Moving Targets Towards Monitoring Rural Decentralisation:

Moving Targets Fon van Oosterhout, 2002 The theme of decentralization has for decades caught the interest of professionals in political science and public administration and to a lesser degree economists and development policy makers and more recently social development professionals and experts in institutional development In this book the focus is on democratic decentralization probably the most difficult form of decentralization because governments can best perform their roles in service delivery and building democracy covering issues such as participation accountability and the politics of choice This title draws attention to the crucial issues in decentralization and monitoring and analyzes the guiding principles for setting up the system It invites the reader to consider the advantages of a flexible approach in monitoring through the focus on plausible rather than real causal relationships using a mix of quantitative and qualitative indicators involving not only __experts__ but all stakeholders including the local communities and finally it prioritizes the learning aspects in monitoring

Decentralisation in Africa Gordon Crawford, Christof Hartmann, 2008 Decentralisation in Afrika is een sobere beoordeling van wat decentralisatie precies kan bereiken Decentralisatie van overheden in Afrikaanse landen en elders in de derde wereld krijgt de laatste tijd een impuls vaak gedreven door Multilaterale en bilaterale instanties de donoren Maar worden de voordelen hiervan wel gerealiseerd In dit boek worden vraagtekens gezet bij de kwestie of decentralisatie wel een gunstige uitweg biedt voor de armoede en het conflict in Afrika
