Vanessa Slack, Deborah Nadal, Sandul Yasobant, Florence Cliquet, Waqas Ahmad, Nihal Pushpakumara, Sumon Ghosh, 2023-07 Although an effective human rabies vaccine has existed since 1885 rabies continues to kill an estimated 59 000 people every year Sixty percent of these human deaths occur in Asia The number of animals especially dogs who die of rabies is uncalculated To work towards the global target of eliminating dog mediated human rabies deaths the rabies community is applying the One Health approach by jointly focusing on humans and dogs Written by a multidisciplinary group of scholars and rabies control program specialists this book is a collection of experiences and observations on the challenges and successes along the path to rabies control and prevention in Asia The book grounds chapters in solid scientific theory but retains a direct practice focused and inspirational approach provides numerous examples of lessons learned and experience based knowledge gained across countries at different levels of rabies elimination brings together and highlights the practices of a strong international rabies network that operates according to the One Health concept Covering perspectives from almost a dozen Asian countries and a wide range of sectors and disciplines such as healthcare facilities veterinary services laboratories public health institutes wildlife research centers and academia this book is an invaluable resource for rabies practitioners and scholars but also those working in the wider fields of disease control and cross sectoral One Health

Fourth Annual International Meeting On: Advances Towards Rabies Control in the Americas International Meeting on Advances towards Rabies Control in the Americas,1993 Rabies in Man and Animals Sudhi Ranjan Garg,2013-10-23 Rabies is the deadliest zoonotic disease that threatens humans and animals on all continents except Antarctica Asia and Africa are worst affected as more than 95 per cent of rabies associated human deaths occur in these regions India alone bears about 36 per cent of the global human rabies burden Dogs are the main transmitters of rabies that potentially threaten over 3 billion people in Asia and Africa Many developed nations have been able to successfully control dog rabies but continue to face the risk from wildlife including bats Bat rabies is responsible for most human rabies deaths in the United States of America and Canada but has emerged as a public health threat in Australia Latin America and Western Europe as well Despite being vaccine preventable rabies continues to haunt the mankind Poor resources is a major constraint but the factors like low priority attributed to rabies misconceptions in the community about the disease and unsystematic approach for its prevention and control are also responsible for the grim situation Targets have been set for elimination of human and dog rabies in all Latin American countries by 2015 and of human rabies transmitted by dogs in South East Asia by 2020 However the myths prevailing among the people together with inadequate knowledge of the health professionals veterinarians and the civic body staff about the rabies prevention and control strategies might make the task very difficult This book comprising eight chapters elaborates the causation of rabies in man and animals its global epidemiology risk analysis and effective strategies for the management of exposures Proven methods of rabies prevention and control have been discussed in length along with the challenges and ways to overcome the constraints through intersectoral coordination The inclusion of 200 frequently asked questions is a unique feature of the book which may help not only the common people and pet lovers in clearing their doubts about rabies in man and animals also be equally instrumental in updating the knowledge and skills of the public health personnel veterinarians and other professionals Apt illustrations and simple language make the contents of the book easily comprehensible and a reading pleasure Canine Rabies Control and Management in Southeast Asia Kristyna Rysava,2021 Symposium on Rabies Control Through Vaccination of Wildlife Species New York State Task Force on Wildlife Rabies Vaccination,1994 Strategic Framework for Elimination of Human Rabies Transmitted by Dogs in the South-East Asia Region Searo,2014-12-05 Dog bites are the primary source of human infection in rabies endemic countries and account for 96% of rabies cases in the South East Asia Region Elimination of human rabies is dependent on elimination of dog rabies Some countries have a comprehensive rabies control program but it is a neglected area in others New innovative tools and techniques have been developed in recent years to improve dog vaccination coverage dog population management and accessibility of modern rabies vaccines Considering the importance of consolidating achievements in rabies control in Member countries the WHO Regional Office for South East Asia has developed a regional strategy for elimination of human rabies transmitted by dogs in the Region The strategy aims to eliminate human rabies through progressive control of dog rabies and human rabies prophylaxis in rabies endemic countries and to maintain the rabies free status in rabies free areas of the South East Asia Region by 2020

Towards the Elimination of Rabies in Eurasia Betty Dodet, European Union, 2008 This volume presents the proceedings of the second conference on rabies organized by the World Organisation for Animal Health in collaboration with the World Health Organization and the European Union in May 2007 Up to date information on rabies epidemiology in humans and animals throughout Europe The Middle East and Asia and the most recent data on rabies virus and its structure as well as the basic mechanisms of rabies infection are included here Experts in the field present their experience and opinions on the prevention and control of rabies in dogs wildlife including bats and the most recent developments in rabies prevention and management in humans Further presentations address advances in technology diagnosis and vaccine development To conclude resolutions and recommendations are given in English French and Russian for the elimination of rabies not only in Europe and Asia but also the rest of the world This book is highly valuable to regulatory veterinary services public health services medical and veterinary practitioners scientists and researchers interested in combating this neglected disease which kills more than 50 000 persons annually mainly children Rabies elimination is at hand through a One Health strategic collaboration between veterinary and human health authorities political will and community involvement and application of the knowledge gained from this volume Guidelines for the Control of Rabies, 1969 International Symposium on Rabies International Symposium on Rabies (1, 1965, Talloires), 1966 WHO Expert Consultation on Rabies World Health Organization, 2018-08-31 The WHO Expert Consultation on Rabies met in Bangkok Thailand on 26 28 April 2017 Page 1
