The role of market concentration in the agrifood industry Hernandez, Manuel A., Espinoza, Alvaro, Berrospi, Maria Lucia, Deconinck, Koen, Swinnen, Johan, Vos, Rob, 2023-02-08 The role of market concentration and potential market power exertion in the agri food industry is a topic of longstanding interest and concern to policymakers stakeholders and researchers This study provides a comprehensive overview of recent trends in market concentration upstream midstream and downstream the agri food industry at the global regional and country level and assesses how and to what extent concentration could be affecting market conduct and performance of food systems in developed and developing countries The analysis additionally discusses to the extent detectable implications of concentration including vertical and horizontal integration that favor concentration for food security and nutrition and environmental sustainability While market concentration in the agri food industry has increased across most segments the evidence on market power exertion is inconclusive Several knowledge and data gaps are identified and additional research is necessary to derive more general conclusions and policy recommendations

Market Power Handbook American Bar Association. Section of Antitrust Law, 2005 Have you ever wondered what a therapist really thinks Have you ever wondered if a therapist truly cares about her patients Have you tried to imagine the unimaginable the loss of the person most dear to you Is it true that tis better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all Love and loss are a ubiquitous part of life bringing the greatest joys and the greatest heartaches In one way or another all relationships end People leave move on die Loss is an ever present part of life In Love and Loss Linda B Sherby illustrates that in order to grow and thrive we must learn to mourn to move beyond the person we have lost while taking that person with us in our minds Love unlike loss is not inevitable but she argues no satisfying life can be lived without deeply meaningful relationships The focus of Love and Loss is how patients and therapists independent experiences of love and loss as well as the love and loss that they experience in the treatment room intermingle and interact There are always two people in the consulting room both of whom are involved in their own respective lives as well as the mutually responsive relationship that exists between them Love and loss in the life of one of the parties affects the other whether that affect takes place on a conscious or unconscious level Love and Loss is unique in two respects The first is its focus on the analyst s current life situation and how that necessarily affects both the patient and the treatment The second is Sherby s willingness to share the personal memoir of her own loss which she has interwoven with extensive clinical material to clearly illustrate the effect the analyst s current life circumstance has on the treatment Writing as both a psychoanalyst and a widow Linda B Sherby makes it possible for the reader to gain an inside view of the emotional experience of being an analyst making this book of interest to a wide audience Professionals from psychoanalysts
