insightful approach to ethical thinking this volume provides From theory to practice this book has something for scholars and professionals alike Lee Wilkins Journal of Mass Media Ethics Global Media Ethics is a cross cultural exploration of the conceptual and practical issues facing media ethics in a global world Focusing on the ethical concepts principles and questions in an era of major change this unique textbook explores the aims and norms that should guide the publication of stories that impact across borders and which affect a globally linked pluralistic world Through case studies analysis of emerging practices and theoretical discussion a team of leading journalism and communication experts investigate the impact of major global trends on responsible journalism and lead readers to better understand changes in media ethics Chapters look at how these changes promote or inhibit responsible journalism how such changes challenge existing standards and how media ethics can develop to take account of global news media In light of the fact that media journalism is now and will increasingly become multimedia in format and global in its scope and influence the book argues that global media impact entails global responsibilities It is therefore critical that media ethics rethinks its basic notions standards and practices from a more cosmopolitan perspective

The People's Paper Peter Limb,2012-09-01 This much awaited volume uncovers the long lost pages of the major African multilingual newspaper Abantu Batho Founded in 1912 by African National Congress ANC convenor Pixley Seme with assistance from the Swazi Queen it was published up until 1931 attracting the cream of African politicians journalists and poets Mqhayi Nontsisi Mggweth and Grendon In its pages burning issues of the day were articulated alongside cultural by ways The People s Paper comprising both essays and an anthology explores the complex movements and individuals that emerged in the almost twenty years of its publication The essays contribute rich new material to provide clearer insights into South African politics and intellectual life The anthology unveils a judicious selection of never before published columns from the paper spanning every year of its life and drawn from repositories on three continents Abantu Batho had a regional and international focus and by examining all these dynamics across boundaries and disciplines The People s Paper transcends established historiographical frontiers to fill a lacuna that scholars have long lamented

The Rhetorics of Feminism Lynne Pearce,2013-04-15 Is it possible that changes in rhetorical practice could alter not just how thought is expressed but also how it is made Through a close stylistic and rhetorical analysis of contemporary feminist writing from the cultural theory of Judith Butler to the popular journalism of Naomi Wolf and Germaine Greer Lynne Pearce demonstrates how feminist thought is created as well as communicated through the frameworks in which it is presented By linking rhetorical innovation with feminist epistemology in such a direct way this is a book that will be of immense methodological as well as theoretical interest to readers providing valuable insight into the often mysterious processes of conception and composition

The Media Offensive Alexander G. Lovelace, 2022-05-25 World War II was a media war President Franklin D Roosevelt used the press to a great extent of course but as the war progressed the media also came to influence commanders decisions on the battlefield Rescuing General Douglas MacArthur from the Philippines in deference to public opinion forced the Allies to divide the Pacific War between two competing theaters Omar Bradley s concern over US public opinion convinced General Dwight D Eisenhower to include Americans in the final assault against Axis forces in Tunisia General George S Patton Jr raced across Sicily to gain media attention and British respect General Mark Clark s hunger for publicity and the glory of capturing Rome allowed an entire German army to escape destruction Negative media pressure and the fear of V 1 bombs damaging British morale provided the impetus for the breakout of Normandy and the unsuccessful attempt to liberate the Netherlands in the fall of 1944 British general Bernard Montgomery s remarks to the press during the Battle of the Bulge almost caused him to lose his command and created tremendous ill feelings among the Allies Soon afterward Eisenhower was forced to hold the dangerously exposed city of Strasbourg because of French public opinion By V E Day even Eisenhower was attempting to get more publicity for American as opposed to Allied units The Media Offensive offers a new way to understand military media relations during World War II The press and public opinion shaped not only how the conflict was seen but also how it was fought Alexander Lovelace demonstrates that the US military repeatedly discovered that the best effects resulted from accurate news stories Truthful news reporting defined as news reporting that accurately depicts the events it describes could not be created by the military or even the media but could only emerge through a free press searching for it Lovelace recasts World War II in a new and unique fashion by placing media and public opinion at the center of battlefield decision making Unlike past scholarship on the media during World War II that focused on censorship propaganda or the adventure stories of war correspondents The Media Offensive takes the historiography of war reporting in a new direction In what could be called the new history of war reporting the focus is switched from how the military controlled reporters to how military decisions were shaped by the press

Citizen Witnessing Stuart Allan, 2013-04-03 What role can the ordinary citizen perform in news reporting This question goes to the heart of current debates about citizen journalism one of the most challenging issues confronting the news media today In this timely and provocative book Stuart Allan introduces the key concept of citizen witnessing in order to rethink familiar assumptions underlying traditional distinctions between the amateur and the professional journalist Particular attention is focused on the spontaneous actions of ordinary people caught up in crisis events transpiring around them who feel compelled to participate in the making of news In bearing witness to what they see they engage in unique forms of journalistic activity generating firsthand reportage eyewitness accounts video footage digital photographs Tweets blog posts frequently making a vital contribution to news coverage Drawing on a wide range of examples to illustrate his argument Allan considers citizen witnessing as a public service showing how it can help to reinvigorate journalism s responsibilities within democratic cultures This book is required reading for all students of journalism digital media and society
