Mall City Stefan Al, 2016-11-30 Hong Kong is the twenty first century paradigmatic capital of consumerism Of all places it has the densest and tallest concentration of malls reaching tens of stories Hong Kong's malls are also the most visited sandwiched between subways and skyscrapers These mall complexes have become cities in and of themselves accommodating tens of thousands of people who live work and play within a single structure Mall City features Hong Kong as a unique rendering of an advanced consumer society Retail space has come a long way since the nineteenth century covered passages of Paris which once awed the bourgeoisie with glass roofs and gaslights It has morphed from the arcade to the department store and from the mall into the mall city where expresscalators crisscross mesmerizing atriums Highlighting the effects of this development in Hong Kong this book raises questions about architecture city planning culture and urban life

City Tourism Robert Maitland, Brent W. Ritchie, 2009 Capital city status attracts and drives tourism by enhancing a city's appeal to the tourist and its international standing With a focus on city tourism themes this book examines subjects including the identity of a city in a tourism context and practical matters such as promoting the city as a product By examining tourist activities in national capitals the book addresses issues in capital city development as tourist destinations with a broad international approach and case studies on major tourist cities

Tourism Geography Stephen Williams, 2014-09-16 Tourism Geography develops a critical understanding of how different geographies of tourism are created and maintained Drawing on both historical and contemporary perspectives the discussion connects tourism to key geographical concepts relating to globalization mobility new geographies of production and consumption and post industrial change The new edition has been fully updated to have an international focus with global case studies and broader based content

Digital Technologies of the Self Yasmine Abbas, Fred Dervin, 2009-10-02 Inspired by the technologies of the self theorized by

Michel Foucault in the early 1980s this volume investigates how contemporary individuals fashion their identity identities using digital technologies such as ambient intelligent devices social networking platforms and online communities Facebook CouchSurfing and craigslist online gaming SilkRoad Online Oblivion and World of Warcraft podcasts etc With high speed internet access ubiquitous computing and generous storage capacity the opportunities for staging and transforming the self selves have become nearly limitless This book explores how technologies contribute to the expression co construction and enactment of identities It examines these issues from various perspectives as it brings together insights from different disciplines design discourse analysis philosophy and sociology The Ethics of Mobilities Tore Sager,2016-03-23 With this book the international academic discourse on mobility is taken a step further through the intertwined perspectives of different social sciences engineering and the humanities The Ethics of Mobilities departs from the recent interest in social surveillance raised by the use of technology for the surveillance and control of mobility as well as for transport It widens this theme to encompass a broad scale of issues ranging from freedom and escape to social exclusion and control thus raising important questions of ethics identity and religion questions that are dealt with by a diverse yet structured range of chapters arranged around the themes of ethics and religion and freedom and control Through their variety and diversity of perspectives the chapters of this book offer a substantial interdisciplinary contribution to the socially and environmentally relevant discussion about what a technically and economically accelerating mobility does to life and how it might be transformed to sustain a more life enhancing future Ethics of Mobilities will excite not only international interest but will also appeal to scholars across a wide range of disciplines in fields as diverse as theology and engineering The Routledge Handbook of Tourism Geographies Julie Wilson,Dieter K. Müller,2024-10-24 The Routledge Handbook of Tourism Geographies 2nd Edition offers a comprehensive re evaluation of the recent developments conceptual theoretical and empirical debates and critical issues in this field of study Reflecting on and building from its original aim of rethinking geographical approaches to tourism the volume explores contemporary tourism contexts and concepts as marked by the present era of polycrises setting out renewed and reoriented perspectives on tourism geographies into the mid 2020s Across its diverse range of contributions the Handbook navigates the complexities of tourism as a shifting construct situating tourism geographies within the socio spatial economic and environmental implications of tourism leisure and mobilities in the new contexts of global change ecological transition and digital transformation The volume aims to provide a nuanced and detailed analysis of established and emerging discourses and debates within tourism geographies underscoring the field s inherent criticality and ideal positioning for understanding and catalysing complex global and local scenarios in contemporary tourism leisure and mobilities Written by leading scholars in the tourism geographies field this text is an invaluable resource for students researchers and scholars working in the areas of tourism geography and related disciplines encouraging dialogue across areas of study White Space Daniel J. Keyes,Luis L.M. Aguiar,2021-12-15 Much attention has been paid to race in the Canadian metropolis but how are the workings of whiteness manifested in the rural urban White Space analyzes the dominance of whiteness in the Okanagan Valley of British Columbia to expose how this racial notion sustains forms of settler privilege today Contributors to this perceptive collection critique the cultural economics of whiteness and white supremacy The first half documents the historical construction of whiteness how settlers and their ancestors have sought to exalt pioneers by erasing non whites from the region s heritage while Indigenous people resist this white out The second half explores the persistence of whiteness as an organizing principle in the neoliberal deindustrialized present White Space moves beyond appraising whiteness as if it were a solid and unshakable category Instead it offers a powerful demonstration of how the concept can be re envisioned resisted and reshaped in contexts of economic change

