Montgomery, 1923 Twentieth-century Reworkings of German Literature Gundula Sharman, 2002 A study of six modern reworkings of classic works of German literature A literary reworking is a fictional work based on an earlier usually canonical literary work Gundula M Sharman considers six twentieth century examples of this phenomenon in German literature including Peter Schneider's Lenz as a reworking of Georg Büchner's novella of the same title Ulrich Plenzdorf's Die neuen Leiden des jungen Werther as a reworking of Goethe's Werther Wolfgang Koeppen's Der Tod in Rom based on Thomas Mann's Der Tod in Venedig and three other pairs of reworkings original works from the genres of drama the novella and the novel The indebtedness of such reworkings to the original works is openly acknowledged often in the title and this invites the reader to draw comparisons and to note contrasts between reworking and original The twentieth century author's interpretation and the reader's reception of the older work merge to form a subtext of the reworking giving rise to a third narrative in the reader's imagination The better the reader knows the literary model the more multifaceted the reworking appears The purpose of each reworking is unique One may demonstrate how much the world has changed since the publication of the original while another argues that society has not changed at all One may be conceived as an anti work to the original while another serves to endorse its message Common to all reworkings however is a gain in historical depth and in each case themes and issues arise from the relationship of reworking to original that are not immediately apparent when the reworking is considered on its own Gundula M Sharman teaches in the German Department at the University of Aberdeen Scotland British Museum Catalogue of printed Books, 1888 A History of German Literature Wilhelm Scherer, 1886 From the earliest times to the death of Goethe A History of German Literature, 1993 Bismarck in the Franco-German War, 1870-1871 Moritz Busch, 1884 Primer of German Literature Isabel T. Cultural Translation Zohar Shavit, 2025-01-27 Towards the end of the eighteenth century the maskilim a group of young Jewish intellectuals who were starving for universal knowledge and for engagement with wider social circles set out to reform Jewish society by expanding its cultural boundaries and building a bridge to the Enlightened world Through dialogue with the non Jewish society and by introducing their fellow Jews to the texts and cultural goods of that society mainly through translation they sought to promote their social agenda and impart to their readers a new habitus new social models of Bürgerlichkeit and Bildung and a new awareness of civil equality and civil rights This book explores this translational project and the ways by which it strove to affect a profound cultural change in the Jewish world Zohar Shavit professor emerita at the School for Cultural Studies at Tel Aviv University is an internationally renowned authority on the history of Israeli culture child and youth culture and Hebrew and Jewish cultures especially in the context of their relations with various European cultures

Novel Translations Bethany Wiggin, 2011-06-15 Many early novels were cosmopolitan books read from London to Leipzig and beyond available in nearly simultaneous translations into French English German and other European languages In Novel Translations Bethany Wiggin charts just one of the paths by which newness in its avatars as fashion novelties and the novel entered the European world in the decades around 1700 As readers across Europe snapped up novels they domesticated the genre Across borders the novel lent readers everywhere a suggestion of sophistication a familiarity with circumstances beyond their local ken Into the eighteenth century the modern German novel was not German at all rather it was French as suggested by Germans usage of the French word Roman to describe a wide variety of genres pastoral romances war and travel chronicles heroic narratives and courtly fictions Carried in large part on the coattails of the Huguenot diaspora these romans nouvelles amours secrets histoires galantes and histories scandaleuses shaped German literary culture to a previously unrecognized extent Wiggin contends that this French chapter in the German novel s history began to draw to a close only in the 1720s more than sixty years after the word first migrated into German Only gradually did the Roman go native it remained laden with the baggage from its French origins even into the nineteenth century
