Liturgy and Ritual. Hours, Rohan Master, 1959 Manuscripts, Market and the Transition to Print in Late Medieval Brittany Diane E. Booton, 2016-12-05 Manuscripts Market and the Transition to Print in Late Medieval Brittany surveys the production and marketing of non monastic manuscripts and printed books over 150 years in late medieval Brittany from the accession of the Montfort family to the ducal crown in 1364 to the duchy's formal assimilation by France in 1532. Brittany, as elsewhere, experienced the shift of manuscript production from monasteries to lay scriptoria and from rural settings to urban centers as the motivation for copying the word in ink on parchment evolved from divine meditation to personal profit. Through her analysis of the physical aspects of Breton manuscripts and books—parchment and paper, textual layouts, scripts and typography, illumination and illustration—Diane Booton exposes previously unexplored connections between the tangible cultural artifacts and the society that produced, acquired, and valued them. Innovatively, Booton's discussion incorporates archival research into the prices, wages, and commissions associated with the manufacture of the works under discussion to shed new light on their economic and personal value. The Grove Encyclopedia of Medieval Art and Architecture Colum Hourihane, 2012. This volume offers unparalleled coverage of all aspects of art and architecture from medieval Western Europe from the 6th century to the early 16th century. Drawing upon the expansive scholarship in the celebrated Grove Dictionary of Art and adding hundreds of new entries, it offers students, researchers, and the general public a reliable, up-to-date and convenient resource covering this field of major importance in the development of Western history and international art and architecture. "Women, Manuscripts and Identity in Northern Europe, 1350-1550"

Joni M. Hand, 2017-07-05. Author Joni M. Hand sheds light on the reasons women of the Valois courts from the mid-fourteenth to the mid-sixteenth century commissioned devotional manuscripts. Visually interpreting the non-text elements—portraits, coats of arms, and marginalia—as well as the texts, Hand explores how the manuscripts were used to express the women's religious, political, and/or genealogical concerns. This study is arranged thematically according to the method in which the owner is represented. Recognizing the considerable influence these women had on the appearance of their books, Hand interrogates how the manuscripts became a means of self-expression beyond the realm of devotional practice. She reveals how noblewomen used their private devotional manuscripts as vehicles for self-definition to reflect familial, political, and social concerns and to preserve the devotional and cultural traditions of their families. Drawing on documentation of women's book collections that has been buried within the inventories of their fathers, husbands, or sons, Hand explores how these women contributed to the cultural and spiritual character of the courts and played an integral role in the formation and evolution of the royal libraries in Northern Europe. The Rohan Book of Hours Rohan Master, 1973. A Treasury of Hours Fanny Faÿ-Sallois, 2005. Selected from precious fourteenth and fifteenth-century manuscripts, many of which have never before been published, these pages from books of hours are arranged and annotated as a guide to understanding both the prayers and the illustrations the books contain. They are also an invitation to readers, young and old, to dream, to savor, and to immerse themselves in their ardor and mystery and to take delight in some of the most beautiful works of European art.
