Moving A Mountain Cultural Change In China:

Moving a Mountain Godwin C. Chu, Francis L. K. Hsu, 1979 Moving a Mountain East-West Center, 1979 The Great Wall in Ruins Godwin C. Chu, Yanan Ju, 1993-09-30 This book presents a survey of rural and urban Chinese people examining the dramatic changes in traditional culture that have taken place and documenting the nature of contemporary Chinese culture Chu and Ju examine attitudes about family relations social relations job preferences and work ethic organizational relations community life and belief systems Although there remains some limited continuity with the past mainly in family stability the book shows how lifestyle and values in post Mao China today reveal a radical departure from traditional Chinese culture The authors discover that Chinese people no longer endorse the Confucian precepts of harmony and tolerance nor do they submit compliantly to authority as previous generations did They now demonstrate in an environment of rising aspirations and mounting frustration a new assertiveness as seen in the tragic outburst in the Tiananmen demonstrations Rhetoric of the Chinese Cultural Revolution Xing Lu, 2020-08-05 A startling look at revolutionary rhetoric and its effects Now known to the Chinese as the ten years of chaos the Chinese Cultural Revolution 1966-76 brought death to thousands of Chinese and persecution to millions In Rhetoric of the Chinese Cultural Revolution Xing Lu identifies the rhetorical practices and persuasive effects of the polarizing political language and symbolic practices used by Communist Party leaders to legitimize their use of power and violence to dehumanize people identified as class enemies Lu provides close readings of the movement's primary texts political slogans official propaganda wall posters and the lyrics of mass songs and model operas She also scrutinizes such ritualistic practices as the loyalty dance denunciation rallies political study sessions and criticism and self criticism meetings Lu enriches her rhetorical analyses of these texts with her own story and that of her family as well as with interviews conducted in China and the United States with individuals who experienced the Cultural Revolution during their teenage years In her new preface Lu expresses deep concern about recent nationalism xenophobia divisiveness and violence instigated by the rhetoric of hatred and fear in the United States and across the globe She hopes that by illuminating the way language shapes perception thought and behavior this book will serve as a reminder of past mistakes so that we may avoid repeating them in the future Popular Chinese Literature and Performing Arts in the People's Republic of China, 1949-1979 Bonnie S. McDougall, 2024-06-21 The essays in this volume constitute an exceptionally broad and inclusive account of Chinese literature and performing arts since 1949 Extending beyond fiction to poetry and drama and covering song opera and film as well these essays reveal a more lively and varied cultural life than that disclosed by studies confined to fiction and literary politics Rather than stopping at the assumption that art reflects Party or government policy the essays uncover the traditional roots of popular literature and performing art by employing literary and artistic methods of analysis While often lacking in appeal to Western audiences these popular arts nonetheless have their own artistic validity and convey complex meanings to broadly based Chinese audiences The materials and analyses presented here have social as well as cultural relevance Variety and change rather than monolithic uniformity have characterized post 1949 cultural bureaucracies writers performers and audiences This title is part of UC Press s Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press s mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1984

Zoning China Luzhou Li, 2024-02-06 An examination of cultural zoning in China considers why government regulation of online video is so much more lenient than regulation of broadcast television In Zoning China Luzhou Li investigates why the Chinese government regulates online video relatively leniently while tightly controlling what appears on broadcast television Li argues that television has largely been the province of the state even as the market has dominated the development of online video Thus online video became a space where people could question state media and the state s preferred ideological narratives about the nation history and society Li connects this relatively unregulated arena to the second channel that opened up in the early days of economic reform piracy in all its permutations She compares the dual cultural sphere to China s economic zoning the marketized domain of online video is the cultural equivalent of the Special Economic Zones which were developed according to market principles in China s coastal cities Li explains that although the relaxed oversight of online video may seem to represent a loosening of the party state s grip on media the practice of cultural zoning in fact demonstrates the the state s strategic control of the media environment She describes how China s online video industry developed into an original creative force of production and distribution that connected domestic private production companies transnational corporations and a vast network of creative labor from amateurs to professional content creators Li notes that China has increased state management of the internet since 2014 signaling that online and offline censorship standards may be unified Cultural zoning as a technique of cultural governance however will likely remain

China, a Country Study Frederica M. Bunge, In-söp Sin, 1981

The End of the Maoist Era: Chinese Politics During the Twilight of the Cultural Revolution, 1972-1976 Frederick C Teiwes, Warren Sun, 2014-12-18 This book launches an ambitious reexamination of the elite politics behind one of the most remarkable transformations in the late twentieth century As the first part of a new interpretation of the evolution of Chinese politics during the years 1972-82 it provides a detailed study of the end of the Maoist era demonstrating Mao s continuing dominance even as his ability to control events ebbed away The tensions within the gang of four the different treatment of Zhou Enlai and Deng Xiaoping and the largely unexamined role of younger radicals are analyzed to reveal a view of the dynamic of elite politics that is at odds with accepted scholarship The authors draw upon newly available documentary sources and extensive interviews with Chinese participants and historians to develop their challenging interpretation of one of the most poorly understood periods in the history of the People s Republic of China

The Challenge of Facework Stella Ting-Toomey, 1994-05-24 This book addresses the cross cultural variations in the conceptions of face and facework from a multidisciplinary communication perspective Facework represents one of the most important theoretical concepts available to us in contemporary communication literature as it encompasses a dynamic network of cross cultural social cognitive affective interpersonal interactional and identity issues The book serves a dual purpose to raise issues and to extend some of the current ideas in face and facework research in the cross cultural and interpersonal communication settings and to illuminate some specific directions for future research into the face and facework management process Face and facework are presented in conjunction with phenomena such as politeness request interaction embarrassment conflict business negotiation and international diplomacy Postsocialist Cinema in Post-Mao China Chris Berry, 2004-06-01 This book argues that the fundamental shift in Chinese Cinema away from Socialism and towards Post Socialism can be located earlier than the emergence of the Fifth Generation in the mid eighties when it is usually assumed to have occurred By close analysis of films from the 1949 1976 Maoist era in comparison with 1976 81 films representing the Cultural Revolution it demonstrates that the latter already breaks away from Socialism