Cartographies of Culture Damian Walford Davies,2012-06-15 Cartographies of Culture New Geographies of Welsh Writing in English offers a pioneering new examination of the links between maps and imaginative writing Concerned to draw literary studies and geography into a fruitful dialogue the book offers a genuinely interdisciplinary study of literary texts in relation to the spatialities of culture Taking the anglophone literature of Wales as its main data field the book offers a boldly imaginative and stringently theorised analysis of five literary maps What emerges is nothing less than a new way of reading literature through and as maps

Managing Coastal Tourism Resorts Sheela Agarwal,Gareth Shaw,2007-10-19 This book aims to develop a global perspective on the management issues facing coastal resorts It does so by drawing on examples from a range of economies and environments written by key experts The major management themes highlighted include the processes of restructuring attempts to develop sustainable agendas and environmental issues of developing resorts in sensitive areas

Geographies of Myth and Places of Identity Marco Benoit Carbone, 2022-01-13 Turning to a region of South Italy associated with Greater Greece and the geographies of Homer's Odyssey Marco Benoit Carbone delivers a historical and ethnographic treatment of how places defined in public imagination and media by their associated histories become sites of memory and identity as their landscape and mythologies turn into insignia of a romanticised antiquity For the ancient Greeks Homer had set the marine monsters of the Odyssey in the Strait between Calabria and Sicily Since then this passage has been glowing with the aura of its mythological landmarks Travellers and tourists have played Odysseus by re-enacting his journey Scholars and explorers have explained the myths as metaphors of whirlpools and marine fauna The iconic Strait and village of Scilla have turned into place myths and playgrounds defined by the region's heritage Carbone observes the enduring impact of Hellas on the real Strait today The continuous rekindling of cultural and visual traditions of place in the arts media travel and tourism have intersected with philhellenic historiographies shaping local policies public histories views of development and forms of Hellenicist identitarianism Elements of society have celebrated the landscape of the Odyssey appropriated Homer as their imagined heirs and purported themselves as the original Europeans pandering to outdated ideological appropriations of classical antiquity and exclusionary West-centric views of the Mediterranean

