Recapturing Anthropology Working In The Present:

Recapturing Anthropology Richard Gabriel Fox, 1991-01-01 The ten papers in this volume offer different versions of how and where anthropologists might work usefully in today's world converging on the issue of how anthropology can best recapture the progressive character its basic concepts such as culture once had Together the authors demonstrate that a reinvigorated anthropology must recognize how the profession labors under an existing intellectual discipline with its own political and economic history on a global shop floor

RECAPTURING ANTHROPOLOGY., 2003 Reclaiming a Scientific Anthropology Lawrence A. Kuznar, 2008-09-11 This second edition of Reclaiming a Scientific Anthropology arrives at just the right time as new advances in science increasingly affect anthropologists of all stripes Lawrence Kuznar begins by reviewing the basic issues of scientific epistemology in anthropology as they have taken shape over the life of the discipline He then describes postmodern and other critiques of both science and scientific anthropology and he concludes with stringent analyses of these debates This new edition brings this important text firmly into the 21st century it not only updates the scholarly debates but it describes new research techniques such as computer modeling systems that could not have been imagined just a decade ago In a field that has become increasingly divided over basic methods of research and interpretation Kuznar makes a powerful argument that anthropology should return to its roots in empirical science

Counterworks Richard Fardon, 2003-12-16 Globalization is often described as the spread of western culture to other parts of the world How accurate is the depiction of cultural flow In Counterworks ten anthropologists examine the ways in which global processes have affected particular localities where they have carried out research They challenge the validity of anthropological concepts of culture in the light of the pervasive connections which exist between local and global factors everywhere Rather than assuming that the world is culturally diverse this book proposes that culture is itself a representation of the similarities and difference recognized between forms of social life The authors address issues of globalization in terms of diverse histories and traditions of knowledge which may include the construction of difference as cultural In its attention to specific local situations such as Bali Cuba Bolivia Greece Kenya and the Maoris in New Zealand Counterworks argues that the apparent opposition between strong westernizing global forces and weak concept of culture which supposes cultures to be integrated and possessed of essential properties needs rethinking in a contemporary world where a marked sense of culture has become a wide spread property of people's social knowledge The book will have wide appeal to anthropologists to students of comparative studies in history religion and language and to anyone interested in the phenomenon of postmodernism
