Poverty And Plenty On The Turkish Farm:

Poverty and Plenty on the Turkish Farm Eva Hirsch,1970 Poverty and Plenty on the Turkish Farm Hayah Kokhavi,1970 Abdullah Gül and the Making of the New Turkey Gerald MacLean,2014-10-02 Drawing on original research including personal interviews with President Abdullah Gül as well as his wife and close circle of colleagues and friends this fascinating account offers readers a portrait of a man who has been at the heart of the political economic and cultural developments that have brought Turkey to international prominence in recent years In 2002 Abdullah Gül's democratically elected party gained power and challenged Turkey's republican and secular legacy and shortly after Gül led Turkey's attempts to receive an accession date for the European Union In 2007 he became the first president of Turkey with a background in Islamic politics causing political commentators to hail his victory as a new era in Turkish politics and he has ever since been a major figure in Turkey's diplomatic relationships in the Middle East and international political arena Gerald MacLean's absorbing biography of this significant politician throws light on important episodes of Turkey's recent history

The Political and Economic Development of Modern Turkey William Hale,2023-05-31 This book outlines the evolution of policy and the course of Turkey's economic development since the foundation of Turkey's republic in 1923 Turkey is a fast developing country with over the last seventy years a radically transformed economic and social structure The concept of planned development was first applied as long as fifty years ago long before other such approaches in the region Furthermore Turkey's post war economic development has proceeded in a rare environment of a predominantly liberal competitive political system This book is the first comprehensive and up to date study of Turkish economic development and its relationship to political change First published in 1981 A Framework for Research on the Economics of Farm Mechanization in Developing Countries Gordon Gemmill,Carl K. Eicher,1973 Agricultural economics research paper presenting a framework for the economic analysis of the social implications and economic implications of agricultural mechanization in developing countries specifies the major types of agricultural policy decisions in this field and the research needs for improving decision making reviews selected economic studies on farm mechanization in terms of research methodology etc and makes suggestions for the redirection of research Bibliography pp 57 to 67 Rural Development in Eurasia and the Middle East Kurt Engelmann,2016-04-18 Rural Development in Eurasia and the Middle East Land Reform Demographic Change and Environmental Constraints The Middle East (Routledge Revivals) W. B. Fisher,2013-09-13 In this comprehensive study first published in 1950 Professor Fisher examines all the principal elements physical and human that influence environment development and ways of life in the Middle East An analysis of the physical basis of the region is followed by detailed treatment of the complex human and social aspects a concluding section brings together on a regional basis the elements discussed in the first two parts With first hand experience within the Middle East Fisher presents a detailed and fascinating study based on surveys and investigations he personally carried out Including wide ranging geographical historical sociological and political perspectives this title provides essential background to anyone with an interest in Middle Eastern affairs Radical Politics in Modern Turkey Landau,2022-05-09 A Moveable Empire Resat Kasaba,2011-07-01 A Moveable Empire examines the history of the Ottoman Empire through a new lens focusing on the migrant groups that lived within its bounds and their changing relationship to the state s central authorities Unlike earlier studies that take an evolutionary view of tribe state relations casting the development of a state as a story in which nomadic tribes give way to settled populations this book argues that mobile groups played an important role in shaping Ottoman institutions and ultimately the early republican structures of modern Turkey Over much of the empire s long history local interests influenced the development of the Ottoman state as authorities sought to enlist and accommodate the various nomadic groups in the region In the early years of the empire maintaining a nomadic presence especially in frontier regions was an important source of strength Cooperation between the imperial center and tribal leaders provided the center with an effective way of reaching distant parts of the empire while allowing tribal leaders to perpetuate their own authority and guarantee the tribes survival as bearers of distinct cultures and identities This relationship changed in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries as indigenous communities discovered new possibilities for expanding their own economic and political power by pursuing local regional and even global opportunities independent of the Ottoman center The loose flexible relationship between the Ottoman center and migrant communities became a liability under these changing conditions and the Ottoman state took its first steps toward settling tribes and controlling migrations Finally in the early twentieth century mobility took another form entirely as ethnicity based notions of nationality led to forced migrations Area Handbook for the Republic of Turkey Richard F. Nyrop,American University (Washington, D.C.). Foreign Area Studies,1973 The Middle East Peter Beaumont,Gerald Blake,J. Malcolm Wagstaff,2016-04-14 This book first published in 1976 and in this second edition in 1988 combines an examination of the political cultural and economic geography of the Middle East with a detailed study of the region s landscape features natural resources environmental conditions and ecological evolution The Middle East with its extremes of climate and terrain has long fascinated those interested in the fine balance between man and his environment and now its economic and political importance in world affairs has brought the region to the attention of everybody An Economic History of the Middle East and North Africa Charles Issawi,2013-10-16 The economic history of the Middle East and North Africa is quite extraordinary This is an axiomatic statement but the very nature of the economic changes that have stemmed directly from the effects of oil resources in these areas has tended to obscure longterm patterns of economic change and the fundamental transformation of Middle Eastern and North African economies and societies over the past two hundred years In this study Professor Issawi examines and explains the development of these economies since 1800 focusing particularly on the challenge posed by the use and subsequent decline of Western economic and political domination and the Middle Eastern response to it The book begins with an analysis of the effects of foreign intervention in the area the expansion of trade the development of transport networks the influx of foreign capital and resulting integration into international commercial and financial networks It goes on to examine the local response to these external forces migration within to and from the region population growth urbanization and changes in living standards shifts in agricultural production and land tenure and the development of an industrial sector Professor Issawi discusses the crucial effects of the growth of oil and oil related industries in a separate chapter and finally assesses the likely gains and losses in this long period for both the countries in the area and the Western powers He has drawn on long experience and an immense amount of material in surveying the period and provides a clear and penetrating survey of an extraordinarily complex area

Religious Innovation in a Global Age George N. Lundskow, 2017-02-10 Certain timeless questions rise and fall through changing social conditions scientific advances and cultural variation who am I How should I live What happens when I die In modern society traditions no longer integrate the individual into a larger spiritual community and so movements have risen to address the crisis of meaning in a rapidly changing world This collection of essays while considering variables of work class race and gender theoretically and empirically examines how diverse groups are trying to restore a sense of meaning through religious innovation The first group of essays considers new developments in theory framing critical inquiry into recent developments in religion and the larger quest for meaning The second section examines grass roots emancipation movements which seek an expanded role for the individual in both belief and practice Topics addressed include the dialectic between religious and secular values and norms anti-Semitism new evangelism Neopaganism on the internet Max Horkheimer's critical theory of religion Christian speed thrash metal music Islamic fundamentalism modernity and the role of women French tourist destination Rocamadour's competition between the Catholic shrine and secular attractions developments within the Polish Roman Catholic Church the Finnish Satanism scare of 1999 and Islam and politics in Turkey A bibliography completes each essay Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here Labor Developments Abroad, 1970 The Turkish Labyrinth James Pettifer, 1997 Bibliography of Periodical Literature on the Near and Middle East, 1970 Labor Developments Abroad United States.
