Conflict Resolution and Human Needs

Kevin Avruch, Christopher Mitchell, 2013-05-02 This edited volume examines Basic Human Needs theory and interactive problem solving looking at recent developments in thinking about both and how these might affect peacebuilding in contemporary conflicts of the twenty first century The era in the immediate aftermath of World War II was paradoxically a time of great optimism in parts of academia There was especially in the United States and much of Europe a widespread belief in the social sciences that systematic scholarly analysis would enable humanity to understand and do something about the most complex of social processes and thus about solving persistent human problems unemployment delinquency racism under development and even issues of conflict war and peace This book examines the evolution of the Basic Human Needs theory and is divided into two key parts Basic Human Needs in Theory and Basic Human Needs in Practice Exploring this theory through a wide range of different lenses including gender ethics and power the volume brings together some of the leading scholars in the field of peace and conflict studies and draws upon research both past and present to forecast where the movement is headed in the future This book will be of much interest to students of peace and conflict studies conflict resolution psychology security studies and IR

Ronald J. Fisher: A North American Pioneer in Interactive Conflict Resolution Ronald J. Fisher, 2016-12-03 This edited volume presents selected papers focusing on Ronald Fisher s cumulative contributions to understanding destructive intergroup conflicts from a social psychological perspective and to the development and assessment of small group interactive methods for resolving them Highlights include schematic models of third party consultations intergroup conflicts and a contingency approach to third party intervention Overall the selected texts offer a comprehensive description and clear rationale for interactive conflict resolution and its unique contributions to peacemaking

Shifting Protracted Conflict Systems Through Local Interactions Tamra Pearson d'Estrée, 2023-12-29 This volume explores the evolution of theoretical and practical approaches to intervening in protracted conflicts following the work of Herb Kelman Interactive problem solving as developed by Kelman and others sought to increase understanding about the microprocesses of international relations Kelman early on emphasised the centrality of an interactive approach for constructing new identities new narratives and new ways forward Transforming conflict systems requires strategic attention to the interactions between agents of change that provide stability or induce shift This volume on interactive conflict approaches includes both critical reflections and new ideas from scholar practitioners who have developed revised and expanded these approaches Contributors take up important issues from the shape and likelihood of solutions in intractable conflicts to how individuals can exist in realities with seemingly irresolvable inner and outer conflicts The volume represents the best of current thinking about how the mechanisms theoretical framework and application of interactive problem solving should be moved into the twenty first century context of increasing complexity increasing uncertainty and increasing polarisation This book will be of interest to students of peace studies conflict resolution and international relations

Peace and Conflict Resolution in Africa Ernest E. Uwazie, 2019-01-15 This publication is the product of the 25th Annual Africa and Diaspora Conference in 2016 organized by the Center for African Peace and Conflict Resolution at California State University Sacramento on the theme of Peace and Conflict Resolution in Africa 25 Years Later Lessons Best Practices and Opportunities It brings together reflections on both historical and contemporary or recurring conflicts in Africa especially on issues of ethno religious conflicts corruption land and leadership The chapters include case studies and some theoretical perspectives on the persistent search for the right size and scope of visioning and programming on peace and conflict resolution in Africa Understandably this collection of ideas thoughts and proposals will resonate with the field of Peace and Conflict Studies Arguably Africa is rising in the 21st century with declining violent conflicts and an increase in stable democracies and economies However there are still the significant challenges of extremism climate change poor governance ineffective leadership widening wealth gaps and weak institutions of moderation The essays collected here also document areas of progress in legitimizing democracy and conceptualizing social justice and suggest the need for building the next generation of peace leaders in Africa