California Mission Landscapes Elizabeth Kryder-Reid, 2016-11-30 Nothing defines California and our nation's heritage as significantly or emotionally says the California Mission Foundation as do the twenty-one missions that were founded along the coast from San Diego to Sonoma Indeed the missions collectively represent the state's most iconic tourist destinations and are touchstones for interpreting its history Elementary school students today still make model missions evoking the romanticized versions of the 1930s Does it occur to them or to the tourists that the missions have a dark history California Mission Landscapes is an unprecedented and fascinating history of California mission landscapes from colonial outposts to their reinvention as heritage sites through the late nineteenth and twentieth centuries Illuminating the deeply political nature of this transformation Elizabeth Kryder Reid argues that the designed landscapes have long recast the missions from sites of colonial oppression to aestheticized and nostalgia-drenched monasteries She investigates how such landscapes have been appropriated in social and political power struggles particularly in the perpetuation of social inequalities across boundaries of gender race class ethnicity and religion California Mission Landscapes demonstrates how the gardens planted in mission courtyards over the past 150 years are not merely anachronistic but have become potent ideological spaces The transformation of these sites of conquest into physical and metaphoric gardens has reinforced the marginalization of indigenous agency and diminished the contemporary consequences of colonialism And yet importantly this book also points to the potential to create very different visitor experiences than these landscapes currently do Despite the wealth of scholarship on California history until now no book has explored the mission landscapes as an avenue into understanding the politics of the past tracing the continuum between the Spanish colonial period emerging American nationalism and the contemporary heritage industry Tourism, Diasporas and Space Tim Coles,Dallen J. Timothy,2004-08-02 Diasporas result from the scattering of populations and cultures across geographical space and time Transnational in nature and unbounded by space they cut across the static territorial boundaries more usually deployed to govern tourism In a vibrant inter disciplinary collection of essays from leading scholars in the field this book introduces the main features and constructs of diasporas and explores their implications for the consumption production and practices of tourism Three sets of mutually reinforcing relationships are explored experiences of diaspora tourists the settings and spaces of diaspora tourism the production of diaspora tourism Addressing the relationship between diasporic groups and tourism from both a consumer and producer perspective examples are drawn from a wide spectrum of diasporic groups including the Chinese Jewish Southeast Asian Croatian Dutch and Welsh Until now there has been no systematic and detailed treatment of the relationships between diasporas their consumptions and the tourist experience However here Coles and Timothy provide a unique navigation of the nature of these inter connections which is ideal for students of tourism sociology cultural studies Tourism and the Branded City Stephanie Hemelryk Donald,John G. Gammack,2016-02-24 Comparing the major Pacific Rim cities of Sydney Hong Kong and Shanghai this book examines world city branding Whilst all three cities compete on the world s stage for events tourists and investment they are also at the centre of distinct film traditions and their identities are thus strongly connected with a cinematic impression Using an interdisciplinary approach this book not only analyses the city branding of these cities from the more widely researched perspectives of tourism marketing and regional development but also draws in cultural studies and psychology approaches which offer fresh and useful insights to place branding and marketing in general The authors compare and contrast qualitative and quantitative original data as well as critically analyzing current texts and debates on city branding In conclusion they argue that city branding should contribute not only to regional development and identity but also to sustainable economic well being and public happiness Handbook of Tourism and Consumer Behavior Danni Zheng,Metin Kozak,Jun Wen,2024-11-08 This Handbook evaluates cutting edge research on consumer behavior in the modern day discussing key areas such as emerging tourism experiences and technology enabled services The Wiley Blackwell Companion to Tourism Alan A. Lew,C. Michael Hall,Allan M. Williams,2014-06-03 The Wiley Blackwell Companion to Tourism presents a collection of readings that represent an essential and authoritative reference on the state of the art of the interdisciplinary field of tourism studies Presents a comprehensive and critical overview of tourism studies across the social sciences Introduces emerging topics and reassesses key themes in tourism studies in the light of recent developments Includes 50 newly commissioned essays by leading experts in the social sciences from around the world Contains cutting edge perspectives on topics that include tourism's role in globalization sustainable tourism and the state's role in tourism development Sets an agenda for future tourism research and includes a wealth of bibliographic references The Routledge Companion to Landscape Studies Peter Howard, Ian Thompson, Emma Waterton, Mick Atha, 2013-02-15 Landscape is a vital synergistic concept which opens up ways of thinking about many of the problems which beset our contemporary world such as climate change social alienation environmental degradation loss of biodiversity and destruction of heritage As a concept landscape does not respect disciplinary boundaries Indeed many academic disciplines have found the concept so important it has been used as a qualifier that delineates whole sub disciplines landscape ecology landscape planning landscape archaeology and so forth In other cases landscape studies progress under a broader banner such as heritage studies or cultural geography Yet it does not always mean the same thing in all of these contexts The Routledge Companion to Landscape Studies offers the first comprehensive attempt to explore research directions into the many uses and meanings of landscape The Companion contains thirty nine original contributions from leading scholars within the field which have been divided into four parts Experiencing Landscape Landscape Culture and Heritage Landscape Society and Justice and Design and Planning for Landscape Topics covered range from phenomenological approaches to landscape to the consideration of landscape as a repository of human culture from ideas of identity and belonging to issues of power and hegemony and from discussions of participatory planning and design to the call for new imaginaries in a time of global and environmental crisis Each contribution explores the future development of different conceptual and theoretical approaches as well as recent empirical contributions to knowledge and understanding Collectively they encourage dialogue across disciplinary barriers and reflection upon the implications of research findings for local national and international policy in relation to landscape This Companion provides up to date critical reviews of state of the art perspectives across this multifaceted field embracing disciplines such as anthropology archaeology cultural studies geography landscape planning landscape architecture countryside management forestry heritage studies ecology and fine art It serves as an invaluable point of reference for scholars researchers and graduate students alike engaging in the field of landscape studies
