Wagstaff,2020-08-03 In André du Bouchet Poetic Forms of Attention Emma Wagstaff provides the first book length study in English of this major poet of the second half of the twentieth century She shows how Du Bouchet's rigorous and innovative creative and critical writing advances our understanding of attention Du Bouchet is known as a post war poet of the natural world and the space of the page Far from just a solitary writer however he engaged with others through his work as editor critic and translator and his involvement in the protests of May 1968 Emma Wagstaff shows how his writing demonstrates nuanced attention to language time nature and art and incites a slow response on the part of the reader Baudelaire's Le Spleen de Paris Maria C. Scott,2017-09-29

Maria Scott's study of the operation of irony in Baudelaire's Le Spleen de Paris contends that the principal target of the collection's spleen is its own readership Baudelaire as one of the most perceptive cultural commentators of the nineteenth century was naturally very keenly aware of the growing dominance of the bourgeoisie in France not least as a market for art and literature Despite being dependent on this market for his own writing the poet was highly critical of bourgeois values and attitudes Scott builds on existing criticism of the collection to argue that these are indirectly mocked in Le Spleen de Paris often in the person of the poet's supposed textual alter ego The contention is that the prose poems betray the trust of readers by way of an apparent transparency of meaning that functions to blind us to their embedded irony Though focused on Le Spleen de Paris Scott's study engages with the full range of Baudelaire's writings including his art and literary criticism Her book will be of interest not only to Baudelaire scholars but also to those engaged more generally with nineteenth century French culture A History of Women's Writing in France Sonya account of one of the world's most celebrated artists Farewell to the Muse: Love, War and the Women of Surrealism Whitney Chadwick, 2017-11-14 A fascinating examination of the ambitions and friendships of a talented group of midcentury women artists Farewell to the Muse documents what it meant to be young, ambitious, and female in the context of an avant-garde movement defined by celebrated men whose backgrounds were often quite different from those of their younger lovers and companions. Focusing on the 1930s, 1940s, and 1950s, Whitney Chadwick charts five female friendships among the Surrealists to show how Surrealism, female friendship, and the experiences of war, loss, and trauma shaped individual women's transitions from someone else's muse to mature artists in their own right. Her vivid account includes the fascinating story of Claude Cahun and Suzanne Malherbe in occupied Jersey, as well as the experiences of Lee Miller and Valentine Penrose at the front line. Chadwick draws on personal correspondence between women, including the extraordinary letters between Leonora Carrington and Leonor Fini during the months following the arrest and imprisonment of Carrington's lover Max Ernst, and the letter Frida Kahlo shared with her friend and lover Jacqueline Lamba years after it was written in the late 1930s. This history brings a new perspective to the political context of Surrealism, as well as fresh insights on the vital importance of female friendship to its progress.

Features more than thirty original essays on key writers, works, and topics, written by a distinguished transatlantic group of scholars. Includes an introduction and index. Poetics and the Gift Adam R. Rosenthal, 2022 Using a broad comparative approach, this study shows how the figure of the gift structures poetic discourse and does so from the age of Homer up through twenty-first-century conceptual poetics Beginning from a new interpretation of Derrida's writings on the gift Adam R Rosenthal argues that this ambivalent figure names at one and the same time poetry's most extreme aneconomic privilege and the point of its closest contact with the interested exchange of the market In this way the gift conducts material relays of patronage and theories of poetic origination in genius inspiration and imagination Poetics and the Gift capitalizes on this double function in order to read material historical accounts of poetry alongside philosophical and poetic ones By way of his original reading of Derrida's work in Given Time and Economimesis Rosenthal offers a novel account of gift poetics and a new understanding of what makes poetry poetry
