Rights Of Older Persons:

The Human Rights of Older Persons Bridget Lewis, Kelly Purser, Kirsty Mackie, 2020-08-07 This book provides a comprehensive human rights analysis of key areas of law affecting older persons including legal capacity elder abuse accommodation and aged care healthcare employment financial security retirement and estate planning and social and cultural participation The research identifies individual autonomy and participation in decision making as fundamental to a human rights based approach to elder law The book argues that a paradigm shift must occur away from traditional medical and charity based understandings of old age to instead acknowledge older persons as active holders of enforceable rights The book argues that a Convention on the Rights of Older Persons is an essential tool in achieving this but that even without a dedicated treaty there is much to be gained from a human rights based approach Significantly because the issues arising in old age are often the culmination of experiences occurring throughout the life course a human rights based approach to elder law must begin with a commitment to human rights for people of all ages

Rights of Older Persons ; An American Civil Liberties Union Handbook Robert N. Brown, 1989 Towards Human Rights in Residential Care for Older Persons Helen Meenan, Nicola Rees, Israel Doron, 2015-07-30 People are leading significantly longer lives than previous generations did and the proportion of older people in the population is growing Residential care for older people will become increasingly necessary as our society ages and we will require more of it At this moment in time the rights of older people receive attention at international and regional levels with the United Nations the Organization of American States and the African Union exploring the possibility of establishing new conventions for the rights of older persons This book explores the rights of older people and their quality of care once they are living in a care home and considers how we can commence the journey towards a human rights framework to ensure decent and dignified care for older people The book takes a comparative approach to present and future challenges facing the care home sector for older people in Africa Kenya the Arab world Egypt Australia China England Israel Japan and the USA An international panel of experts have contributed chapters identifying how their particular society cares for its older and oldest people the extent to which demographic and economic change has placed their system under pressure and the role that residential elder care homes play in their culture The book also explores the extent to which constitutional or other rights form a foundation to the regulatory and legislative structures to residential elder care and it examines the important concept of dignity As a multi regional study of the care of older person from a human rights perspective this book will be of excellent use and interest in particular to students and researchers of family and welfare law long term care social policy social work human rights and elder law

The Rights of Older Persons Robert N. Brown, 1979 Human Rights of Older People Claudia Martin, Diego Rodríguez-Pinzón, Bethany Brown, 2015-07-11 This book focuses on descriptions of the developments in legal frameworks and policies regarding the human rights of older persons First it covers the policies adopted and practices developed at the universal system particularly within the sphere of the United Nations Second it includes a side by side comparison of the work of regional human rights mechanisms which have picked up some momentum in the past decade Through its inclusion of law policy and current processes the widest net possible has been cast to collect a descriptive resource for advocates Overall we hope that this book contributes to a better understanding of the current limitations and possibilities that international institutions offer to uphold the human rights of older persons We expect that this information will allow states and other policy makers to move forward with the international recognition of the human rights of older persons We know this is only a first effort in compiling and reporting the standards that are being produced by different international institutions But we have no doubt that many others will follow with their expert analysis of these emerging standards and that the ongoing discussion will finally crystalize in international human rights binding instruments explicitly recognizing the universal rights of older persons

The human rights of older people in healthcare Great Britain: Parliament: Joint Committee on Human Rights,2007-08-13 Looks at how the principles of human rights can be applied to older people in hospitals and care homes to ensure they are treated with greater dignity and respect This report covers the leadership of the Department of Health the implementation of the Human Rights Act by service providers

Human Rights and the Care of Older People Maeve O'Rourke,2024-04-24 Set against the rapid aging of the world s population Human Rights and the Care of Older People explores the potential for the rule against torture and ill treatment in international human rights law to better protect older people from care related mistreatment The book s analysis is broadly relevant but is prompted by the widespread reports of older people s suffering due to lack of access to care and coercion in respect of care needs This includes the deprivation of liberty for care While recognizing that a new United Nations Convention on the rights of older people is on the horizon the book argues that there is a pressing need for older people and all human rights actors to use and progressively interpret the established right to freedom from torture and ill treatment As an interpretive lens the book offers a conception of a dignity violation that may amount to prohibited ill treatment and thus trigger states positive obligations to protect including through systemic prevention measures This book is intended as a tool for advocacy and a call for critical awareness highlighting the anti torture norm s potential for more effective application and challenging current legal barriers to such effectiveness Meant for readers worldwide the book addresses the rule against torture and ill treatment from international law regional European Inter American and African perspectives This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4 0 International licence It is free to read on Oxford Academic and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations

Health Rights of Older People Long Thanh Giang,Theresa W. Devasahayam,2018-04-17 The book examines the health rights of older persons who are more likely potentially to face various disadvantages in terms of healthcare access and affordability thereby impacting on health outcomes The point of departure in the analyses is that the health security of older persons is guaranteed only if a country approaches the health of its citizens out of moral obligation viewing health and well being as a right rather than an entitlement Data from five countries in the ASEAN region are analysed with the intent of highlighting the health inequalities and barriers at the societal and individual levels on the one hand as well as the gaps at the health and healthcare policy and programmatic levels within each country on the other It is also intended that the analyses of the data from the selected countries which represent different stages of development and thus income levels provide a useful comparative framework for policymakers in the ASEAN region

Older Persons and the Law John Williams, 2025-05-15

This book explores the law and legal system's impact on older persons As well as describing the current law primarily in England and in Wales it highlights the pivotal role that elder law lawyers play in using law to challenge and combat ageism Important questions are raised about whether the law perpetuates ageism and whether the current working of the law effectively challenges discrimination abuse and social exclusion faced by older persons Elder law lawyers have an essential role in advocating for the rights of older persons The book focuses on the need to uphold and respect the human rights of older persons emphasising their dignity autonomy and right to inclusion It examines key topics such as human rights in the context of ageing the provision of social care discrimination decision making capacities mental health and abuse and neglect It also offers insights into the notion of personal liberty concerning older persons and whether existing safeguards are sufficient The international dimensions of elder law are discussed highlighting the range of initiatives led by the United Nations and efforts by non governmental organisations and regional bodies These initiatives aim to confront and diminish ageism on both international and domestic fronts emphasising the need for a concerted effort to enforce the rights of older persons across different cultures and legal systems This book will interest researchers students and practitioners specialising in family and social welfare law elder law human rights law and discrimination law
