The Eleventh Off-Campus Library Services Conference Proceedings Patrick Mahoney, 2013-01-11. Learn how to provide better service to distance information users. This book is the result of the conference held in May 2004 in Scottsdale, Arizona, focusing on librarians' challenges providing service to nontraditional faculty and students. Respected authorities discuss in detail specific problems and fresh strategies and solutions to further promote service to distance information users. Each chapter tackles a particular issue such as collaboration outside the contributor's organization or how services can be monitored and assessed to gauge quality and fully explains what can be done to address those issues. Each distinguished contribution was carefully selected by a 26-member advisory board using a juried abstracts process. Thorough bibliographies, useful figures, tables, and graphs provide accessibility and clarify ideas. Some of the topics in this book include the promotion of library services to Native American students, the planning and development process of a project to create a Web-based multi-media instruction tool for off-campus graduate students, an examination of direct linking tools provided by major aggregators, distance learning for the learning disabled, distance learning implementation strategies for institutions, course management software, CMS, and library services integration, a survey of Association of Research Libraries offered services, the do's and don'ts of videoconferencing on and off campus, an eBooks collection study, one-on-one research coaching via digital reference service, an online tool that assesses students' research skills and attitudes, creating a library CD for off-campus students, expanding student and faculty access to information services, the collaboration with faculty on electronic course reserves, developing assessment questions for services supporting off-campus learning programs, providing secure off-campus access to library services beyond proxy servers, and much, much more.

The Eleventh Off-Campus Library Services Conference Proceedings is an invaluable comprehensive resource detailing the latest challenges and solutions for on and off-campus librarians.

The Acquisitions Budget Bill Katz, 2019-12-05. This book, first published in 1989, discusses the maintenance of a quality collection within a budget while still making necessary cuts and savings. As the purchasing power of the materials budget declines, effectively managing the allocation of the materials budget and the development of the collections becomes more and more of a challenge. In The Acquisitions Budget, practicing acquisitions librarians representing almost all types and sizes of libraries address their daily problems and share innovative and effective methods for dealing with a shrinking budget. These authoritative contributors, who have many years of practical problem-solving experience, also offer useful tips on how to influence administrators, faculty, students, anyone who has even partial control over allocating the budget.

in digital resources No index Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Evaluating the Twenty-First Century Library Donald L. DeWitt, 2013-10-31 Explore the ARL's initiatives for identifying, formulating, and testing new criteria for evaluating academic libraries in the digital age. The proliferation of electronic information resources in the past decade has changed the ways in which research libraries evaluate their service and holdings. This collection of articles, thirteen of which previously appeared in ARL's bimonthly newsletter, reports on research issues and actions. It examines new measures for library evaluation that are being developed by the Association of Research Libraries. It presents an overview of how the Association of Research Libraries' new measures initiative developed, plus insightful reports on the details of the SERVQUAL, LibQUAL, and E metrics projects. Handy flow charts and tables make the information easily accessible and understandable. From the editor: The profound changes in library management and collection development brought about by digital technology in the closing decade of the twentieth century have changed the way we think about libraries. If we were to ask librarians who have been in the profession for more than a decade how they evaluated a library, we probably would hear statistics about the number of volumes held and added annually, the number of serial subscriptions, how much money a library has to spend, and how many professionals are on staff. These are the traditional criteria by which libraries have been judged throughout much of the twentieth century. Newer librarians, however, especially those who entered the profession in the late 1980s and 1990s, use a different yardstick and frequently recite different statistics that include terms such as user satisfaction, spending on electronic resources and services, document delivery services, numbers of databases and electronic journals available, and services provided to distance learners. In Evaluating the Twenty-First Century Library, you will find valuable information on current performance measures for academic libraries, the continuing search for accurate new performance measures, the uses of learning outcomes assessment, SERVQUAL, LibQUAL, and the ARL LibQUAL Pilot Project, the results of the 2000 Symposium on Measuring Library Service Quality, the uses of E metrics in assessing the academic networked environment, and accurately measuring use, users, services, resources, and other factors, an insightful discussion of the rise in spending on electronic information by research libraries.
