Rethinking Multicultural Education Case Studies In Cultural Transition:

Rethinking Multicultural Education Carol Korn-Bursztyn, Alberto M. Bursztyn Ph.D., 2002-03-30 Korn and Bursztyn and their contributors examine the cultural transitions that children make as they move between the cultures of home and school To better understand these transitions they explore how educators understand their students shifting experiences and examine how educators also negotiate transitions as they too move from home to school each day The narratives or case studies reflect this shifting gaze from child to teacher to parents and take up the various relational configurations that these can form amongst and between each other They turn a critical eye toward instances of classroom practice and school life connecting personal knowledge with school change In some cases the authors draw directly on autobiographical material linking these to a reflective approach to teaching Avoiding the celebratory tone that often attends discussions of multiculturalism the authors address how diversity engages us in continual renegotiation of the personal and social The perspectives of educators and of teacher candidates are presented and the construction of cultural identity and its impact on schools explored In illuminating the complicated nature of cultural transitions and the obligation of schools to create places in which children and families of diverse backgrounds can thrive they highlight how multiculturalism can play a transformative role in the lives of children and schools A must reading for educators and graduate students in education school psychology guidance and counseling The Merry-Go-Round of disadvantage educational policy and integration in segregated schools Dieneke de Ruiter, 2008 Taboo, 2003 Immigrant Children and Youth Alberto M. Bursztyn Ph.D., Carol Korn-Bursztyn, 2015-07-14 Immigrants now comprise one fourth of the 75 million children in the United States The ability of today's immigrant children to become productively engaged adults hinges on their internal resources and mental health This book ascertains their psychological challenges and their often misunderstood needs This book is intended to inform both the general public and professionals working with immigrant children and adolescents about the importance and complexity of addressing their psychological issues and experiential challenges The work covers the topic of immigrant children's mental health from multiple perspectives while maintaining a focus on developmental needs and identifying the specific problems posed by linguistic and cultural transition The chapters present case studies and vignettes that serve to illustrate the topics providing vivid depictions of mental health issues and highlighting the importance of specific interventions As new immigrant groups continue to settle in the United States the social and emotional well being of their children has far reaching implications for the future of our society making this volume of critical significance to therapists educators policymakers child advocates and other audiences Disavowed Knowledge Peter Maas Taubman, 2012-05-22 This is the first and only book to detail the history of the century long relationship between education and psychoanalysis Relying on primary and secondary sources it provides not only a historical context but also a psychoanalytically informed analysis In considering what it means to think about teaching from a psychoanalytic perspective and in reviewing the various approaches to and theories about teaching and curriculum that have been informed by psychoanalysis in the twentieth century Taubman uses the concept of disavowal and focuses on the effects of disavowed knowledge within both psychoanalysis and education and on the relationship between them Tracing three historical periods of the waxing and waning of the medical therapeutic and emancipatory projects of psychoanalysis and education the thrust of the book is for psychoanalysis and education to come together as an emancipatory project Supplementing the recent work of educational scholars using psychoanalytic concepts to understand teaching education and schooling it works to articulate the stranded histories the history of what could have been and might still be in the relationship between psychoanalysis and education

Urban Teacher Education and Teaching R. Patrick Solomon, Dia N. R. Sekayi, 2020-07-24 This volume illuminates the most pressing challenges faced by urban schools, teachers, teacher candidates, and teacher training programs and offers a range of insights and possibilities for urban teacher education and teaching. Covering issues spanning the broadly theoretical to the urgently practical, it goes beyond the traditional discourses in teacher education to focus on diversity, social justice, democratic schooling, and community building. What emerges is an emphatic message of hope for those committed to the ongoing project of improving urban teacher education and working in urban settings. Contributors from Canada, the United States, and the Caribbean bring rich and divergent knowledges, perspectives, and cultural experiences to their discussion of the three central themes around which the book is organized: the conceptual framing of key issues in urban schooling, pre-service teacher preparation for urban transformation, and culturally relevant pedagogy and advocacy in urban settings. This book is intended for all students, practitioners, and researchers involved in urban education. It is appropriate as a text for student teaching and field experience seminars and for courses dealing with social issues, educational policy, curriculum development, and multicultural teacher education.
