when his time would come but a part of his mind couldn't let go of a memory from long ago of a beautiful girl. He called her his woodland sprite but where had she gone and would he ever see her again. May struggled against the unwanted advances of the man her mother wanted her to marry. She did not love him. Her memories were full of the vision of a boy she loved from afar but her family had left that place long ago. She never expected to see him again especially not in the reflection of the magic mirror. She knew she loved him but following her heart meant leaving her family and returning to the home they left behind. Could their love be strong enough to withstand the wrath of her mother and become more than just a memory?

Wounds and Words Christa Schönfelder, 2014-04-15. Trauma has become a hotly contested topic in literary studies. But interest in trauma is not new; its roots extend to the Romantic period when novelists and the first psychiatrists influenced each other's investigations of the wounded mind. This book looks back to these early attempts to understand trauma, reading a selection of Romantic novels in dialogue with Romantic and contemporary psychiatry. It then carries that dialogue forward to postmodern fiction, examining further how empirical approaches can deepen our theorizations of trauma. Within an interdisciplinary framework, this study reveals fresh insights into the poetics, politics, and ethics of trauma fiction.
