major contribution than Drs Naparstek Biegel Spiro and collaborators have provided in this volume Their penetrating comprehensive study and field tests give us mapping toward the goal of reifying the concept of community as applied to human services The book will prove invaluable to those at the policy level legislators planners and administrators It will serve as an essential reference for community workers professional providers natural helpers and citizens as a whole A salient ideal of New Federalism placing governance as close to the people as practicable seems a prophetic match with the model of Neighborhood Empowerment As the authors point out conventional wisdom has seemed to offer government regulation control and program evaluation as a panacea package for improving human services This work suggests a radically different approach specifically a shift to greater instrumental involvement of the richly variegated mosaic of American neighborhoods combined with a system of excellent high technology service agencies Certainly genuine efforts have been made before toward a true linkage of the community with human services The Great Society programs with their emphasis on citizen involvement and maximum feasible participation established the foundation for legitimate citizen consumer linkage with the program process Yet in so many instances the results fell far short of expectations Community Helpers Gr. 1-3 ,
