Abstract

The authors describe a strategic evaluation system for research and development (R&D) in Japan's public research institutes, using examples implemented in the National Institute of Advanced Industrial Science and Technology (AIST). Important issues include promoting coherent and concurrent research on the basis of a strategy to bring about outcomes, and performing the evaluation from the perspective of outcomes in order to develop a clear scenario that might be related to future innovations. © Wiley Periodicals, Inc.

Public research institutes for research and development (R&D) in the field of industrial technology have a special mission to contribute to industrial transformation by developing innovative technologies. This mission differs from that of universities, which are responsible for advanced research and education, and from that of industries, whose products are used practically in society. Although the evaluation indices used by the Research on China's Strategy and Policy in Northeast Asia offers a comprehensive in depth and systematic analysis of China's strategy and policy in Northeast Asia. It examines the region's political economic security related and cultural dynamics with a focus on key issues and territorial sovereignty disputes. The research integrates theoretical applied strategic and policy based research methods to provide a multifaceted perspective. The analysis is framed through the lens of major country diplomacy with Chinese characteristics and China's foreign policy towards Northeast Asia. This book explores China's strategic vision for Northeast Asia emphasizing the evolving international system in the region and China's strategic responses. It argues for the establishment of a new order of international relations in Northeast Asia characterized by equality mutual trust good neighborliness and cooperation. Additionally the book addresses three fundamental issues security threats and the development of security mechanisms energy security challenges and energy system development and the enhancement of trade investment facilitation and regional economic cooperation. This book is an engaging read for scholars specializing in political economic security and cultural research on Northeast Asia as well as policymakers and strategists focused on China's foreign policy and diplomatic efforts in the region Hong Kong in the Belt and Road Initiative

Decolonizing Central Asian International Relations Timur Dadabaev,2021-09-30 This book unpacks the main narratives used in international relations to depict and explain existing inter state relations in Central Asia with a focus on the construction of fairer international relations along the Silk Road The book points to the need to decolonize international relations in the Central Asian region to present a fair representation of the regional states in international affairs In doing so the book exposes the concepts and stereotypes that have been imposed on the Central Asian region by dominant assumptions in contemporary international relations Offering empirical grounding for alternative views the author suggests that Western international relations make the same mistakes in the Central Asian region that the Russian Marxists made when they attributed a narrative of modernity along the lines of the progress made in Germany and Russia. In such a structure both Russian Marxist attempts and liberalist Western ideas disregard the fact that the region has its own model of modernity and progress which does not necessarily involve an appeal to the modern nation state ethnicity and state building. The book sheds lights on the prospects of coordinated development of Central Asia and Afghanistan. It also provides insights into the development of post Socialist Asia in its relations with Russia China Japan and South Korea. Contributing to the task of placing Central Asia in discussions in the discipline of international relations this book will be of interest to academics working in the fields of international relations and Asian politics in particular Central Asian studies. Japan Export-Import, Trade and Business Directory Volume 1 Strategic Information and Contacts IBP, Inc, 2013-08 2011 Updated Reprint Updated Annually Jersey Export Import Trade and Business Directory Mao's Road to Power: Revolutionary Writings, 1912-49: v. 5: Toward the Second United Front, January 1935-July 1937 Zedong Mao, Stuart Schram, 2017-07-28 This projected ten volume edition of Mao Zedong's writings provides abundant documentation in his own words regarding his life and thought.
