Management Scholarship and Organisational Change Miriam

Green, 2019-01-08 Change is a crucial and inescapable process for many organisations It remains a constant challenge for managers and many change management initiatives fail Burns and Stalker's seminal text on managing change The Management of Innovation has often been used as a basis for research in mainstream management journals and has been represented as an important theory in popular and long established management textbooks The issues raised in that book are still being grappled with by academics and practitioners today Miriam Green provides a critical analysis of the mainstream construction of knowledge on change management through an examination of representations of that text The main thesis of her book is that this literature though valuable does not provide a full picture Its objectivist approach ignores the role of other factors raised in the original study These factors include the effects of power politics resistance and employee influence on the outcomes of managerial change strategies and on other organisational processes with important consequences for the understanding of change initiatives by both academics and practitioners This is part of an ongoing debate in management studies and more widely in the social sciences about theoretical approaches and research methods The originality of this book lies in its in depth comparison of an entire monograph on organisations facing technological and commercial change with an equally in depth analysis of the ways this work has been represented and used as a basis for teaching and research It highlights the limitations of the exclusive use of one approach to explain the complications arising from organisational change It challenges the scientific justification offered for that approach and supports arguments for more inclusive and sustainable scholarship of greater relevance to academics managers and other organisational stakeholders

Practical Aspects of Knowledge Management Dimitris Karagiannis, Ulrich Reimer, 2007-11-08 This book contains the papers presented at the 4th International Conference on Practical Aspects of Knowledge Management organized by the Department of Knowledge Management Institute of Informatics and Business Informatics University of Vienna The event took place on 2002 December 2-3 in Vienna Austria The PAKM conference series is a forum for people to share their views to exchange ideas to develop new insights and to envision completely new kinds of solutions to knowledge management problems because to succeed in the accelerating pace of the Internet age organizations will be obliged to efficiently leverage their most valuable and underleveraged resource the intellectual capital of their highly educated skilled and experienced employees Thus next generation business solutions must be focussed on supporting the creation of value by adding knowledge rich components as integral parts in the work process The authors who work at the leading edge of knowledge management have pursued integrated approaches which consider both the technological side and the business side and the organizational and cultural issues We hope the papers covering a broad range of knowledge management topics will be valuable at the same extent for researchers and practitioners developing knowledge management approaches and applications It was a real joy seeing the visibility of the conference increase and noting that knowledge management researchers and practitioners from all over the world submitted papers This year 90 papers and case studies were submitted from which 55 were accepted
