Romance Of The Rose Critical Guides To French Texts S:

The Oxford Handbook of Chaucer Suzanne Conklin Akbari, James Simpson, 2020 This Handbook addresses Chaucer's poetry in the context of several disciplines including late medieval philosophy and science Mediterranean culture comparative European literature vernacular theology and popular devotion

The Face and Faciality in Medieval French Literature, 1170-1390 Alice Hazard, 2021 Modern theoretical approaches throw new light on the concepts of face and faciality in the Roman de la Rose and other French texts from the Middle Ages

Dreams of Lovers and Lies of Poets Sylvia Huot, 2017-07-05 The Roman de la Rose explicitly offers an art of love while also repeatedly asserting that the experience of love is impossible to put into words An examination of the intertextual density of the Rose with its citations and adaptations of a range of Latin authors shows that the discourse of bodily desire pleasure and trauma emerges indirectly from the juxtaposition and conflation of sources Huot's new book focuses on Guillaume de Lorris's use of the Ovidian corpus and on Jean de Meun's dazzling orchestration of allusions to a wider range of Latin writers principally Ovid Boethius and Virgil but also including John of Salisbury and Alain de Lille In both parts of the Rose poetic allegory is a language that can express the unspeakable and the ineffable

Medieval Mythography, Volume Three Jane Chance, 2019-11-15 With this volume Jane Chance concludes her monumental study of the history of mythography in medieval literature Her focus here is the advent of hybrid mythography the transformation of mythological commentary by blending the scholarly with the courtly and the personal No other work examines the mythographic interrelationships among these poets and their unique and personal approaches to mythological commentary

The Roman de la rose in its Philosophical Context Jonathan Morton, 2018-02-01 The Roman de la rose in its Philosophical Context offers a new interpretation of the long and complex medieval allegorical poem written by Guillaume de Lorris and Jean de Meun in the thirteenth century a work that became one of the most influential works of vernacular literature in the European Middle Ages The scope and sophistication of the poem's content especially in Jean's continuation has long been acknowledged but this is the first book length study to offer an in depth analysis of how the Rose draws on and engages with medieval philosophy in particular with the Aristotelianism that dominated universities in the thirteenth century It considers the limitations and possibilities of approaching ideas through the medium of poetic fiction whose lies paradoxically promise truth and whose ambiguities and self contradiction make it hard to discern its positions This indeterminacy allows poetry to investigate the world and the self in ways not available to texts produced in the Scholastic context of universities especially those of the University of Paris whose philosophical controversies in the 1270s form the backdrop against which the poem is analysed At the heart of the Rose are the three ideas of art nature and ethics which cluster around its central subject love While the book offers larger claims about the Rose's philosophical agenda different chapters consider the specifics of how it draws on and responds to Roman poetry twelfth century Neoplatonism and thirteenth century Aristotelianism in broaching questions about desire epistemology human nature the imagination primitivism the philosophy of art and the ethics of money Idleness Working Gregory M. Sadlek, 2004 Roman and medieval poets and authors not only explored the physicality and sexuality of love driven by passion and desire but also saw love as a labour a project to be worked on and achieved to reach the final goal The Romance of the Rose Illuminated Alcuin Blamires, Gail C. Holian, 2002 A central work in medieval culture and modern scholarship the Romance of the rose was among the most consistently illustrated of medieval secular texts Consequently interpretation of the visual evidence has played a significant part in elucidating the poem and its derivatives This volume reproduces in color with commentary and full contextual discussion all the miniatures from five unpublished illuminated manuscripts of Le Roman de la rose in the National Library of Wales The Medieval Natural World Richard Jones, 2013-11-14 How did medieval people make sense of their surroundings and how did this change over the years as understanding and knowledge expanded This new Seminar Study is designed to familiarise students of medieval history with the ways in which medieval people interpreted the world around them how they rationalised their observations and why they developed the models for understanding that they did Most importantly it shows how ideas changed over the medieval period and why With extensive primary source material this book builds up a picture using medieval encyclopedias prose literature and poetry records of estate management agricultural treatises scientific works annals and chronicles as well as the evidence from art architecture archaeology and the landscape itself An excellent introduction for undergraduate students of Medieval history or for anyone with an interest in the medieval natural world Courtly Contradictions Sarah Kay, 2001 Where does courtly literature come from What is the meaning of courtly love What is the relation between religious and secular culture in the Middle Ages and why does it matter This book addresses these questions by way of contradiction which is central both to medieval logic and to most modern protocols of reading Reading the World Mary Franklin-Brown, 2024-05-31 The thirteenth century saw such a proliferation of new encyclopedic texts that more than one scholar has called it the century of the encyclopedias Various referred to as a speculum thesaurus or imago mundi the term encyclopedia was not commonly applied to such books until the eighteenth century these texts were organized in such a way that a reader could easily locate a collection of authoritative statements on any given topic Because they reproduced rather than simply summarized parts of prior texts these compilations became libraries in miniature In this groundbreaking study Mary Franklin Brown examines writings in Latin Catalan and French that are connected to the encyclopedic movement Vincent of Beauvais's Speculum maius Ramon Llull's Libre de meravelles Arbor scientiae and Arbre de filosofia d'amor and Jean de Meun's continuation of the Roman de la Rose Franklin Brown analyzes the order of knowledge in these challenging texts describing the wide ranging interests the textual practices including commentary compilation and organization and the diverse discourses that they absorb from preexisting classical patristic and medieval writing She also demonstrates how these encyclopedias like libraries became heterotopias of knowledge spaces where many possible ways of knowing are juxtaposed But Franklin Brown's study will not appeal only to historians she argues that a revised understanding of late medievalism makes it possible to discern a close connection between scholasticism and contemporary imaginative literature She shows how encyclopedists employed the same practices of figuration narrative and citation as poets and romancers while much of the difficulty of the imaginative writing of this period derives from a juxtaposition of heterogeneous discourses inspired by encyclopedias With rich and innovative readings of texts both familiar and neglected Reading the World reveals how the study of encyclopedism can illuminate both the intellectual work and the imaginative writing of the scholastic age
